THREE HOME RUNS BY ONE PLAYER FEATURE GAME

Tony Lazzeri Slams Out Three Circuits Runs in One Game — 4 is the Record.

New York, June 10—Tony Lazzeri, Yankees' infielder, hit three home runs in today's game between New York and the Chicago White Sox, coming within one of tying the major league record for home runs in a single game, held jointly by Robert Lowe of the Boston Nationals and Ed Deleahanty of the Philadelphia Nationals, both of whom hit four.

Lazzeri hit a homer with one on base in the second inning, one in the eighth with none on and one in the ninth with one on, the last homer tying the score at 11-11. He hit homes successively in his last two times up.

Lazzeri's feat of hitting three home runs in a single game ties the best major league record since the introduction of the foul strike rule in 1901. Robert L. Lowe, who used to cover second base for the old Boston Nationals, made four home runs, two in one inning, and a single in the afternoon game, May 30, 1894, against pitcher Chamberlain of Cincinnati, and Ed Deleahanty tied this mark July 12, 1896, against pitcher Terry of Chicago.

Babe Ruth never hit three home runs in a regular league game, but did connect for three in a World Series game against the Cards last October, the only time the feat has been done in the battles for baseball's highest honors.

NOT A HOPELESS CASE.

He was a very cautious middle-aged lover and with certain reservations he had bestowed his affections on the minister's cook. He had satisfied himself regarding her suitability with the exception of the filler.

He felt that the question must be definitely fixed before he went any farther.

On bluntly asking how well off she was his prospective fiancée cast a chill over him admitting she had little of this world's goods but added that she had a rich uncle.

"Ah, well, Jean, we'll just say nae mair about it the noo. But ye ken ma feelin's if a black-edged envelope comes."

York All Stars Held to Tie Game by Maritime College Players on Devon Diamond

Home Talent Showed Reversal of Form From Thursday Evening and Played Steady Game
Behind Wheeler's Pitching—Final Score Was One All—Remade Devon Diamond Looks the Best in the League Circuit.

One of the best baseball games seen here in recent years was played at the remade Devon baseball grounds Friday evening between the touring Maritime College Players and a team chosen from the three teams of the York County League. The teams battled for eight innings and the result was a tied score 1 all, when darkness closed in on the field and ended the game.

The Devon diamond is now considered the best in the league circuit with a "skinned" diamond extended deep into the outfield, a short rightfield is the only drawback to the grounds. Bleachers have been erected and the playing field is now an ideal place for ball games. The field is roped off and their is not a single object to stop the view of the large crowd which the bleachers will seat.

Wheeler in Good Form.

"Tot" Wheeler was the choice of the York All Stars' pitching staff for mound duty and he had the better of his opponent, Lane, all the way through. The lone College run came by the error route when Davis made a bad heave to catch a runner scoring. This run came in the second inning of the game. From then on he was never in danger and allowed but two hits, one in the third and one in the seventh frame, and his team behind him gave him fairly good support throughout the remaining innings of play.

Lane, on the other hand, depended entirely on his field to "save the bacon", and this they did, time and again he was in trouble only to have his team save him defeat by good fielding. Lane had three more strikeouts than Wheeler but he was found for two extra hits, and the lone counter the York All Stars shoved across the plate was made by errors.

The Scoring.

Eaton, the first batter of the game was thrown out at first by Wheeler. Regan also was an easy infield out. Munro was safe on Cochrane's error, and went to third on Bartheaux's single. Dougan ended the inning by hitting to Davis who threw him out.

The only College run came underserved in the second. Lane went out on an infield grounder. Hanright hit to rightfield for three bases and scored when Davis took McLean's grounder and threw wild to Donovan. McLean was caught off first by Wheeler a moment later and Matthews struck out.

After two were out in the third Munro hit to leftfield for two bases, but Bartheaux fled out to Myshrrall in leftfield.

In the fourth Dougan was thrown out on an infield hit. Rutter's error let Lane reach first. Hanright sacrificed but McLean was thrown out at first by Wheeler. The College team went out in order in both the fifth and sixth innings. Lane opened the seventh with a single but he died there as the next three batters were easy outs. Only three batters faced Wheeler in the eighth, going out in order.

Lane's twists were invincible for the first four innings and the York All Stars could do little against him.

In the fifth the home talent should have scored but the fielding of the Collegians was good and Lane was pulled out of a bad hole. Keene, the first batter of the inning, leaned on one of Lane's slants for three bases to leftfield. J. Watson was given a free ticket to first. Irvine hit a ground ball to Bartheaux and Keene was thrown out at the plate. Cochrane hit to Lane and J. Watson was caught trying to score and Irvine was caught in an attempt to make third for the only double-killing of the game.

In the sixth it looked as though the home outfit might get going. Wheeler opened the inning with a two base hit to leftfield. Rutter struck out. Donovan singled, and Wheeler held third. Davis fled out to Hanright in the short rightfield and Myshrrall popped one to Lane for the third out and killed the chances of scoring.

York All Stars Score.

The lucky seventh opened with Keene getting his second hit of the game, a single. J. Watson struck out. Irvine singled. Keene was caught at the plate trying to get home on the squeeze play, and had he remained on third would have scored, for a couple of bad errors came a few minutes later and Irvine raced home with the tying run. Rutter ended all hopes of further scoring when he took the count on strikes for the third time of the game.

A hit of any old kind would have won the game in the eighth. Donovan was out on an infield grounder, shortstop to first. Davis hit to rightfield for two bases. Myshrrall sacrificed but Keene ended the inning when Bartheaux grabbed his hopped and threw to Dougan for the last putout of the game.

There was a good sized crowd out again last evening despite the unfavorable weather.

The Devon Ball Park was honored by a very close and interesting game for the initial opening. Rain and wet grounds has prevented the League games which were scheduled for Devon so far this season.

Keene has at last found his bearings at first base and turned in a good game having fourteen putouts to his credit in Friday night's contest.

As the schools competing have a large following it is expected that a large crowd will be on hand to witness the events.

SURPRISES IN YANKEE TENNIS

Hartford, Conn., June 10—Surprises featured play in the New England tennis championships here today, with S. Howard Voshell of New York, beaten in the singles by E. H. Kuhn of New York, 6-4, 6-3.

Fritz Mercur of Bethlehem, Penn., and Neil Sullivan, of Philadelphia, went down before Louis Dailey, Jr., of East Orange, N. J., and Malcolm T. Hill, of Boston, in the doubles, 1-6, 6-3, 10-8, in the best tennis of the week.

Miss Sarah Palfrey, of Brookline, Mass. and Mrs. A. H. Chapin, Jr., of Springfield, Mass., gained places in the semi-finals of the women's singles and it is very probable that the little Boston girl and the experienced player will meet in the final on Saturday.

Voshell was the only favorite among the men to fall by the wayside, the veteran leftthander bowing to the chop stroke artist from the metropolis. A. H. Chapin, Jr., eliminated Fred Baggs in straight sets and the title appears to lie between him and George Lott, of Chicago.
