PUBLIC SITTINGS OF ROYAL COMMISSION ARE CLOSED; RECOMMENDATIONS BY MR. ROWELL

Ottawa, Sept. 14—Submissions of counsel in connection with the investigation of liquor carrying vessels in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, were presented to the Royal Customs Commission this afternoon by Hon. N. W. Rowell, K. C.

In making his submissions, Mr. Rowell stressed the need for enactment of legislation which would make clear the right of the government to seize, outside territorial waters, vessels registered or owned by persons in Canada engaging in smuggling operations or suspected of so doing.

The submissions follow:

"The evidence shows that the companies or parties investigated were engaged in operating schooners carrying liquor cargoes clearing from St. Pierre, Havana or other West Indian ports. That the outward reports were in most cases false in that they did not intend to proceed to the port named in the clearance but intended to deliver and did deliver their cargoes at sea, either along the Canadian or American coasts.

"Most of the schooners investigated were of Canadian ownership and registry and the evidence indicated that they had been engaged in carrying liquor cargoes for some years and several of them discharged their cargoes off the coasts of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick or Prince Edward Island for smuggling into Canada.

"In the year 1923 the W. C. Kennedy, owned and registered in Canada, was seized with a liquor cargo on board, while hovering off Pictou Island in the Northumberland Strait, more than three miles from the shore. Vessel Released.

"The right of the department to seize the vessel was disputed by the owners of the ship and cargo, and the vessel was released by the department on the ground that there was no right to seize beyond the three-mile limit.

"Following the ruling of the department in the W. C. Kennedy case, the S. S. Margaret was instructed not to seize vessels beyond the three-mile limit although hovering on the coast with the undoubted intent of smuggling their cargoes into Canada. The result was that smuggling of liquor on the eastern coast of Canada became very bad and remained so, during the years 1924, 1925 and 1926.

"During the year 1927 instructions were given to seize vessels with liquor cargoes hovering on the Canadian coast, though beyond the three-mile limit, and some six liquor-laden vessels have been seized by the S. S. Margaret, but the right to seize these vessels is being disputed by the owners thereof."

Recommendations.

Mr. Rowell recommended:

"(1)—That legislation should be enacted so as to remove any possible doubt as to the right of the department to seize, within territorial waters, all vessels which are:

"(A)—Engaged or suspected of being engaged in smuggling operations; or

"(B)—Co-operating with persons engaged in such smuggling operations; or

"(C)—Discharging their cargoes on the high seas.

"(2)—That legislation should be enacted so as to make clear the right of the department to seize, outside territorial waters, vessels registered or owned by persons or corporations in Canada, which are:

"(A)—Engaged or suspected of being engaged in smuggling operations; or

"(B)—Co-operating with persons engaged in such smuggling operations; or

"(C)—Discharging their cargoes on the high seas.

"(3)—That the customs act should be amended so as to impose a penalty for false report outwards, under Section 96."

To Enforce Law.

Ottawa, Sept. 14—"We have had some evidence brought before us to indicate that in certain quarters there would be a revival of illegal practices once our commission ceased to exist.

"For the benefit of such parties and others similarly disposed, I think I can promise that other means will be devised and rigidly enforced for detecting such frauds, and that for the future when such frauds and illegal practices are discovered, they will be visited with swift and relentless punishment."

The above was one of the statements made by Chief Commissioner J. T. Brown, of the Royal Customs Commission, in a brief address at the close of the public sittings of the commission here tonight.

U.S. INTERESTS ARE BUYING BANK STOCK

Toronto, Sept. 14—The Toronto Telegram carries the following on its front page today:

"What lies behind the recent hectic buying of Canadian chartered bank stocks, which has carried these issues to record high figures in the past six weeks, was indicated today when the news leaked out of the formation of a huge 'Investment trust' in New York for the sole purpose of buying the stocks of our chartered banks. he buying will evidently embrace the French-Canadian banks also, for the new trust states it will confine its operations to ten Canadian chartered banks.

"The Canadian Bank Stocks Incorporated is the title of the new United States Trust Company."

"That the Canadian Bank stocks, incorporated, is the means whereby an unnamed group of influential United States financial men hope to secure control of certain Canadian banks, and at the same time keep their identity closely concealed until Canadian banking is delivered lock, stock and barrel into alien hands, is the belief in well informed quarters."

LEVINE MAY FLY TOMORROW

(Special cable to The Daily Mail by the British United Press)

London, Sept. 15—Adverse weather reports today caused postponement of Chas. A. Levine's flight eastward in an attempt to set a distance record in his monoplane Columbia. He hopes to start tomorrow.

The results of the competition nationally will be made known in the near future.

COUNTESS TARBY PASSES AWAY IN LONDON

(Special cable to The Daily Mail by the British United Press)

London, Sept. 15—The Countess Torby, wife of Grand Duke Michael of Russia, died at her residence last night from a heart attack. For the past four years her residence at Cambridge gate, Regents Park has been guarded constantly because of fear of nihilists.

MAINE TUBERS CONDEMNED AT PORTLAND

Portland, Me., Sept. 13—Some 15 carloads of Aroostook potatoes, condemned as unfit for food and hauled to the garbage scows to be dumped, started much excitement along the water front when it was found that many of the spuds were good for immediate eating and some would no doubt keep. People swarmed over the piles and salvaged several hundreds of bushels, and many poor people have more potatoes than ever before. The potatoes were consigned to a chain store and not considered worth sorting.

Probably a Pump Connected With This.

A BIG CROWD AT WOODSTOCK FAIR YESTERDAY

Woodstock, Sept. 14—The Woodstock exhibition was greeted today with ideal weather and the attendance exceeded the 12,000 mark. This was Children's Day at the fair and the youngsters were present in large numbers.

Judging of the exhibits began this morning and on account of the large number of entries completion of the task is unlikely before tomorrow night.

An added feature of the day was a baseball game between McAdam and Woodstock, resulting in a win for the visitors by a score of 10 to 2.

The Fredericton band ended their engagement at the exhibition today, and from today until the conclusion of the fair the patrons will be entertained by the Houlton band of Houlton, Maine.

Money may talk, as often suggested, but we never heard it.
