Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 23—Did the sound of bagpipes help the new Canadian Pacific flagship Empress of Japan to travel from Yokohama to Victoria, B. C. in the record time of eight days, six hours and 27 minutes?

One passenger who landed here last night from the big white liner after she had docked at pier B amid the greatest celebration ever extended by the port in honor of a marine newcomer is convinced his bagpipes spurred the ship's Scottish boilers to a pitch that sent the 26,000 ton liner tearing through the seas at an average speed of 21.14 knots during the record breaking crossing.

NEW STEAMER WAS GIVEN A GREAT WELCOME

New C. P. R. Liner Princess Helene for St. John-Digby Route Reached Saint John Yesterday Afternoon.

St. John, Aug. 23—Greeted by long and loud blasts from every ship's siren in the harbor and from many factories near the waterfront on both East and West sides, the Canadian Pacific steamer Princess Helene moored at Reed's Point Wharf at 4.30 p. m. Friday.

Many Canadian Pacific officials were on hand to greet the new steamer for the Saint John-Digby route, including Vice President A. D. MacTier and J. M. Woodman, general superintendent for the New Brunswick district, and to congratulate Captain P. A. Lancaster on his safe and speedy journey across the Atlantic from Scotland where the steamer was built.

Decorated with gay pennants and bunting and with her upper hull gleaming white in the afternoon sun which reflected in the large, square cabin windows like mirrors, the Princess Helene had the appearance of a smaller edition of the C. P. R. Duchess liners which come to Saint John. Of nearly 4,000 tons burden, and generously proportioned, the new steamer dwarfed the old steamer Empress when the latter arrived on one of her last trips from Digby and berthed behind her.

Captain Pleased

Captain Lancaster expressed himself as entirely satisfied with the sea-worthiness and behaviour of the new vessel. "We had rough weather for the first few days out, but on the whole a splendid passage," he told an interviewer.

"Her engines behaved very well, although at no time did we run her at anything near full speed and she is an extremely easy ship to handle he declared.

Captain Lancaster, who is a ship's commander in the regular trans-Atlantic service of the C. P. R., will remain in Saint John for a short time to assist the captain of the S.S. Empress in taking over the new vessel and showing him points in handling her. After that he will return to Liverpool to take over command of one of the C. P. R. trans-Atlantic liners.

If the Canadians can beat the Irish in price, there should be cheaper fresh killed meat for English housewives.

FOREST FIRE OUTBREAK IN CHARLOTTE CO.

St. George, Aug. 22—The village of Pennfield was threatened by destruction yesterday afternoon as it lay in the path of a forest fire fanned by a stiff east wind, and the residents breathed freely once more last evening at 6 o'clock when the blaze had been brought under control by some 500 fire-fighters who fought desperately for four hours to stop the flames.

The fire started on the old Saint John road, about four miles from St. George, at 2 o'clock by burners working on the new telephone lines, it is reported, and soon got beyond their control. Some 250 telephone employees, unable to cope with its spread toward Pennfield, two miles away, sent in a call for Fire Warden Sullivan, of Bonny River, and fire-fighters from St. George. The St. George apparatus was also rushed to the scene but was unable to get into the district where the fire was.

While a strip about a mile long had burned over before the blaze was checked, very little good lumber land was touched by fire, which followed along in slash left from last year's cut of logs.
