CONSERVATIVE CHIEFTAIN PRESENTED WITH A LOVING CUP BY HIS SUPPORTERS

Ottawa, May 27—With members and Senators thronged in the party caucus room of the House of Commons, Conservatives this afternoon presented their leader, Hon. R. B. Bennett, with a huge loving cup. Taken entirely by surprise and visibly moved, as the two oldest of his supporters in point of years, R. S. White and W. A. Black, made the presentation, the Opposition chieftain spoke feelingly in expressing his thanks.

The stage was well set for the re-

HON. R. B. BENNETT, M. P.
Leader of the Conservative Party

cognition of Mr. Bennett by his followers for leadership since his selection at the 1827 Winnipeg Convention to guide the destinies of the Conservative Party. Called into the caucus room before the Commons started its afternoon sitting to present a silver tray to one of his supporters—C. H. Dickie, Nanaimo—Mr. Bennett made an address of congratulation on the occasion of the marriage of Mr. Dickie. Hardly had the member briefly replied, when Mr. White advanced to the front benches of the caucus room, and amid resounding cheers the presentation was made.

Mr. White's Address

"Privileges and pleasure as well as pains and penalties accompany age," Mr. White addressed the leader, "and of the former I recall none greater than is given me by the honor of voicing feeble though my words be, the feelings to you of your supporters in the House of Commons. It had been my lot to have sat in Parliament with every Prime Minister and every leader of the opposition since Confederation save only one, Sir Robert Borden. I have seen these men in the flesh, have listened to their voices, have known their walk and conversation, and it is with sincerity and conviction I say no one of the distinguished leaders of the past surpasses him who is about to lead up into battle.

"We are closing a parliamentary session in which you, Mr. Bennett, have revealed to the country in abundant measure the great qualities with which you are endowed, your profound knowledge of public questions, your skill and readiness in debate and your geniality and your ardent love of Canada."

Resembles Instinct

"Lord Brougham, no mean critic said of Stanley, the 'Rupert of debate,' that his knowledge of the science of parliamentary attack resembled an instinct. It may, we believe, be said of you that your knowledge of the science both of parliamentary attack and defence resembles an instance of which you have given many examples during the session. We feel, Mr. Bennett, that we happy band of brothers should not separate without an expression of our abiding loyalty to you, that as we go each to his tent to don his armor for the fray, you may believe there will be no falling nor shadow of turning back on the part of your followers.

"During these last three strenuous months of parliamentary trust and parry, you have set us an example of industry and unwearied effort in our cause, of sacrifice and unselfishness which, we would have you believe, have deepened our devotion to you and inspired a confidence amounting to conviction that to you the people of Canada will a few short weeks hence entrust the management of public affairs, with faith in your integrity, reliance on your political honesty and consistency and assurance of your zeal for the welfare of Canada and its people.

"Free from the reproach of being actuated by self-interest, recognized as one who serves not as one who seeks, courageous in the expression as in the conception of principles and policy calculated to benefit all classes of the people, hewing to the line, let the chips fall where they may, you have in unqualified measure, won the admiration, the affection, the loyalty of your colleagues."

The Conservative party had made a wonderful selection in choosing Mr. Bennett as the Dominion leader, Mr. Black declared, amid renewed applause. Mr. Bennett, he proceeded, had the capacity to perform three and sometimes four tasks at the same time.

Hon. Mr. Bennett

Mr. Bennett was prevented from speaking for some minutes and his supporters joined in the series of cheers. He confessed, Mr. Bennett said as soon as he could be heard, that the secrecy of the preparation for the presentation had left him without the least idea that he was to be the recipient today of a token of esteem from his fellow members. To them, The Conservative leader declared he had only words of gratitude for the loyalty they had shown him on all occasions.

Apart from the intrinsic value of the gift, Mr. Bennett said he would always remember the ties of sentiment which accompanied the loving cup. There were ties of sentiment, valued more than anything else in the world, he went on, as he recalled a gift from an old lady. It was not the gift from this elderly lady which he appreciated, but it had represented a "sentiment" for some little assistance he had been able to render.

It was his ambition to become leader of the Conservative party, Mr. Bennett remarked, but when accumulated circumstances had made it necessary for him to accept the task he had recalled what Canada had done for him.

ren and several others. The Reo Speed Wagon, containing $30,000 worth of equipment, arrived this afternoon from Ithaca, N. Y., and will be rushed to the sporting camps of Mr. Russell. The party expected to be on the waters of the Miramichi for about a week. The equipment for recording the sound films, is made up of a RCA Photophone System of Recording, one of the best known.

Mr. Eaton and his crew of picture men, were in the Dominion last year and secured pictures of trout fishing in the province of Ontario. These sport films were shown in about 4,000 theatres in the United States and Canada, as well as in Great Britain and Australia.

In conversation with a Mail representative at noon today, the Sportlight director said that he and his crew had just completed taking pictures of the Cornell University regatta at Ithaca, N. Y., and that the weather was similar to what it has been here for the past several days rainy and dull. Fine weather is necessary, this authority said, if the best results are to be obtained.

Plans are being formulated by the corporation to shoot scenes of "dude" ranch activities in Wyoming later in the summer.

This week's Royal Gazette contains a notice of the resignation of Wendell P. Jones as commissioner for the promotion of uniformity of legislation in Canada.

ARGENTINE IS SORRY FOR THE U. S. WOMEN

New York, May 28—Senora Victoria Ocampo of Argentina, author, who is visiting us, believes she has been misinformed. Somebody told her that women of this country were largely interested in clothe. "I feel sorry for them," she remarked. "There must be something lacking in the men. Any woman would rather have the man she loves than all the gowns that Paris can give."
