

GREAT POLITICAL RALLY AT HARTLAND LAST NIGHT

Great Ovation to Mr. F. B. Carvell, M. P.—
Points Out That it is the Duty of Governor Wood to Dissolve the Legislature
—Hearty Vote of Thanks Tendered the Fighting Member for Carleton.

Hartland, June 23.—The meeting of the good government party, held this evening, was without doubt the largest and most enthusiastic political gathering held here in many years. The large hall was packed and many were unable to get in. A very large number of Conservatives were present and the attentive hearing accorded the speakers indicated the deep impression made. Previous to the opening the Hartland band played a splendid programme of stirring airs.

Mr. Samuel Miller was an excellent chairman and in a few introductory remarks said this was an opportune time for a meeting of this nature, following such a signal victory in Nova Scotia. The handwriting was on the Canadian sky and Liberalism was in the ascendency.

Liberal Party in the Ascendency.

C. L. Smith, in a brief speech, referred to his many pleasant visits to Hartland. He was glad to be a Liberal, not in a small party sense, but as a party that today occupied such a proud position.

Andrew McCain, in referring to Mr. Carvell, said he felt that he could not be adequately rewarded for the services he had rendered the country. He believed in better and cleaner politics and the conditions were such that the opposition will put up a fight in this county whenever an election is called. "Some future time," said Mr. McCain, "I will perhaps discuss questions of a political nature."

Mr. Carvell was received with prolonged applause on rising to speak. He gave a lucid account of the investigations both in New Brunswick and Ottawa and again challenged the local government to bring on the by-elections.

Challenge to B. F. Smith.

"If," said Mr. Carvell, "Mr. Smith wants to accept the Public Works portfolio, let him do so and we will give him the liveliest opposition he was ever up against. It is the duty of Lieut. Governor Wood to dissolve his House of Assembly. He has the constitutional power to do so and the people are looking to him to act. Under the deplorable conditions now existing the election should be brought on and it cannot be done too soon to suit the Liberal party, and hundreds of honest Conservatives. The fact of Mr. Mahoney's occupying the position of Minister of Public Works is one of the most remarkable incidents that ever happened in the British Empire. The government simply takes the position that it is no business of the public."

Mr. Carvell went fully into the shell investigation along the same lines as in his Centreville speech last night, and stated that investigations and exposures would still go on. "The people," said the speaker, "are thinking along bigger, broader and holier lines than ever before."

At the conclusion T. G. A. Carr moved that the thanks of the meeting be tendered Mr. Carvell for his instructive and able address and also for his efforts to give the country honest and clean government.

WOMEN WILL MOURN JEAN WEBSTER'S DEATH

(Boston Record.)
Every woman will mourn (or ought to mourn) the death of Jean Webster, who wrote "Daddy Long-Legs" and many other delightful things. And we believe that more men than would admit it have found her writings delightful—and useful.

Jean Webster breathed the loveliness of life. It is the fashion to decry modern fiction. It is customary to say that all the reading public will accept is purient trash, triangles and meretricious problems. It is a false charge. The public will take fine things, finely offered. The public obeys its sense, its instincts. It will follow good leadership, if it is able leadership. It will read good books if they are readable books.

Jean Webster did not try to enter the field of serious dissection. The human heart was to her just a heart. It was not a psychological specimen. She did not see life as a clinic. Her pen was not a scalpel. She wrote to entertain, and she succeeded. But that was not all. We suggested in the first paragraph that her writings might be found useful. How useful? Why, by bringing us back to the really important things of life—among them the realization that life is beautiful, that this is a very fine world indeed, that humor is wholesome; that the world reflects us as we reflect it, that it makes us better as we make it better; that humanity is worth knowing, that there is more joy than sorrow, more happiness than pain, more hope than despair in this world, and that each and everyone of us is a part of it, with full rights to its traditions and aspirations.

An artist paints a sunset and we find it lovely. He does not need to tell us, "This is a beautiful sunset." Jean Webster added to the joyousness of life; she painted the world's delicately fine colors.

We need the prophets of happiness to keep us true—to show us the great fact that the world is good.

The letter p, like a selfish friend, is first in pity and last in help.

Each man is a book if you only know how to read him—and some books are bound in calf.

Philosophy teaches us to take things as they come—but the trouble is that they frequently fail to come.

TOO LITTLE BLOOD MEANS MUCH MISERY

That is What Makes People Pale, Weak and Languid

The one source of most of the misery that effects men and women and growing children is poverty of the blood. If you consult a doctor he says you are anaemic, which really means bloodless. That is what makes people drag along, always tired, never real hungry, often unable to digest their food, breathless after the slightest exertion and too often on the verge of complete breakdown.

More weak, anaemic people have been made strong, energetic and cheerful by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills than by any other means. These pills actually make new, rich blood which reaches every part of the body, strengthens the nerves and brings new health and strength. The following is proof of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to restore health. Mr. George Turner, New Haven, N.S., says: "No doubt due to constant hard work I got in a badly run down condition. It took very little exertion to tire me and my appetite was far from being good. Often I had headaches and when going up stairs, or after any slight exertion my heart would palpitate violently and I grew considerably alarmed about my condition. I decided to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and after using a few boxes I felt much better. I continued using the pills for some weeks longer and they completely cured me. I can strongly recommend this medicine to men who are weak or run down."

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WORLDLY WISDOM.

A fish in the basket is worth two in the angler's story.

Fools create opportunities that wise men take advantage of.

