Dandurand Urges Claims Of Canada for Council Seat

Tells the League Assembly That Canada Will Not Accept the Defunct Protocol for Disarmament Security and Arbitration—Says it is Desirable That a North American Voice be Heard at Geneva.

(Special to the Daily Mail by the British United Press)

Geneva, Sept. 12—Senator Dandurand of Canada today urged Canada's claim to a permanent League of Nations Council seat and said Canada could not accept the defunct League protocol for disarmament security and arbitration. He spoke before the League Assembly.

It was desirable Dandurand said, that a North American voice be heard at Geneva. He detailed Canada's application for the principle of arbitration. But he said the League protocol could not be accepted by Canada, largely because of the results that would arise from its application to the United States. Senator Dandurand discussed the importance of the minorities problem for Europe and its satisfactory solution in Canada.

SAINT JOHN EXHIBITION WAS A SUCCESS

St. John, Sept. 1—After one of the most successful, if not the most successful, weeks since its inauguration 55 years ago, the Saint John Exhibition closed its gates for another year on Saturday night.

The attendance was estimated between 7,000 and 8,000 persons.

H. A. Porter, manager of the exhibition, stated on Saturday that he was highly satisfied with the support given this year by the public in general and the merchants of the city. From the beginning until the end of the fair, Old Sol, from a cloudless blue sky beamed on thousands as they entered the grounds daily, not allowing one shower to interfere.

The Exhibition Association had 406 orphans from the various institutions in the city as its guests on Saturday afternoon. The entertainment for these kiddies was arranged by a joint committee of the Knights of Columbus and the four Knights of Pythias lodges of the city.

I HATE MEN, SHE SAYS, AND GETS DIVORCE

Big Rapids, Mich., Sept. 12—"All men are alike and I hate 'em all" Mrs. Homer Van Orden said in the Circuit Court for the County of Mecosta yesterday during the trial of divorce proceedings against her sixth husband.

Four of Mrs. Van Orden's husbands previously had been divorced by her and another was found to have been already married when he took her to the altar.

"I'm through with men forever" said Mrs. Van Orden as she left the court room with a divorce decree.

How small a plump girl looks, walking with a fat girl.

MOVIE BEARD IS PROFITABLE BUT A BOTHER

Hollywood, Sept. 12—August Tollaire has dedicated his life to a beard and has found profit in the enterprise.

It is a super-beard, furnished only upon specific request and subject to reverent care. It became a bozama in "What Price Glory," when it won its owner the role of the French mayor. Now Tollaire is again a French mayor in an Alps climbing comedy with Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton.

The monsieur denies reports that he washes the hirsute display daily in milk. "Only on Sundays" he explains. "On weekdays I wash it with soap and water. But it is much trouble—two hours a day at least I spend combing and washing and training it. And the California climate is not good for a beard—it is too dry."

SUBSTITUTED JAZZ FOR CHURCH MUSIC

(Special cable to The Daily Mail by the British United Press)

Viareggio, Italy, Sept. 12—Youthful musicians were protected by police from the infuriated congregation of the Madonna Chapel here after the players had substituted jazz for sacred music. The musicians had been engaged to give a concert of sacred music.

HOW TO HOLD THE HUSBAND

Did you ever wonder at the lack of skill and tact with which a girl selects a husband? You would think she was buying some frivolous fancy from a department store that could be returned the next day if it was not satisfactory. You are not supposed to change husbands with the seasons. Look for qualities that wear. To be more careful in selection is not to be holding indignation meetings with yourself in the coming days. There is an important subtle distinction between choosing a lover and a husband.

If once you are married stick to the man you have selected notwithstanding the movies and some modern books may tell you different. Proxy ethics and friendly moralities often give us thoughts to live by. Living thus will often shoo away the ghost of disappointment leering over your shoulder.

SAYS DOMINION WILL PAY OFF LOAN IN CASH

Hon. J. A. Robb Makes Announcement in Political Speech at Goodrich, Ont.

Goodrich, Ont., Sept. 11—Further reductions "in the taxes which the people have borne already too long" was the policy of the government, declared Hon. James A. Robb, minister of finance, speaking here last night in support of Archibald's Liberal candidate in North Huron.

