

British Confiscate Ghandi's Press when Editor Bucks Policy

Passive Resistance Newspapers, Young India and Navajivan, Forcibly Discontinued—Editor Refuses To Adopt Restriction—Air Force Repels Raiders at Peshawar.

(Special to THE DAILY MAIL by the British United Press.)

BOMBAY, July 9—The government of India confiscated today the press on which Mahatma Gandhi's passive resistance papers, Young India and Navajivan, were published.

The confiscation was the result of the editor's refusal to furnish security required under Vice-Roy Lord Irwin's revival of the press restriction laws.

Planes Called Into Service.

Peshawar, India, July 9—Royal Air Force planes were called into service again to warn frontier tribesmen against further depredations against British outposts, it was announced today.

Tribesmen attacked two military posts Monday night burning one and firing shots at the other. Yesterday 400 raiders renewed the attack and destroyed a highway bridge above Marobi. They attempted to destroy another but were driven off by troops.

As a result of the attacks the planes were ordered to fly over the frontier country and stage a demonstration as a warning to the villagers.

MACDONALD FACES CRISES OF CAREER

London, July 8—The lobbies of Parliament are buzzing with excitement tonight as the MacDonald Government tomorrow faces in the House of Commons and in the North Norfolk by-election two of the most critical tests of its history.

Tomorrow will hear discussion of the finance bill. Political circles are convinced many of the Liberals, contrary to latterday practice, will vote against the Government. The temperature between Liberals and Labor has suddenly dropped and one of the reasons, it is understood, is a disagreement between Prime Minister MacDonald and the Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, the Liberal Leader, over measures to help remedy the unemployment situation.

It was only a few weeks ago that Mr. Lloyd George pledged the support of the Liberals in any "sound, effective scheme," to deal with unemployment. Now the situation is again changed. And the Liberals cannot easily forget that they have received no satisfaction from the Government in their demands for electoral reform by which they more than any other party, would stand to benefit.

VESUVIUS IS GRUMBLING

(Special to THE DAILY MAIL by the British United Press.)

Naples, July 9—The eruptive cone in Mount Vesuvius had widened today under the force of continued eruptions during its belated period of spring activity.

The lava flows rapidly through underground passages to the crater where it piles up. The incandescent material in the bottom of the crater has doubled since the activity began Monday.

MANY RELICS OF ANCIENT EGYPT LOST IN NILE

Wadi-El-Arab, Egypt, July 8—Many historical sites between Wadi Essedua and Wadi Halfa are slowly being submerged by the rising waters of the Nile because of the heightening of the Asouan dam.

Egyptian archaeologists are hurriedly trying to salvage the relics they can before the work, stated in 1907, is completed three years hence. All worth-while relics are sent to museums at Cairo.

Special attention is being paid now to the Nubian village of Dendur and Dendur Temple. Both will soon be submerged by the waters which already are at the steps of the temple.

One expedition excavated part of a small Roman town on the west bank of the river at this point. A score of houses were cleared, all yielding valuable relics, including a number of bronze objects.

Further to the south have been found the remains of a small village of the "middle kingdom" period. Apart from the discoveries of pottery, hand axes and bone implements, much information was gained there of the domestic habits of the "C" group of the Nubians.

A large cemetery of the "new kingdom" era was found farther up the river. More than 2000 graves were explored and recorded for scientific tabulation.

"FINDINGS KEEPIN" IS COURT BASE- BALL RULING

Chicago, July 9—A Chicago judge ruled the other day what a boy who got a ball hit into the stand had a perfect right to keep it. Three lads battled hard for one hit by Wilson and the ushers and specials took in the scramble. The fans sided in with the kids and soon pop bottles began to get close to the ushers' heads.

The affair wound up in court. In the meantime the ball disappeared, but the judge said that the young fans should find the ball and keep it.

"I'd like to get my hands on one that Hack Wilson hit," said the court to the kids.

They left the court room vowing they would go to the Cub park and look for it. If it happens that they run across Bill Wrigley in their search he will very likely give the young fans a ball autographed by the famous hitter.

Sir Herbert Holt Inclines Towards Empire Free Trade

Will Not Definitely Pledge Himself to Beaverbrook Cause But Sees in it a Panacea For British Unemployment—At Present No Industrial Protection.

(Special to THE DAILY MAIL by the British United Press.)

LONDON, July 9—While Sir Herbert Holt, eminent Canadian financier, does not definitely pledge himself to be a supporter of empire free trade, he has been giving his views in the Financial Times and endorsing the plea for reciprocity in empire trade. He is convinced that without safeguarding industrial Britain will go to the wall and that present employment problem will develop into a national calamity. Every country, except Britain protects their home market against dumping and this can only be done by a well regulated imposition of duties on foreign products, says Sir Herbert. With a definite and permanent system of safeguarding in force Britain would be in a position to foster empire trade on an equal reciprocal basis.

SPIRITUALISTS SAY THEIR "HELLO" TO CONAN DOYLE

(Special to THE DAILY MAIL by the British United Press.)

London, July 9—London spiritualists will make their first attempt to communicate with the late Sir Conan Doyle, author and spiritualist leader, next Sunday.

The attempt will be made at a spiritualist memorial service for him at Albert Hall, Mrs. Sinclair Stoberth, prominent in spiritualist circles here said.

"There will be a clairvoyance at the service" she said, "and there is every possibility that Sir Arthur will speak to us."

LOCAL RIVERMAN HAS NEW TRICK

Charles Fleet, well known riverman is up to something entirely new this year. He is building a "water plane", a motor boat that flies or better still a swimming airplane. Acting on a suggestion in Popular Mechanics he is rigging up a Glencairn type sailboat—built after the famous Dougan model—with a Buick engine and a propeller that will revolve in air transferring to the boat the principles of an airplane. Craft of this type have been tried out on Lake Ontario and have attained tremendous speed. Mr. Fleet will try out his "Miss England III." sometime this week.
