A GOVERNMENT VICTORY

The provincial by-election in Halifax yesterday resulted in an overwhelming victory for Hon. G. H. Murphy, member of the Rhodes government without portfolio over Robert E. Finn, the Liberal candidate. Hon. Mr. Murphy's majority, when all the returns are in will likely be in excess of 5,500. The Liberals of the County appear to have made two mistakes, one in contesting the election, in view of the overwhelming verdict lately rendered by the people in favor of government control and secondly in selecting as their standard bearer a played out politician, who when he last appealed to the people went down to defeat by eight thousand majority. In October last the people of the constituency declared for government control by a majority of seventeen thousand. Having done this it is but natural that they should want the Nova Scotia Temperance Act wiped off the statute books at the earliest possible moment. The defeat of Hon. Mr. Murphy would have seriously embarrassed the government and would have meant delay in enacting a government control bill and the people were not in a mood to take any chances on a matter of that kind. In the general election of 1928, the government elected three of its five candidates in Halifax by narrow majorities, so it is quite evident that its position in the constituency has been strengthened since then. The parties now stand, government 23, opposition 20, a majority for the administration of two, exclusive of the speaker. The government carried on last session with this slim majority and if the party whips maintain eternal vigilance it can probably do so again. Yesterday's election was hotly contested from the start and Federal politics were introduced by speakers on the Liberal side. The claim was made that the Liberal government at Ottawa had done much for Halifax while its interests had been neglected by the Rhodes administration. This canvass, however, failed to secure votes for the Liberal candidate and it is votes that count. The result of the by-election will greatly add to the prestige of Premier Rhodas and his administration.

His Majesty King George is surely a superman. A short year ago found him in the valley of the shadow of death, with an anxious world watching eagerly for the latest word from his bedside. Yesterday he stood up before a microphone in the Royal Gallery of the House of Lords and delivered an address which was broadcast to the very ends of the earth, and was eagerly listened to by millions of people. His unseen audience included His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales who listened in from Government House at Capetown South Africa. King George enjoys a measure of world wide popularity not equalled by any other sovereign.

The lesson which the great talking picture, Noah's Ark, now running at the Gaiety Theatre here, seeks to teach is that people still worship the golden calf and that human nature is practically the same as was the case at the time of the great flood. In some respects this is true, but there are exceptions. For instance today should a great benefactor of mankind such as Noah, take a notion to go on a spree it is scarcely likely that the incident would be recorded in such a manner as to be read by the present and future generations. The newspapers would certainly make no mention of it.

There is a lot of toughness in the fibre of the human. British babies are two pounds heavier on the average than they were 10 years ago. They are reported healthier. Fewer die at birth. Despite war, hard times and poverty, and all the things from which England has suffered and is suffering, the human being isn't whipped.

"Vote Finn and Win" was the slogan of the opposition in the Halifax by-election. Those who voted Finn, didn't win, so it is apparent the game was too thin.

YOU CAN REST ASSURED

He brushed his teeth twice a day, was examined by his doctor and dentist twice a year, wore his rubbers when it rained. He slept with his window open at least eight hours every night. He stuck to a diet with plenty of fresh vegetables. He relinquished his tonsils and traded in several worn out glands. He did his daily dozen daily, besides taking plenty of outdoor exercise. He was all set to live to be a hundred.

The funeral will be held next Wednesday. He is survived by 18 specialists, four health institutes, and numerous manufacturers of health foods and antiseptics.

He had forgotten about automobiles at street crossings.
