EX-PREMIER KING AND HON.

H. H. STEVENS DISCUSS THE TARIFF CHANGES AT OTTAWA

Ottawa, Sept. 17—Vigorous condemnation of the Government's proposals, launched by Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Leader of the Opposition, and a spirited defence of them by Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, led off the tariff debate in the House of Commons today.

Mr. King at the conclusion of his speech, moved an amendment expressing regret that the Government proposed to increase the customs taxation in an emergency session. The increases would not end unemployment but would increase the cost of living and the cost of production. The amendment is in effect a want of confidence motion.

"To day under the cloak of an emergency session," declared Mr. King, "Canada is being asked to alter its tariff to a degree more extensive than has been the case at any other time since the tariff was placed on the statutes of this Parliament, and this is being done under the threat that Canada will not be represented at the Imperial Conference by the Prime Minister and his colleagues unless these resolutions are adopted within the period that remains between now and Monday of next week. I say, Mr. Speaker, that a proceeding of that kind is in the nature of coercion, coercion of the most extreme kind."

Sees Ill Effects

Unemployment would not be relieved but aggravated by the higher tariffs, Mr. King contended. The price of the goods the farmers had to sell would not be increased but the cost of living would and this would tend to make people leave the farms and go to the cities.

The Liberal Leader had not done credit to the House when he introduced the old practice of putting industry against agriculture, Mr. Stevens declared. The duty of Parliament was to try to hold the balance reasonably fair. Measures were being taken in this tariff to assist both industry and agriculture.

Less than half an hour after he entered his ministerial office, Mr. Stevens said steps were taken to assist and extend the marketing of Canadian grain. "We are in the midst of a campaign in every part of the world to increase and broaden the market for our grain."

Consumer Protected

The government stood behind its pledge to protect the consumer from exploitation, "we put it in the statute," said Mr. Stevens. "We say we will enforce it and if we do not enforce it we invite the just condemnation of the people of Canada."

The Minister of Trade and Commerce took strong exception to the attitude adopted by the Liberals in connection with the efforts of the Government to deal with the distress conditions in Canada. He termed the amendment a subterfuge to "instill discord among the people and make them think something was wrong." The Opposition should not quibble but lend every possible aid to the Government in this time of stress and strain.

J. L. Ralston

J. L. Ralston, former Minister of National Defence, criticized the Government for not appointing a Tariff Board. The Nova Scotia fishermen would obtain no benefits from the tariff increases but would have to pay more for the goods they had to buy. He urged the Government to resume negotiations for lowering the duty on fish going into the United States.

The debate was continued by E. J. Young (Liberal, Weyburn); A. A. Heaps (Labor, Winnipeg North); Samuel Gobeil (Cons., Compton); Michael Luchkovich (U. F. A., Vegreville); and Thomas McMillan (Lib., Huron South). Mr. McMillan will resume the debate tomorrow.

PERFECT WEATHER FOR EXHIBITION SPEED DAY

The poultry show in the Industrial Building boasts 1,000 entries this year and has managed not to sacrifice quality to quantity. In addition to the birds, silver foxes, mink and rabbits are being exhibited in the same department under the super- with no occurrence of rowdiness or von.

To date perfect order has been maintained by the local police force with no occurrence of rowdiness or fake gambling.

Saturday, as well as being children's Day will be Farmers' Day and a complete livestock parade will pass the grandstand.

PERSONAL MENTION

George P. Oils, of Woodstock is here, attending the exhibition.

Olaf Thompson and wife of Moncton are here for the exhibition.

Mrs. George Burpee, and daughter, Miss Laura Burpee, of Centreville, are here attending the exhibition.

James W. Power, of the Halifax Herald staff and a party of friends who have been attending the exhibition, will leave for home this evening.

John G. Boyd, of Milltown, a former locomotive engineer on the C. N. R., is here attending the exhibition. Ex-Coun. Thomas Wetmore, of North Lake, a glad hand artist for American visitors to his section is a visitor to the city today.

The Real Goods

Ex-Ald. D. W. Oils yesterday had a display at the Fredericton Exhibition a jar of home made pickles, samples of which he distributed to his friends. All unhesitatingly pronounced them the equal of the best imported article. They were made from miniature cucumbers grown in his own garden and properly seasoned.

The old world doesn't seem to be old enough to know better.

SAYS STRONG CHEESE PUT HIM OVER

Hamilton, Ont., Sept. 18—A plea that strong cheese, not liquor, made him ill, failed to save J. J. Burnett of Buffalo jail when he was charged in police court with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. Magistrate Vance augmented the seven-day jail sentence with a suggestion that the next time Burnett comes to Canada he try a different brand of cheese.

THE DUMPING MEASURE PASSES PARLIAMENT

Ottawa, Sept. 17—The bill to amend Custom's Act in respect to dumping, received third reading in the Commons today after a debate which spread over Monday and Tuesday. It went to the Senate.

The bill extends penalties to imported manufactured goods as well as imported natural products dumped into Canada and makes the wholesaler and jobbers' prices in the country of origin the basis for deciding whether they are fair instead of manufacturers' prices.

The bill met with a great deal of opposition on the ground that it gave the Minister of National Revenue wide powers in regard to tariff impositions. Final protests were made today by J. S. Woodworth (Labor, Winnipeg, North Centre), E. J. Young (Lib., Weyburn), and John Vallance (Lib., North Battleford).

MARITIMES IN FAVOR WITH BIG GAME HUNTERS

Moncton, Sept. 18—According to information reaching headquarters of the Canadian National Railways here from guides and outfitters the hunting season in the province of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia opens with a number of prominent sportsmen booked to hunt moose and deer. Moose and deer are plentiful in both provinces and it is the expectation that many will fall to the rifle of the hunter this season—through the establishment of Game refuge's in both Provinces and efficient legislation. The supply of wild game is assured and the Maritime provinces are increasing in favor with hunters from year to year. Wild fowl shooting is also attracting a large number of sportsmen this year and some very good bags are anticipated. New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island are all noted for their wild fowl shooting.
