SOME GOOD ADVICE

The harrowing tragedies of the highway are read easily by an experienced motorist, in many instances, says an exchange. The wreckage and visible traces of momentum mutely but eloquently tell of "stepping on it." Nor are these distressful cases restricted to drivers with rum courage, by any means.

Frequently, the desire to make time, to get somewhere for breakfast or lunch or dinner, may incline the most upright man or woman, good citizens alike, to speed the car. The highway may be clear, apparently, with little traffic moving and no seeming obstacles to speed.

The hazards are ever present; any insurance company can produce volumes of proof attesting the truth of the statement that sober drivers of good repute are not immune from highway wreck and death.

When Daniel Willard assumed the presidency of the Baltimore & Ohio road, he, level-headed Vermonter, ended the custom of making up time by engineers, with occasional disaster. His order was terse and well may serve all motorists. It was "Better be a little late on the irons than on time in the ditch."

Think it over—and when tempted, don't "step on it."

The trouble with too many men in public life or in high places everywhere is that they have no imagination. They are job hunters and job getters. By attention to detail they get a job and hold it. So far so good—but not good enough. It is the quality of imagination which makes us see things as they might be. It is imagination which makes programs and policies. It is imagination which lifts us to new levels and sets our feet upon the road to the more perfect world.

Even such a well informed journal as the Toronto Saturday Night sometimes makes a miss when discussing political matters. In a recent issue in referring to Hon. Maurice Dupre, the new Solicitor General of Canada, it said that "he had redeemed Sir Wilfred Laurier's old riding of Quebec East". Of course this is not correct. Mr. Dupre redeemed Quebec West in the late election. The riding of Quebec East was carried by Hon. Earnest LaPointe.

There is a business man in New York who must be either the smartest or the most courageous man in the world. He did long ago what thousands of us would like to do today if we only had the nerve to go against custom. He took the telephone out of his office. He hears no bells, answers no calls, is never disturbed. Perhaps this article is only half serious. Sometimes, one thinks, it might be entirely serious.

The boss who uses the same method with all his men is not very intelligent. Some men rarely have to be either told or asked. A boss who has not a fairly keen analysis of human nature is not a real executive. He is just a fellow with his name on the door.

The learned Literary Digest says that the phrase "in the sticks" is a derivation of the river Styx of the lower region. We do not occupy a "lexicographer's easy chair" but we have an idea that "in the sticks" means where the trees are.

Nature never does things by halves, and now that the heat is so intense that the corn is popping in the fields of Kansas, it won't be long until the cows start giving drawn butter.

A man in Illinois has been sued for divorce and is charged with administering 1,132 beatings to his wife. It's a wonder to me that the poor woman didn't get tired of it and lose count.

Investigation at the University of Iowa has disclosed that the average child of 6 knows 2,562 words in all or 2564 words in addition to "Gimmeys nickel."

"La Gioconda sat three years for Da Vinci's famous painting, Mona Lisa." Thus in addition to being a beautiful woman, she was one of the earliest of the endurance sitters.

A. P. Herbert, the famous humorist of Punch, offers the first valid reason we have heard for a big navy. He thinks battleships are "perfectly swell."

The dogs of St. Bernard are now carrying hot coffee instead of rum, so there'll be fewer Alpine travelers going to the dogs.

Peggy Hopkins Joyce wants a man who will love her for herself alone and not for the success that she is. Well, what's the difference?

On account of the business doldrums, some of the bid deals recounted in the Pullman smokers are involving as little as $400,000.

It is hoped that Mars and the others are duly humiliated by advices that a New Orleans high school girl is "Miss Universe."

It is hoped in time every columnist in the country will have heard of the Platt Tire Co., of Evanston Ill., so that the item may be retired.

When fashion experts are in session to determine the waist line, does it wind up in an arms conference.

All motorists are potentially safe drivers—if they think in time.

Just keeping on deck this summer has been an endurance stunt.

THROUGH OUR SIEVE

Cantaloupes have improved, advancing from bad to an indifferent attitude.

Lima Beane says the man who aspires to political office must expect to perspire.

Earl Carroll says "beauty knows no law." That seems to double the responsibility of beauty's manager.

A few mosquitoes may get in through the windows but the screen doors keep out the house-to-house canvassers.

There is discouragement for political candidates in an Atlantic Monthly article which declares the power of hot air is exaggerated.

Let the prophets of prosperity continue. If the meteorologists were to quit after two or three forecasts we wouldn't have any weather at all.

Possibly the most useful emotion provided by nature is the subtle consciousness which, when it opens the sucker's eyes, automatically closes his heart.

There is this in the paper before us: "The older a man gets the less cynical he is." Possibly because he has learned to accept his disillusionments as part of the day's experience.

AGONY OF NEURITIS

A Story of Intense Suffering and Relief

"Do I recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills? "You may believe I do", says Mr. John H. Jamieson, of Wallaceburg, Ont.

"For five years I suffered day and night from neuritis. The agony was terrible. I lost control of my arm and shoulder and my hand became shriveled. Nothing helped me till I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Even then the improvement was slow and I took ten boxes before I was on the way to recovery. After that, though, relief was rapid. My hand gradually filled out; the pain left me and I could sleep in peace. That was two years ago and I have not had a twinge of the trouble since."

Sufferers from neuritis, neuralgia or rheumatism should try the common sense method of banishing these troubles by enriching the blood and strengthening the nerves with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

FREE VACCINATION.

Dr. Loggie, Medical School Inspector, will be at the Library, Fredericton High School, corner George and Regent Streets, on Monday August 25th., from 2 to 4.30 P. M. for the purpose of vaccinating all children entering Fredericton Schools who have not already been vaccinated.
