A. F. EDGECOMBE AND MISS JEAN ANGUS MARRIED

Marriage of Interest to Fredericton People Solemnized At St. John Yesterday.

St. John, N. B., Oct. 17—The marriage of Jean Elizabeth Angus, eldest daughter of William McLaren Angus and the late Mrs. Angus, to Dr. John Frederick Edgcombe, only son of Mrs. Edgcombe and the late Albert W. Edgcombe, of Fredericton, which has been anticipated as one of the outstanding society events of the early autumn, was solemnized at 2.30 Wednesday afternoon at the residence of the bride's aunt, Mrs. W. Arthur I. Anglin, 58 Orange street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. Campbell Wadsworth, pastor of St. Andrew's United Church.

Bronze oak leaves, pine and yellow chrysanthemums were used in profusion about the rooms and were artistically banked against the large fireplace, which formed an effective background for the bridal group.

Bruce Holder and Morris Watson played "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden" as the bride entered the room with her father. She was preceded by her four attendants, Mrs. S. Ronald Jones, sister of the bride, as matron of honor; her younger sister, Miss Catherine Angus, as bridesmaid, and little Misses Mary Ives Anglin, cousin of the bride, and Barbara Golding, cousin of the groom, as diminutive flower girls. George W. Ramsay attended as groomsmen.

The bride's gown was a lovely Princess model of antique ivory satin with very long skirt forming a train at the back. Her long, tightly fitting sleeves were finished with points of English thread lace, which also edged the simple "V" shaped decolletage. Her beautiful veil of antique Brussels lace, which had been worn by her mother as a bride, fell in graceful folds from a low crescent-shaped coronet, which was held in place by dainty clusters of orange blossoms at the sides. She wore satin clippers in a shade to match her gown and carried a shower bouquet of lily of the valley and cream roses.

(Special to THE DAILY MAIL by the British United Press.)
Chicago, Oct. 17—Gangsters took another victim for a "ride" today and tossed his body into a galley. The man appeared to have been about 28 years old and foreign. Police believed he was William Bell, of Beaver Dam, Wis.

A fitting punishment for those found to have caused forest fires would be to hand them a shovel and make them learn what it is to fight one.

The matron of honor and bridesmaid were gowned alike in deep poudre blue chiffon.

The ceremony was attended by nearly 100 guests who were received by Mrs. W. Arthur I. Anglin, Mr. Anglin and Mr. John A. McAvity, grandfather of the bride.

MONTREAL STAR HAS GOOD WORD FOR N. B. PREMIER

Is Giving His Native Province Good Government—Always on the Alert in Its Defence.

In commenting on the recent visit of Premier Baxter to Montreal, and his address before the Young Men's Canadian Club, of that city, the Daily Star, Canada's leading newspaper, says:—

"Hon. J. B. M. Baxter, Prime Minister of New Brunswick, is always a welcome visitor to Montreal. It is not only that he had a great many friends here, but we are near enough to New Brunswick to realize what good government he is giving our neighbour Province.

"In his address to the Young Men's Canadian Club the other night, he appeared as the authentic voice of the Maritimes. That voice demands that the Provinces by the sea shall not only bear the burdens of Confederation, but shall have a fair share of its advantages. This is not a matter that can safely be left to the chance currents of trade and transportation. The Dominion must deliberately work out a policy whereby the Maritime Provinces can be brought nearer—economically—to the rest of us, with a view to an exchange of products. If we cut off their geographical market in New England, we obviously must help them gain a substitute in Central Canada.

Sailing Too Slow

"The Duncan Report is a chart by which we are all sailing. But it is sometimes felt that the sailing is too slow. Mr. Baxter spoke of the depressing fact that the young men had been drafted away from his province with the effect that the problem of Old Age Pensions was much more serious there than in the West. There is only 1 answer to that, and that is the creation of more and better opportunities for young enterprise at home. No wonder the New Brunswick Premier is disturbed by the closing of a local factory, even if the explanation is the tightening up of production with a view of going full steam ahead under the new tariff.

"In any case, Mr. Baxter is always alert in defending his own Province. If it suffers any damage, he will want to know the reason why. This is precisely what is needed. Every section of the Dominion should have its case stated clearly, emphatically and honestly. Then we should all get together, pool our knowledge and our brains, and try to work out the best plans whereby a nation three thousand miles long and only some hundreds broad can function successfully as an economic unit.

