To keep regular, full of pep, in good spirits, these vegetable pills will prove a boon. Sold by druggists.

N. B. FEDERATION OF LABOR IN CONVENTION AT MONCTON; AN INTERESTING PROGRAM

Moncton, N. B., Jan. 14—With 42 delegates in attendance, the New Brunswick Federation of Labor opened their three day convention in the Labor Temple here today. This morning Mayor C. H. Blakney officially welcomed the visiting representatives on behalf of the City of Moncton, and F. A. MacNevin, president of the Amalgamated Central Labor Union, extended a welcome on behalf of the Union. The first business session was held this afternoon, when the various committees were appointed, the reports of the President, Executive and Secretary-Treasurer were read.

Mayor Blakney, in welcoming the delegates, extended to them the freedom of the city. He commended the Federation on their stand regarding social legislation and said: "It is particularly noteworthy that Labor should be considering old age pensions, mothers' allowances and wage adjustments."

He pointed out that the obtaining of legislation in these matters was slow because social legislation failed to keep pace with the advance of science.

"It is a great problem and, as I understand it, Labor is endeavoring to solve it. It is with organizations actuated with such motives that the world must look to largely for social progress" declared His Worship. "You are on the right track, you have met with reverses in seeking legislation but do not be discouraged for all the time there is a respective attitude being built up towards your ideal."

In concluding, Mayor Blakney said that he was pleased to be able to welcome the Federation on behalf of the city for they were holding the first convention of the year.

Benefits Received

F. A. MacNevin said that evidence of the benefits accrued from legislation obtained by Labor was not lacking. "It is my desire that legislation dealing with old age pensions be passed at the forthcoming session of the Legislature. In promoting humanitarian legislation you are doing something which all classes of Canadians will come to appreciate," he continued.

Eugene R. Steeves, president of the Federation, said that this was the first time since his election, as head of the Federation that he had the opportunity of meeting the various representatives. The executive during the year had dealt with many matters and although they had not been successful in all there was evidence of success along many lines. A Commission had been appointed to deal with old age pensions and Labor was well represented on the Commission. He urged the delegates to realize fully the responsibility placed on their shoulders as delegates and expressed the wish that the convention would be one of the most successful ever held.

Reports Heard

Following President Steeves' remarks the convention adjourned until 2 o'clock when the President read his annual report and the report of the Executive was presented by George R. Melvin, who, as secretary treasurer of the Federation, also read his report. The three reports were adopted. Thirteen resolutions, which had been forwarded to the secretary, were then presented and turned over to the Resolutions Committee.

Resolutions Considered

Briefly summarized the resolutions to be considered are as follows:

Curtailment of home study by instruction in the more difficult studies during public school hours by public school teachers.

Amendment of the Coroners' Act, providing for an inquest into every industrial fatality.

Advocating union organization in affiliation with the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada and the American Federation of Labor and expressing concern at the attitude of the All-Canadian Labor Congress "so-called," the I. W. W., O. B. U. and other Communist propaganda through these organizations.

Commending the attitude of the Provincial Government in the elimination of level crossings and urging a continuation of the program of road work for the elimination of level crossings and dangerous curves.

First Aid

Urging provision by the Federal and Provincial Governments of first aid facilities and safety codes in connection with all work under their control.

Legislation providing for mothers' allowances and minimum wage regulations for women in New Brunswick, as outlined in the report of the Commission headed by Dr. W. C. Kierstead of the University of New Brunswick, as well as provision for old age pensions.

Legislation providing for the inspection of all electrical work and the examining and licensing of all persons making electrical installations and repairs.

Examination and licensing of all engineers in charge of high and low pressure steam boilers and commercial engines powered by oil, steam, electricity or any other agent.

Appointment of a journeyman plumber, as required by the act, as a member of the Plumbers' Examining Board.

"Talkie" Regulations

Amendment of the Theatres and Cinematographs Act to cover recent advances in the industry in connection with the projection of "talking" pictures.

Elimination of the amusement tax on theatre tickets of the value of 50 cents or under.

Printing of Provincial Government contracts by union shops within the province.

Appreciation of the services rendered by the Trades and Labor Congress Journal.

MAKES BRILLIANT CURLING SHOT DROPS DEAD

Edmonton, Jan. 16—Rev. Dr. John M. Millar, age 64, joint principal of St. Steven's Theological College, dropped dead at the Granite Curling Club while playing the mixed bonspiel Monday night. He had just thrown his last rock on the eighth end, making a brilliant shot, when he fell to the ice and succumbed within a minute.

Death was stated to be due to a stroke of apoplexy.

GREEN LANTERN ADDITION BEGUN

Halifax, Jan. 15—Construction has begun on a three-storey addition to the Green Lantern building, which will be built in the vacant lot at the rear of the present building. The addition will cost between $25,000 and $30,000.

The new building will be occupied by D. A. R. offices and by D'Alaird, Limited, and it is expected to be completed in April.

The Standard Construction Company has been awarded the contract.

THOSE WANNA SONGS JUST BURN HIM UP

(New York Sun)

"Don't you get fed up with that music going on all day?" inquired a customer of a news vender whose stand is just across the pavement from a shop which advertises its gramophone records by running them all day long.

The news vender lit up like the proverbial Christmas tree at the unexpectedly sympathetic question and proceeded to get a long-felt grievance off his chest.

"Fed up? I'll tell the world," he replied. "Jazz from morning till night!" He paused to imitate the whine and bray and stutter of jazz and continued: "It's those 'Wanna' songs that I've got to hate most, wanna go back to Alabam', wanna see that man o'mine! I know what I wanna! Wanna get a rest from canned music!"

Directors Met

Directors of the Fredericton Exhibition, Ltd. met last evening in the secretary's office in the Phoenix Square. The meeting was mostly routine work. The president, J. A. Cain occupied the chair. The matter of amusements for the fall exhibition here was gone into an decided upon.
