Execution of Anarchists Was Intensely Dramatic

Sacco and Vanzetti Went to Their Deaths Protesting Their Innocence — Execution Was Carried Out Carefully and With Dignity—Monastery at Cleveland Was Bombed — Violent Demonstration at Geneva.

(Special to the Daily Mail by the British United Press)

Boston, Mass., Aug. 23—The Sacco-Vanzetti case, which dragged through the Massachusetts courts for seven years, ended dramatically in the electric chair early today in just 24 minutes. Stolidly and with a flash of defiance, Nicola Sacco, the shoemaker, and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, the fish peddler, went to their deaths protesting their innocence.

Celestino Madeiros, the youthful Portuguese, who had confessed to the crimes of which they were convicted, went with them. The triple execution was intensely dramatic, yet methodical, careful and not without dignity. The three men were ready for death and met it without show of fear.

Played Minor Role

Madeiros who played only a minor role in the drama was stolid and resigned to the inevitable. At 12.02 a.m. he entered the death chamber. He walked to the chair led by two guards and sat down to die. At nine minutes and 35 seconds past midnight the doctors announced he was dead.

Nicola Sacco was brought in next, at 12.11 a. m. Just before he died, he voiced his unalterable convictions.

Farewell Mother

"Long Live Anarchy", he cried in Italian. He was sitting in the death chair. Guards adjusted the straps and the electrodes. "Farewell my Wife and Child and all my Friends", he said audibly, this time in broken English. Just before Robert Elliott, the executioner threw his switch from behind a screen, Sacco spoke his last words, "Farewell, Mother".

Declared His Innocence

Vanzetti was more dramatic. He stopped to shake hands with his guards. Then he sat in the death seat without a tremor and said "I wish to tell you I am innocent and never committed crime, but sometimes some sin. I thank you for everything you have done."

"I am innocent of all crime, not only of this one, but all. I am an innocent man. I wish to forgive some people for what they are now doing to me."

A Bomb Outrage

Cleveland, Ohio., Aug. 23—The Franciscan Monastery of St. Joseph's Church was bombed here early today shortly after the execution in Boston of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti. No one was injured but a motor cycle officer who passed the church just a minute or two before the explosion was blown from his machine by the force of the blast.

The monastery was damaged to the extent of $10,000 and windows in houses for blocks around were shattered. Residents were thrown from made.

A Violent Demonstration

Geneva, Aug. 23—Sacco and Vanzetti sympathizers smashed property, killed one person and wounded 25 others last night. Another demonstration potentially with violence was scheduled for today. Americans were the quarry sought by the rioters.

A FORTY HOUR WEEK FAVORED BY CONGRESS

Labor Meeting at Edmonton Adopts a Number of Resolutions.

Edmonton, Alta., Aug. 22—Adopting the principle of the 5-day, 40-hour week and deciding to ask for federal legislation which would prevent employers from importing labor without first applying to the government employment bureau and securing a certificate that they were unable to supply the demand, the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress got down to business this afternoon.

The first lot of the 63 resolutions to come before the Congress were dealt with and five resolutions which arrived too late were refused any consideration.

President Tom Moore was in the chair and the debate proceeded with dispatch.

Fair Wage Latitude.

A greater latitude for the fair wage officer in receiving complaints of workmen, investigating payrolls and taking immediate action without the delay of first having to secure the consent of the minister of labor was advocated in a resolution sponsored by the Quebec Provincial Council of Carpenters. This evoked considerable debate but passed finally.

A resolution from the Hamilton Shoe Workers, which carried, sought legislation compelling the management of concerns directly soliciting laborers during the progress of a strike in their works to state in their advertising "strike on" just as the government employment bureau stamped it upon the cards of all men sent to work under such circumstances.

Resolutions from the Montreal Trades Council and Quebec carpenters asking for the abolition of all private fees charging employment bureaus and extortion of fees from laborers in the province of Quebec also carried.

J. C. BERRIE IS NAMED CHIEF INVESTIGATOR

Saint John, Aug. 23—J. Charlton Berrie yesterday assumed his office of assistant chief officer and chief investigator of the Customs Excise Preventive Service. His appointment to this position by the Federal Government was announced yesterday morning by L. A. Gagnon, district Chief of the Preventive Service.

Mr. Berrie for the past seven years has been secretary of the New Brunswick Automobile Association, and is particularly well known throughout the province. When asked regarding his appointment yesterday, Mr. Berrie stated that he felt that the knowledge he had gained in his several trips through the province representing the automobile association and previous to that, as a commercial man, would be a great benefit to him in his new office. In 1918 and 1918 he with T. H. Estabrooks toured New Brunswick, organizing it for the sale of Victory Loan Bonds.

Mr. Berrie's successor as secretary of the N. B. Automobile Association will probably be elected at the next meeting of the association, it was stated.

MRS. CHAPLIN IS GRANTED A DIVORCE

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 22—Lita Grey Chaplin was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from Charles Spencer Chaplin at a brief court session here today after the film comedian had agreed to pay his girl wife $625,000 as a property settlement and grant her permanent custody of their two small sons.

Into an hour's session of Judge Walter Guerin's court, at which Mrs. Chaplin played the leading part, were rolled the final gestures to the eight months of martial strife. Chaplin was not present.

A property settlement reached out of court was announced by Edwin E. McMurray, chief of counsel for the suing wife, and Mrs. Chaplin made her own routine case of cruelty from the witness stand. A few corroborative witnesses were sworn, testified briefly and the decree was granted.

A year must elapse before the final decree is granted.

The agreement between Chaplin and his wife provides for the creation of a trust fund of $200,000, the income to be paid Mrs. Chaplin for the support and education of the children. The principal is to go to children when the younger attains the age of 35.

All Hope of Finding The Missing Aviators Has Been Abandoned

Just a Week Ago Today Since the Pretty Twenty-two Year Old School Teacher and Her Four Companions Took Off From Oakland to Honolulu—A Thorough Search by the U. S. Navy Has Failed to Reveal any Signs of the Lost Plane.

(Special to the Daily Mail by the British United Press)

Honolulu, Aug. 23—Hope of eventually finding Miss Mildred Doran and the six other missing aviators who were forced down on their mainland-to-Honolulu Dole race was virtually abandoned today.

It was just one week ago today that the pretty, twenty two year old Michigan school teacher took off from Oakland air-port. Since then one of the most thorough searches in the history of the navy has failed to reveal even the slightest indication of the whereabouts of the lost planes. Not even a splotch of oil in the waters of the Pacific indicating where they might possibly have gone down has been found.

BOY AND DOG IN A FIERCE ENCOUNTER

North Head, Grand Manan, Aug. 23

—In Seal Cove, Grand Manan, on Friday, as gruesome and thrilling a picture was staged as ever was seen in the movies, when Preston Harvey, a boy of 16, had a hand to hand encounter with an enraged dog. The dog was a Great Dane, and was in a fight with another dog that matched him for weight if not for appearance, and young Harvey attempted to separate them, when the Great Dane turned from his canine opponent upon the boy. The tussle was a wild one while it lasted, and a bloody one, too. The boy was bitten through the thigh and about the legs and hands and but for the fact that he is a strong well set up boy for his age it might have been even more serious. When the dog was finally pulled away the boy was rushed to Castalia to the office of Dr. J. F. Macauley, who treated and cauterized the wounds. Fortunately the boy is now doing as well as could be expected and no serious results are anticipated.
