The Tardieu Cabinet May be Overthrown By the Socialist Bloc

The Party Now Has 118 Members in the Chamber of Deputies or Eight More Than the Second Place Socialists—The Ministry Has Not Been Strengthened by Foreign Policy.

(Special to THE DAILY MAIL by the British United Press.)

PARIS, Oct. 9—The possibility that the powerful radical socialist party congress, which opened today at Grenoble, will force Premier Andre Tardieu to reorganize his cabinet was seen by supporters of the government.

The cabinet, which is a coalition headed by Tardieu's left republican faction, has included a large number of votes of the radical socialist deputies in its support in parliament despite the fact that the radical socialists refused to participate in the cabinet. The refusal was due to the failure of Tardieu to support Camille Chautemps, radical socialist leader, when he plainly attempted to form a government last February.

Will Discuss Proposals.

The party which has 118 deputies in Parliament, or eight more than the second place socialists, will discuss proposals for formation of a bloc against the Tardieu cabinet, which has not been strengthened recently by the development of Aristide Briand's foreign policy. If the party is successful in forming a new parliamentary bloc with other factions, it is certain to overthrow the Tardieu government when Parliament reconvenes in November.

ESKIMOS ARE INVESTING IN AIRPLANES

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 9—Eskimo families which earn $40,000 a year selling white fox furs and think nothing of spending $300 a ton for coal and large sums for long airplane jaunts and radios were described by the crew of the Hudson Bay Company trading vessel Baychimo here today after a season in the Arctic ocean.

Easily won fortunes in the fur trading occupations of the natives have created a mode of life and disregard for expense that startle persons from "the outside," officers of the Baychimo said.

Airplanes visited Herschel Island, lying off the Arctic ocean coast and the boundary line of Alaska and Canada, on commercial trips this summer. Natives, they said, think nothing of paying $375 for an airplane trip to Edmonton, Alta.

The Baychimo limped into port with its rudder twisted and blades of its propeller broken by the ice.

Visiting in Moncton

Moncton Times: Rev. Harry Harrison, of Sheffield, N. B., an honored Supernumerary of the United Church, has been spending a few days with his daughter, Mrs. F. Williams of this city. Mr. Harrison was born in Sheffield, Sunbury County and is spending these days of resting among his friends of former days.

Nearly everybody, at some time in life, is tempted to bite off more than he can chew.

CHINESE WOULD BAR SHIPS OF FOREIGNERS

Shanghai, China, Oct. 9—Rather than encourage a healthy competition of a shipping interests between Chinese and foreign firms already established along the Yangtse River, China's greatest highway, the Shanghai Chinese Shipowners' Association has petitioned the government to prevent foreign ships from putting in a number of Yangtse and China coastal ports.

As it is, there are a number of Chinese ports at which foreign vessels are not permitted to enter, though arrangements are made for the taking on of passengers who are ferried out to the ship's side in native craft. Cargo, however, at such ports is not taken on.

Under the original terms of the Manchu treaties only certain ports were opened to foreign trade. With the growth of commerce it has been felt that the natural development would be for the opening of other ports but the Chinese association is opposed to this.

Y., Oct. 9—Married men out of work "have no business spending money for gasoline for running an automobile, said Police Justice Freyer to a man summoned before him for parking without lights who said he had no money to pay a small fine, and yet are able to keep your car running," said the court in suspending sentence.

MEMORIAL SERVICE TO BE HELD ON FRIDAY

British Nation's Sorrow Will Find Expression at Simple Service at St. Paul's Cathedral in London.

London, Oct. 8—The memorial service for the gallant men who lost their lives in the crash of the R-101 which is to be held in St. Paul's Cathedral on Friday, will be rendered impressive, not only by the weight of the nation's sorrow, but also by its simplicity.

According to present plans, the opening of the great ceremony at midday will be preceded by selections played by the band of the Royal Air Force in the Jesus Chapel at the rear of its high altar.

"I Am the resurrection" will be sung by the choir to the music of the famous old time composer, William Croft, this will be followed by "Rock of Ages." Then the Lord's Prayer will be recited and two psalms chanted—the familiar "The Lord Is My Shepherd" and "Lord Thou Hast Been Our Refuge."

Silent Prayer

The chaplain-in-chief of the Air Force will read a passage from the Book of Revelation. Silence will then be kept for a space and after this unheard prayer the Bishop of London will pronounce the benediction.

Saturday's funeral procession from Westminster all to Euston station for enthrallment of the coffins for Bedford will commence at 10 o'clock. It will include detachment of mounted police, an Air Force detachment and an Air Force band. The coffins will be conveyed by army wagons and immediately at the rear will walk the relatives and friends of the men who perished, followed by representatives of the Air Council, the Army Council and the Admiralty, the Third Watch of the R-101 crew, numbering a hundred men, the Royal Marine Band and naval detachments.

HOME-SPUN TWEED SOON TO DISAPPEAR

London, Oct. 9—One of the oldest sources of home-spun tweed will disappear when the evacuation of St. Kilda is completed next month. Coincidentally, authorities report a revival of the Welsh tweed industry. More than 200 small factories are working in Wales, and London tailors are demanding tweed in large quantities.

Sale of Welsh tweed gained impetus after the peasant weavers on the islands of the Hebrides and St. Kilda were unable to cope with the increased demand for Harris tweed, known for its association with home-spun.

SIMPLE LIFE IN PITCAIRN

Pitcairn, Oct. 8—Modern habits have come to this, once the loneliest island settlement and authorities are worried. For years the inhabitants, who number only 199, were content to be governed only by a chief magistrate and were very religious.

Since opening of the Panama Canal, Pitcairn has been out of the direct route to New Zealand, and vessels which seldom paid the island a call now arrive at least once a week.

"Under the influence of increased prosperity, the islanders seem to be losing their simple mode of life," says H. G. Pilling, assistant to the high commissioner for the Western Pacific.
