BODY OF JEROME ZWICKER FORMER GRAND MANAN MAN FOUND IN BOSTON HARBOR

Boston, Mass., Aug. 22—The greatest tragedy ever to affect the peace-loving community of Grand Manan, N. B., was ended this afternoon when Boston harbor workmen found the body of Jerome Zwicker, 23, former resident of Grand Manan in the waters separating Boston from Chelsea near Pier 42, Charlestown.

Zwicker, at Norwood, Mass., a week ago is believed to have shot and killed his pretty young wife, Gladys, also a former resident of Grand Manan. She had been living with her sister, Mrs. Claude Morse. The body of the murdered young woman, who would soon have become a mother, was not found until three days after she was slain, and so the hunt for the missing husband was delayed that length of time.

Saturday morning the Zwicker car was found at Pier 42. At the time it was not known a tragedy had been enacted, for the body of his wife lay in the woods at Norwood where it remained hidden. When relatives in Norwood were notified of the abandoned car, they did not suspect a crime, but thought Mrs. Zwicker might have wandered away because of her delicate condition.

Three days later her body was found when searchers were drawn to a wooded spot a mile from her sister's home in Norwood by the barking of Mrs. Zwicker's dog.

The faithful pet nearly starved, had watched over the body until help came. Two bullet holes were in the head and in such a position that all possibility of suicide was eliminated.

Last Together

The last seen of the Zwickers together was a week ago this morning, when a neighbor went to the Norwood house on an errand.

Mrs. Zwicker appeared at the door partly clad, while her husband made known his presence by talking from his bedroom.

A few hours later, when the neighbors returned, both had gone and the Zwicker car was missing.

At 3 o'clock last Saturday morning a man resembling Zwicker was seen on the Charlestown docks, vainly trying to start a car.

The car had been seen by a policeman and the officer had locked it.

The police now think Zwicker killed his wife at Norwood, went to the Charlestown docks, parked the car and then wandered about the city trying to decide what to do. Returning at 3 o'clock Saturday morning and finding his car had been locked, the police say he must have soon after shot himself on the edge of the dock and thrown himself into the water. It has not yet been determined whether he died from the bullet wound or from drowning and exactly in which way he ended his life may never be known.

The police knowing that Zwicker who had been working on a boat between New York and Norwood, had returned to Norwood and was with his wife shortly before the abandoned car was found, immediately arranged to arrest him on the charge of wife murder. The motive, they believed, was a double one, first because he had fallen in love with another woman in whose company he had frequently been seen, and second, because Mrs. Zwicker had threatened to have him arrested for non-support.

Now nothing remains but to take the bodies back to New Brunswick.

Waiting for Body

The father and brother of Mrs. Zwicker, heart-broken, have been waiting in Norwood several days, hoping that the body of their loved one would be released. Now that Zwicker's body has been found, it is believed the wife's body will be promptly given to the relatives.

Chief of Police William Sullivan or Norwood, tonight said he believed Mrs. Zwicker's body would go back to New Brunswick tomorrow. Just what will be done with Zwicker's body is not known. The police will notify his New Brunswick relatives.

Every effort on the part of the police both in Massachusetts and in New Brunswick was made to locate Zwicker.

He was variously reported as seen in Canada, in and near Boston, and a Charleston, S. C., steamer on which he was thought to have taken passage, was searched in the southern port without success.

Chief Sullivan said tonight: "The relatives of Mrs. Zwicker have seen the body of Zwicker and have positively identified it, so the case is ended."

demonstrations, judging work and camp activities to present junior club work in a manner to attract favorable attention from the public.

The project in its present state is an outgrowth of a similar program at Camp Vaill, confined to Massachusetts.

In 1925 New Brunswick, the first of the Canadian provinces, was included in the scheme and has sent annual representatives to date.

Club work has caught hold of the New Brunswick farmer and is making definite progress. This year 20 new clubs have been started, evenly distributed among the calf and poultry clubs, both of which are rapidly superseding the swine clubs organized some ten years ago.

A tentative schedule of fall fairs has been announced by the Department. Prize money will be provided in equal thirds by the Federal and Provincial departments of agriculture and the various communities.

Made Presentation

Last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Jonah, George St., the George Street Baptist Orchestra Society presented Mrs. Earl McKeen with a dainty present, the occasion being her birthday. Officers of the society for the coming year were chosen. The president selected is Mr. Mervil Fletcher, Orchestra leader, Mr. Whittingham, and the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Earl McKeen. Mr. Ford Delong, who has occupied the president's chair for the past two years, made a few remarks and thanked the society for the splendid co-operation given him. Pleasing refreshments and cards brought a very pleasant evening to a close.

to avoid hitting the child, and twist the wheel just in time to hit her only a glancing blow.

Officer Barker carried the child into the nearby drug store, where medical aid was summoned. Dr. Irvine, who was called, ascertained that no bones were broken, and this afternoon the girl was reported to be none the worse for her accident, save for shock and bruises.

The Nashwaak Fishway

Mr. Bruce of the Department of Fisheries, Ottawa, is in the city today on business connected with the fishway in the Nashwaak dam at Marysville. He was in conference with R. B. Hanson, M. P., and exhibited plans for a new and enlarged fishway. He says that the department is determined to give salmon a chance to get up the Nashwaak.

Has Returned

O. C. Hicks of the Soils and Crops Division, Department of Agriculture, returned to his home here last night, following a several days trip to the north shore on routine business.

IS BABY TEETHING?

Teething time is a time of worry to most mothers. The baby is nervous; fretful; feverish. His little gums are swollen and sore; diarrhoea, constipation, colic and sometimes convulsions set in—neither baby nor mother can sleep.

These troubles can be quickly banished however, through the use of Baby's Own Tablets concerning which Mrs. Louis Grubb Teeswater, Ont., says:—"I have used the Tablets for all my babies while teething and have found them a splendid medicine."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co. Brockville, Ont.

STOCKS WERE A LITTLE STRONGER THIS MORNING

Stock prices today were fairly steady with gains in a number of issues including U. S. Steel, C. P. R., Nickel, and Radio. Nickel sold up to 23 and rights advanced in proportion.

ATHEISTS TO START SCHOOLS IN MOSCOW

Moscow, U. S. S. R., August 23—The All-Union Society of Militant Atheists has decided to establish a central anti-religious university in Moscow, with facilities for 400 students. Anti-religious professorial charts will also be created in existing universities in Russia. The society plans the opening of seven other anti-religious schools in various parts of Moscow province.

BAD CZECHO IN OLOMOUC

Olomouc, Czecho-Slovakia, August 23—Army authorities here have a grievance. Strict orders were given residents to remain indoors while airplanes engaged in mimic warfare. So the inhabitants promptly came forth in such numbers as to impede traffic.

Returning Home

Mr. Byron McNally of Edmonton, who has been spending the summer renewing old acquaintances in this city and vicinity, will leave for home on Monday. He says that his trip east has been very enjoyable.
