

CELEBRATE CENTENARY IN THE CAPITAL

More Than 15,000 Orange Celebrators Expected to be in Fredericton for July 12th—Eight Bands in Parade.

The Centenary celebration of the Orange Order to be held in Fredericton on the 12th of July is expected to attract 15,000 members of the Order and their friends from throughout New Brunswick, as well as additional thousands of visitors from the New England States and adjoining Provinces.

Every Lodge

Grand Orange Lodge headquarters announce that almost every lodge in the jurisdiction will be represented in this Provincial Orange Centenary Celebration preparations for which have been going on for the past year. At least eight bands and a number of decorated floats will feature the parade in which several thousand members of the Order and affiliated organizations will walk before prominent speakers address an audience expected to be the largest ever assembled for such a purpose in New Brunswick's capital at the Trotting Park at the Fredericton grounds.

Everything connected with The Centenary Celebration is on a larger scale than ever attempted before by the Orange Order in New Brunswick.

Bright, of Saint John, and two sisters, Mrs. David Gorman, of this city, and Mrs. A. Brewer, of Devon. ### A Lonesome Youth

A party of Fredericton ladies motoring through Eastern Ontario last week were somewhat surprised to see a young man following them on a bicycle and signalling them to slow up, when they stopped the car he informed them that he was from New Brunswick and was so glad to see a car from this province that he simply had to follow it. He explained that his name was Hatfield, that he belonged to Temple, York county and that Harry Hatfield of this city was his uncle. He added that for some months he had been filling a position at Cornwall, and seldom saw anybody from home.

LATE ADAM MOORE NATION BUILDER SAYS PREMIER

Hon. J. B. M. Baxter Pays Tribute to Well Known Scotch Lake Resident Who Passed Away a Short Time Ago.

Mrs. Moore, widow of Adam Moore, of Scotch Lake, who passed to his reward a short time ago, has received many letters of sympathy from friends far and near and greatly appreciates the kindly sentiments expressed. Hon. J. B. M. Baxter, Premier of New Brunswick, busy man that he is, found time to write a touching letter of sympathy to Mrs. Moore, in which he referred to her late husband as "a nation builder in his own way", and truer words were never written. The full text of the Premier's letter follows:
