ROLL OF HONOR

Several thousand officers and employees of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company enlisted for active military duty with the Canadian Expeditionary Forces, and the majority of them are now in Europe, bravely battling for Canada and the Empire. As particulars of Army Reservists are not available, these lists of those who have given up their lives for their country or been wounded in action are necessarily incomplete, and do not therefore indicate fully the extent to which the Company's officers and employees have participated in the great struggle.

BLOWN OUT AND BURIED TWICE IN THIRTY MINUTES

(Montreal Mail.)

Some idea of the wonderful spirit of the Canadians at the front and the splendid feeling of companionship which exists between them is revealed by the following interesting letter which Mrs. Burt, of Willibrod avenue, Verdun (Montreal), received from her son Corporal George Charles Burt, of one of the latest Montreal battalions to go to France.

"Just a line to say that I came out of the engagement all right and I am now in No. 3 Canadian Stationary Hospital, Boulogne, with shell shock. To tell the truth, I did not ever expect to get out alive, but I thank God I got here safe and I don't want to see the same thing again in my life.

"The trenches and fields were filled with dead and dying. I think the 1st Battalion lost the most in the—th brigade to which we belong."

Discussing the battle, Corporal Burt said, "We made for the open and managed to get into an old trench for shelter. We were in that for a while, two platoons of us, and then the Germans started to give it to us. Then the boys had to get out and go overland. We thought it would be murder to send the men out that way, but the good Lord brought them over all right.

"Well, I was the last to leave, and just as I was going a company of the—nd came along and told me that one of our boys was wounded, so I had to go down and fetch him through.

"I was all in myself, after being blown out of the trench and buried twice within half an hour. I couldn't leave him there to die without aid, so between us we got him out of the trench and I got him on my back and started for the dressing station.

"I got there and then we had to go another two miles with him to the next dressing station.

"Of course I had to get a fellow to help me. When I got there I could go no further. I was all in and they sent me down here as suffering from shell shock. I expect to be all right in a few days. Believe me, any man that came out of that fight was lucky."

WOUNDED CANADIANS BAYONETED BY FOE

Ottawa, June 19.—In a letter received today by Major General Sir Sam Hughes from Surgeon General Guy Carlton Jones, the latter pays tribute to the heroic death in action of two valued officers of the Medical Corps during the fighting near Ypres.

In the course of the letter General Jones gives a further ghastly example of German frightfulness.

Wounded and helpless Canadian soldiers and the men of the medical corps who were attending them at one of the regimental aid posts, were bayoneted and murdered in the most brutal manner by the Germans, who took the first line of trenches, he says. The Surgeon General refers to this in recording the death of Captain W. R. Haight, of British Columbia, medical officer of the First Mounted Rifles.

Capt. Haight was reported missing after the first day's fighting. When the lost ground was recovered by the Canadians the spot at which the regimental aid post was established was found filled with the bodies of the men whom Capt. Haight had been attending. He himself with his assistants and the wounded men had been brutally bayoneted.

A Splendid Officer Falls.

General Jones, in referring to the death of Lieut. Col. Turner, of Moosomin, Officer Commanding the Tenth Field Ambulance, says that he was wounded by a shell on the morning of June 2nd. He was taken to the dressing station at Ypres. Col. Turner felt from the first there was no hope for him and asked to be left at the dressing station.

In the faint hope of saving his life, however, he was removed to the casualty clearing station and operated on, but he died the following day.

General Jones pays tribute to him as "a magnificent officer of exceptional ability."

THE GERMAN WAY OF DOING THINGS

Amsterdam, via London, June 23.—The German court-martial at Namur, Belgium, has sentenced the Belgian public prosecutor, Albert Capelle Henry, to a fine of 5,000 marks and 200 days imprisonment for having imprisoned a German subject, which is contrary to the orders of the German authorities.

TRENCH FIGHTING WITH BOMBS

(July Scriber.)

After a long time, as it was a long way, crouching and running and crawling, I got to where I could see our men throwing bombs into the Germans.

You could hear nothing for the noise for it seemed as if every German rifle, maxim and big gun was turned on that spot; their shrapnel was going overhead and their shells going all about. I took a few shots at the devils with my rifle, by way of resting and getting my breath, and then I got hold of a box of bombs and started to crawl and drag it up there. The box was heavy and to my delight another young chap, a Strathcona, came and helped me. We dragged and humped it along, over bums and across shell holes and over our dead, until we got to the extreme point where the Germans were retreating up their trench and being bombed by our men unmercifully.

There I found my own sergeant of our bomb throwing squad, to my great relief.

I had never thrown a live bomb in my life, but soon found out, as it is quite a simple affair and they were lovely bombs for working. You could see a clump of German bayonets huddled like sheep, over their parapet top, and you chucked a bomb into it and prayed for the explosion. When it came the bayonets wavered and wobbled and then disappeared. If the bomb did not explode you waited and backed up, because those plucky Germans lighted it again and threw it back. And so on, and so on. I know I got three three bombs into them fairly and squarely, and heard them explode and saw the bayonets flop down.

We finally got a place at a turn in the trench, an angle, and our own men of another battalion were firing directly across at us, excitedly of course, and they killed about twelve of our men there, two of them being of my squad and within a few feet of me, and two more were wounded. I was by this time about played out and the bombs were all exhausted, so we sat down to wait for more, and when they came I could not get up, for I had cramp in both legs and had to be rubbed and rubbed. That must have been about 8 p.m. But I could drag around, so I dressed two wounded men and helped to fill sand bags and pass them along until 10 p.m., I should judge.

SAYS GERMAN BLOCKADE IS RATHER SHAKY

London, June 23.—The Daily Mail, commenting on an announcement appearing in German papers that the municipality of Frankfurt is supplying the population with American lard, calls again for a strict blockade to replace "the leaky blockade applied by diplomatic agreements with neutral syndicates."

If the blockade were effective, adds the Mail, there could not be a single ounce of American lard in Germany.

FRENCH CHAMBER HAS SELECT SESSION

Paris, June 23.—The French government has come safely out of the ordeal of a secret session. The chamber of deputies, at a public sitting last night, gave the government a vote of confidence by 440 to 97.

The secret proceedings, which extended over seven sittings, were welcomed both by the Government, which was enabled to explain its actions freely, and by its critics, who by reason of the exigencies of the national defence, had been unable to give particulars to support their complaints in a public session.

GinPills FOR THE KIDNEYS

Mr. Thos. G. O'Connor, Halifax, N.S., says: "I am writing this for the public telling of the remarkable cure I received from your great remedy Gin Pills. When I started taking them I was what you might call 'all in.' I could not bend for any length of time, nor could I lay on my side for a short time without becoming very tired. I had all the symptoms of Kidney Trouble and thought I would not be able to stay at work.

With the aid of Gin Pills I entirely overcame my trouble and I am now feeling fine. I strongly urge any one suffering from their kidneys to take Gin Pills and they will soon feel as if they never had any trouble."

These Symptoms Mean Danger
If you have pains in the back, constant headaches, incontinence or suppression of urine, burning pain, puffiness under the eyes; suspect stone in the bladder, suffer from rheumatism, swelling of the wrists or ankles, it is time you took Mr. O'Connor's advice—take Gin Pills.

If your dealer does not handle Gin Pills, do not take a substitute, but send your order direct to us at the regular price—50c. a box, or 6 boxes for $2.50. Money cheerfully refunded if Gin Pills do not carry out all our claims.

A sample box free if you write to us, mentioning this paper.