Nearly every unmarried woman you meet is in quest of a conquest.

It is far better to grin than to groan. A man who lacks faith in his ability never accomplishes anything.

FACTORY BUILDINGS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Pittsburg, Pa., June 23.—Explosions in the plant of the Liquid Carbonic Co. here today caused a fire which destroyed the factory buildings and extended to the plant of the British-American Chemical Co., which also was destroyed. John Palmer, a fireman, was buried under falling walls and seriously injured.

The loss is placed at $300,000.

The guest who is not hungry always gets the best of an argument at a banquet.

NO MEDICINE AS GOOD FOR LITTLE ONES

Once a mother has used Baby's Own Tablets for her little ones she will use nothing else. The first few doses make her realize there is nothing to equal them in making baby well and keeping him well. Concerning them Mrs. C. E. Stillwell, Winthrop, Sask., writes:—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets for the past ten years and have found them so good for my little ones that I always keep a box in the house." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

P. N. S. STUDENT WRITES OF THE BEAUTIFUL NASHWAAKSIS

(From the Normal Light.)

When we see a collection of the beautiful scenes of New Brunswick we express no surprise at finding views of Fredericton among them; for it is known throughout the Province that this is a pretty city. Although Nature has done her part in beautifying our city, man has been a great instrument in making it attractive.

Let us take, for instance, a scene in Wilmet Park, where would its beauty be if the fountain, the gravel walks and flower beds disappeared and the trimmed evergreen trees were neglected? Truly our most beautiful places are those that owe their attractiveness to Nature alone, and do not depend upon man for any care to keep them pretty.

Such a spot as this is found when we rest our eyes upon the beautiful Nashwaaksis Creek. The clear water of this stream flows into the "Rhine of America," opposite the upper portion of the city of Fredericton.

What makes it so beautiful? Here is the secret; on either side of the creek lie not "long fields of barley and of rye," but long rows of trees, tall, beautiful trees, whose branches hover over the shores of the stream as if listening to the ripple of the tiny waves.

Many kinds of trees are seen along the banks, mainly our broad maples and oaks, that remind us of the "mighty old oak tree" that we sing about in school—oaks that have stood there for years and watched the shrubbery grow up around them, covering their large massive trunks with green leaves. Besides our hardwood trees, a few of the evergreen trees are found here, keeping guard all winter, when the other trees have laid aside their bright colors of red, yellow, crimson and brown.

On hot summer days, how cool and refreshing it is to paddle beneath the shade of these trees away from the heat of the scorching sun. That a large number of people, old and young alike, have realized this, is evident from the numerous canoes and motor boats that are to be seen every summer along this creek.

Many young folks do not wait until summer is here before they revisit their favorite haunts, but as soon as the bright warm days of spring are here and the buds are doing their utmost to burst into bloom, they are observed sailing up the stream around its many winding curves, enjoying the beautiful scenery around them.

The best time of the whole year in which to see this lovely creek is in the autumn, when "with a crimson touch on the hardwood trees" Nature has adorned herself in her loveliest robe, lovelier than the bursting buds of spring, lovelier than the snowy white garb of winter, and even lovelier than the mass of bright green leaves in the summer.

A few words about the name of this stream might be of interest to us. Its name is one of the many which the Indians have left us. It seems that the Indians were very familiar with the Nashwaak river, which is about two miles below the Nashwaaksis stream, since they named our beautiful stream "the little Nashwaak" or the Nashwaaksis creek.

If there is anyone who enjoys the water, who has not seen this wonderful little stream, pray do so at the first opportunity, and then you will appreciate what I have been trying to say about the beauty, the natural beauty, of this little stream.

MAKING IT ALL RIGHT

Katherine and Margaret found themselves seated next to each other at a dinner party and immediately became confidential.

"Molly told me that you told her that secret I told you not to tell her," whispered Margaret.

"Oh, isn't she a mean thing," gasped Katherine. "Why I told her not to tell you!"

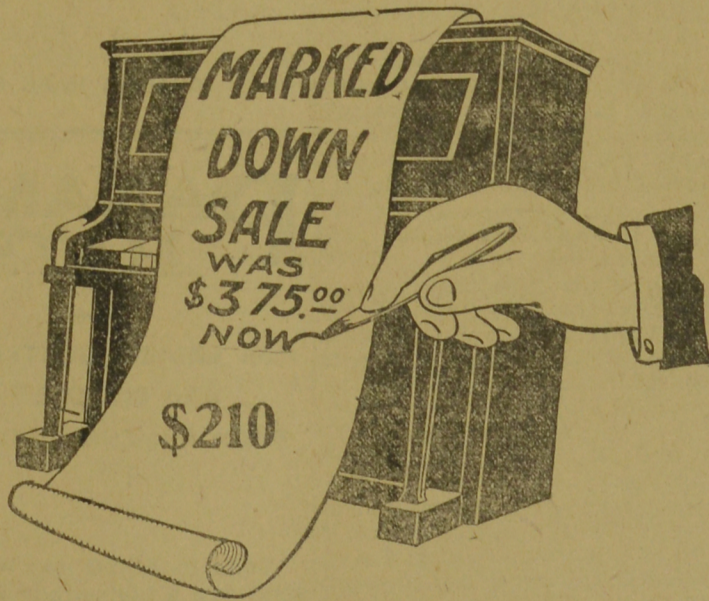

"Well," returned Margaret, "I told her I wouldn't tell you she told me—so don't tell her I did."