Mr. Robb also settled the question of how Canada was to meet $100,000,000 maturities this autumn. The Dominion was going to pay them in cash.

"Don't worry about Canadian maturities" declared Mr. Robb. "Don't believe these 'dog-day' stories published in the Tory press and repeated by Tory orators, that Canada must borrow $100,000,000 to pay off October-November maturities. We are not going to. We don't need to borrow one dollar. We have the money carefully tucked away ready to pay off the total October-November maturities and have considerable cash left over to help meet the December maturity of $63,000,000."

Reviewed Conditions.

The minister of finance reviewed conditions since the government took office in 1921. In addition to tax reduction, he dealt with the tariff, reviewing the various budget changes since the government of Premier King first assumed the reins. Tariff reductions had not resulted in dislocation of business or the closing of factories, he insisted. He pointed to the appointment of the tariff board a body which was in a position to give reliable unbiased reports to the minister of finance in which to base his actions.

"Strict economy living within our means, putting a little away for a rainy day to meet Dominion bonds, interest and principal, when due was the method, whereby surpluses were achieved" Mr. Robb told the electors. The present government had reduced debt, expenditures and taxation and spoke of the removal of the sales tax from certain articles, tariff reductions had been made in automobile duties, reductions and revisions in the income tax. The stamp tax had been reduced, penny postage restored and the receipt tax abolished. Every reduction, he claimed had helped industry and production and brought about increased revenues to the Dominion treasury.

Replies to Charges.

Mr. Robb told his audience that Conservative leaders claimed that the present government had stolen their tariff policy.

Reductions had been made by the government in the tariff on farm implements in 1924 and a "howl of ruination" was sent up by the Conservatives. But, he claimed instead of ruin the farm implement industry had grown. Again in 1926 when automobile duties were reduced there was a similar cry. But an increase in the business of Canadian automobile plants had followed the tariff change.

THREE CHILDREN LOSE LIVES IN QUEBEC FIRE

Montreal, Sept. 11—Three children were burned to death when fire destroyed the home of their father, Honore Periard, at St. Eustache, about 20 miles from Montreal. The father and his brother-in-law, Lambert Pinet, suffered serious burns in trying to save the children.

The dead children were: Ubaldinne, aged 11 years, Paul Henri, aged eight years, Maurice, aged six years.

The mother and father and five other children were sleeping in the downstairs section of the house, and the three elder children were upstairs when the fire broke out.

Pinet, who was passing the house, first discovered the flames and awakened the inmates. With his help the father managed to remove the five younger children and the mother from the house. By this time the staircase leading to the upper part of the home was a mass of flames. Pinet and the father made gallant efforts to break through, but were forced back by the blaze.

The children's cries could be heard above the crackling of the flames. The father shouted to them to jump from the window but it is thought the smoke was too dense for the little victims to find it.

A NIGHTMARE LANDS DAPPLE IN A CELLAR

Medford, Mass., Sept. 12—"Dapple" holds the distinction of being the only sleep-walking horse in Medford. The big bay horse a favorite of William F. Emerson found his stall too confining for him and some time in the night wandered off in his sleep.

He made his way about the old stable unconcerned and happy until he struck a weak piece of flooring. The worn boards let him down to the cellar where he woke up with a start.

In the morning Emerson a farmer in the vicinity came after his horse only to find him wandering about the cellar of the stable. All efforts to drag Dapple out were unavailing and the owner finally called the Medford fire department.

The firemen put the blanket about the horse, got out their rope and tackle and inside half an hour had Dapple out again. He seemed none the worse for his experience.

Cars in Collision.

There were two car collisions in the city and its vicinity over the weekend, in neither of which accident anybody was more than slightly injured. One took place Saturday night at the corner of Brunswick and York streets. Both automobiles were badly damaged but the occupants escaped without injury. The other was fourteen miles up the river at Kingsclear in which a Buick car owned by Mr. Graham of St. Stephen collided with an automobile from the United States. The cars were passing each other and passed too closely for comfort. Both cars were damaged, but though they carried a number of passengers luckily nobody was hurt.
