Subversive Doctrines Are Denounced by the Pope

His Holiness in an Allocation Deplores the Recrudescence of Barbarism and Fierceness Against Religion in Russia and Mexico—Nations Being Poisoned and Their Rulers Seem to be Helpless—The Chinese Civil War.

ROME, June 20—Pope Pius today delivered an allocation in which he deplored the recrudescence of "further barbarism and fierceness against religion and the infiltration of subversive doctrines which poison nations, while their rulers do almost nothing to protect them." Soviet Russia was presumed to have been one of the Pope's targets. The pope intimated that the leaders of national life should act to immunize their people against such doctrines.

After recounting his pleasure at the celebration of the Centenary of the college for the propagation of the faith, the Pope spoke of affairs in China and Mexico.

"The heroic acts of the Mexican Episcopate clergy and laymen" he said "are among the most illustrious in the annals of the church.

If persecution were able to tear the Bishops from their sees although they wished to die with their flocks, nothing could tear them from our heart."

Horrors of Civil War

The pope said his heart had been sorely tried by the sufferings endured by many peoples, especially was he grieved by the horrors of civil war in which the Chinese people, lovers of order were involved. That disorder, the Pope attributed to "Subversive doctrines imported from beyond the borders of China".

He affirmed the church's esteem and faith in the ancient Chinese civilization which promised to give new proofs and further demonstrations of its power and development.

Woodstock, June 19—One of the most unusual gatherings and probably the largest affair of its kind ever held in the province took place here today in the outdoor service of the Masonic Grand Lodge of New Brunswick, at Connell Park, in observance of St. John the Baptist Day. James Vroom, of St. Stephen, grandmaster, presided and the special speaker of the day was Rev. C. Gordon Lawrence, of Saint John, grand chaplain.

Lodges of Edmundston, Grand Falls, Andover, Florenceville, Hartland and Woodstock were represented in the gathering. Grand Lodge officers from Saint John included J. This Busy Season.

There was the usual Monday morning lull among the stores today and the only thing moving on the streets were the gasoline truck cars, and the trucks belonging to the ice cream companies. A stranger approached a Queen street business man and remarked "I don't know anything about the general trade of this city but there appears to be something doing in gas and ice cream."

Has Already Established Quite a Reputation as a Long Distance Forecaster—A Cool Summer With Cloudbursts Among His Predictions.

(Special to the Daily Mail by the British United Press)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 20—Herbert Janvrin Brown, long distance weather forecaster, who accurately prophesied violent weather disturbances for 1927, now predicts further destruction for the remainder of the year. An early winter predicted by killing frost, more tornadoes, a series of violent West Indian hurricanes, some of which may rival in intensity the Florida hurricane of last September, severe hailstorms, cloudbursts, more floods and a cool summer are among Brown's predictions.

DEVALERA EXPECTED TO MAKE TROUBLE

Dublin, June 19—Eamon de Valera and his followers were fully expected today to make a demonstration at the opening of the new Dail Eilreann Thursday, but it was not thought likely they would encourage violence.

On previous occasions of excitement there were demonstrations in the galleries, interrupting the debate, and because of this, the speaker, Professor Michael Hayes, will issue no tickets for visitors.

Mr. De Valera and his colleagues elected to the Dail can enter Leinster House and go to the clerk's office, where the oath of allegiance will be taken. But until the clerk certifies that the oath has been taken, they cannot enter the Dail.

It was believed that Mr. De Valera would not enter the clerk's office, but would make straight for the Dail chamber. He would be checked, if necessary, by force, as police would be as always, on duty, as well as armed sentries.

There was no doubt that Mr. De Valera would make the most of the fact that though an elected representative an opposed to the oath of allegiance, he was forcibly excluded from parliament.

A WOMAN IS ONLY AS OLD AS SHE FEELS

(Special to the Daily Mail by the British United Press)

London, June 20—"A woman is as old as she feels, not as she looks," said Sir Thomas Oliver in his Presidential address to the Institute of Hygiene.

"Age is not a matter of years, but of changes in the tissues so that as long as a woman does her best to keep her mind and body young she is young. A woman who conceals her age is a benefactress to her sex, for, through her determination to remain young she sets up a superior standard of health."