Unveiling Ceremony

Many out of town visitors are expected here tomorrow for the program of the unveiling of the Bliss Carman memorial monument at Forest Hill cemetery. The program begins at 2.30 p. m. Hon. J. B. M. Baxter, Premier of the province, will unveil the memorial, while Sir George E. Foster will deliver the address. Visitors from upper Canada and Nova Scotia are expected here on this evening's train.

A fine mist fell from overcast skies, making weather conditions disagreeable for the big spectator fleet.

The Start Delayed
Gloucester, Mass., Oct. 17—The start of the scheduled race between the Gertrude L. Thebaud, and the Bluenose was postponed for an hour by the sailing committee because of lack of wind. Under the postponement the schooners would begin their race at 11.00 A. M.

SIR GEORGE FOSTER WAS M. P. FOR YORK IN FEDERAL HOUSE

Right Hon. Sir. George Foster, who is here to speak at the unveiling of the monument to Bliss Carman, Canadian poet tomorrow, represented the county of York in the Federal Parliament from 1896 until 1900. Only a few of the active politicians of the day who supported Sir George in his campaign are still living. The number includes John Black, of this city, who stumped the county for Sir George and worked for him at the polls. The present Judge Slipp also gave him a helping hand and John A. Campbell, ex-M. L. A., of Kingsclear, now in his 94th year, worked for him at the Kingsclear poll. The returning officer was the late Sheriff Sterling.

Sir George's opponent was the late E. H. Allen, who was defeated by a majority of 1750. Mr. Allen's active supporters included the late Hon. F. P. Thompson, who afterwards became a senator and the late George F. Gregory, who was afterwards appointed to the bench.

The election of 1896 saw the return of the Liberals to power after eighteen years in opposition. New Brunswick was the only province of Canada which gave the Conservatives a majority in that election.

WAR HORRIBLE SAYS SIR GEORGE IN INTERVIEW

"War is horrible and to avoid it is the intention of civilization as a whole," said Sir George E. Foster when questioned by a Mail reporter this morning as to the effects of the anti-war literature flooding the market today. The famous New Brunswick man, often called "the grand old man of Canadian public life," said that there is a tendency through these books to view the war from biased angles and that the narrow outlook and leanings of each particular writer, gave a wide general idea as to the real truths of the matter. Seldom did any of these authors ever get the entire truth in his contribution to the post war literature.

"War is really the fundamental cause of the general depression now existent," was the opinion of the former member of the Dominion Senate. "It is due to the war that there has been such an incalculable destruction of economical sources," Sir George said. The age of machinery is also a factor in the present state of unemployment and gloominess.

On Hunting Trip

A. F. Graff, head of the A. F. Graff Co., Inc., of New York arrived here at noon today on his annual hunting trip and is a guest at the Waverley. He will leave by the C. N.R. this evening for Doaktown to join his guide, James Duncan and proceed to Myshraal Lake, where he will spend several weeks' hunting deer and bear. Mr. Graff has been coming to New Brunswick on hunting trips for sixteen years and has many friends in the province, who are always glad to see.

TWO HUNTING FATALITIES IN NOVA SCOTIA

Halifax, N. S. Oct. 16—Two hunting fatalities marked the opening of the N. S. hunting season today.

Cyril W. Hoterman, 21, was found dead in his car on the Preston Road, about 15 miles from the city. The belief is that his gun discharged as he was about to get out of the machine.

Elmer Hatt, 24-year-old youth, of Port Shoreham, 10 miles from Guysboro, was instantly killed, when the rifle he dropped, to make use of a shot gun, was discharged, sending a bullet through his head.

MacTier Cup Play

The University of New Brunswick will meet the Fredericton City rugby fifteen on Tuesday, October 21, in the first of the MacTier Cup playoffs, it was officially announced by officials here yesterday. A wire was received from R. H. Gunn, of Montreal, one of the Cup officials, that the two local teams play off next week. The winner of this match will meet Caledonia, the fast Cape Breton outfit, which put up such a fight here last year and who now are holders of the coveted trophy. The Maritime province winner will meet the Quebec-Ontario finalist for the championship of eastern Canada. The game here next week will attract thousands at the field, it is expected.

Left On Trip

The Yellow and Black Football squad left this morning on its annual football trip to Saint John and Rothesay. The team will play both teams as part of its schedule, and if they succeed in winning both games, will have virtually sewed up claim to the Interscholastic title. The Rothesay team is reported the strongest in its history, and pre-game opinions are that the local squad will have a tough time, with a squad which is much heavier and almost as fast. Captain George Johnston is in charge of the local high school team.
