FASHION WHISPERS A WORD OR TWO

The shoulders boutonniere is more often composed of a cluster of small flowers.

An applique design, a black flower pot, with a gardenia the loose petals of which are pique is another conceit noted on a imported blouse.

Lingerie collar and cuff sets are numerous and run the gamut from pique to pleated lace and chiffon.

Rufflings and ruchings are finding many purchasers these days.

Sixteen buttons length pastel gloves are the approved choice for evening wear.

STRAIGHT FROM PARIS COMES NUN'S COLLAR

There's a tricky new collar called the "novicete," which really isn't a collar at all, but a capelette. It fits close about the throat much after the fashion of a nun's habit and falls softly about the shoulders, buttoning down the front with eight buttons of self-material. It's newly arrived from Paris and as yet is available only in pastel green, which adds the final feminine touch to a plain lightweight wool or crepe frock in solid colors.

Pimples On Face Thought Everyone Was Looking At Her

Miss F. Foster, Nanaimo, B.C., writes:—"I used to suffer, something awful, with pimples on my face, and never felt as if I wanted to go out as I thought everyone was looking at me. 'A friend advised me to use so I got a bottle and it worked wonders, and after using the second one to look at my face one would never think I ever had a pimple."
