HAD SALT RHEUM ON HANDS. Could Not Do Her Work.

Eczema or salt rheum is one of the most common of all skin diseases. It may centre itself on any part of the body, but there are certain places where it most usually begins, such as the bends of the elbows, the backs of the knees, the groove behind the ears, the scalp, on the palms of the hands, between the fingers, or on the soles of the feet.

It is, as a rule, not dangerous, but is very irritating and annoying to the sufferer on account of the terrible itching and burning sensation it causes.

It is impossible to eradicate this trouble from the system by external applications, as it is caused by the blood being in an impure state. What you need is a good blood cleansing medicine such as Burdock Blood Bitters. A medicine that will drive out all the foulness from the blood and make it pure and rich.

Mrs. Adelard Theriault, Theriault, N.B., writes: "Some time ago I was troubled with salt rheum on my hands, and it was so bad I could not do my work.
I tried several medicines, but they all failed to help me. One day a friend told me to try Burdock Blood Bitters, so I got a bottle, and before I had taken it my hands were better. I am not afraid to recommend B.B.B. to anyone."

B.B.B. has been on the market for the past forty years, and is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

bor's chickens awful sick when they dig them up and eat them."

The Unsuccessful Alumnus

Hammond thought contemptuously of his own aimless life. Ten years ago he had had dreams and ambitions. He had desired places such as these men held. They had won and he had failed, or, what was more shameful, he had not really tried. He had trampled upon the fair ideals of his youth. He had wealth, birth, health and a brilliant mind, and he had failed. He had been content to live with the play things of life, had been proud of the fact that he was a desirable drawing-room accessory. He looked again at his name card opposite, the subject of his toast. The words were galling, condemning.

"I had fixed up a bluff, a plea, he said bitterly, 'and I needed one.'

There was laughter and applause and the clinking of glasses. Hammond smiled at Brenner, who was speaking to him across the table.

"I beg your pardon?" he said.
"I say that was a bully toast!" cried Brenner, his face beaming with boyish enthusiasm.

"Great," agreed Hammond, glancing at his program.

The master of ceremonies rose again and began a lengthy and flattering introduction. Hammond started. The words seemed descriptive of himself. Those were the things people usually said about him. He leaned forward, his lips working nervously. There had been a change in the program. Some one had failed to appear and his toast was to compensate. Hammond clutched his chair and went pale. The introductory words of his prepared speech came to his mind but he put them away and sent his brain groping after new sentences. He studied the lines on Tim Murphy's face and the blood came throbbing back to his temples.
A rustle of expectancy seemed to follow the announcement of his name.
"The Unsuccessful Alumnus," said the chairman, smiling, "by one of the most successful."

When Hammond stood up and bowed at the close of the introduction, the table sang with applause. He leaned carelessly against his chair.
There was no trace of nervousness in his easy acknowledgement.
"The same old smile," whispered Tim Murphy tenderly.

Hammond never knew just what his first words were. He had put away the old speech and the new one was yet unformulated. He felt himself halting a moment "and feeling blindly for phrases. Then he was rambling reminiscences among past scenes. He recalled the glory of old contests, the terror of forensic battles, the football field with the old velts ripping up the air that was charged with youthful enthusiasm.
He saw the 'Varsity colors, glad, glorious streamers waving proudly and defiantly over struggling heros.
His sentences caught fire from the spirit of those memories.

His classmen were listening eagerly. He felt the thrill of their sympathetic attention. He looked into their eyes and decided that the thing was worth while. He had posed long enough. The greatest thing in the world seemed at that moment simply to be true. The brave, boyish standards that he had forsaken arose before him. He had been a coward, a cheat, a fraud. It was as if he had shirked on the football field with the whole team fighting toward the goal. But the old call had come back to him and he was being game.

The men about the table leaned eagerly toward the tense, erect figure of the speaker. Their eyes were misty and their hearts swelled with the warm love and fellowship that college men never forget. They had been jostled about in the world of business, of politics, and of finance.
Some of the beautiful standards that had been cherished ten years ago had at times seemed boyish and impractical. But as they listened to the ringing words of their classman, the old vows were repledged, the old faith was sworn again to.

It was unlike Hammond, this flinging down of reserve, but something finer than the old pride shone in his eyes. The careless indifference was gone and in its place were the buoyancy and determination of youth.
He spoke of his own past with bitterness and sorrow. He praised the honor and clear effort of his classmen and faced his future with the glowing courage of new resolve.
Then, lifting his glass, he said, with the old winsome smile:

"Gentlemen, here's to the Unsuccessful Alumnus! These are the last sad rites."

The men sprang to their feet, the glasses clinked and the applause rang tumultuously. Tim Murphy shook hands with the speaker and with every one else in his immediate neighborhood.

"What's the matter with Hammond?" cried a voice at the foot of the table, and Bobby Mathews stood on his chair, flourishing his napkin and leading the foolish old yell.

"He's all right!" thundered the rousing chorus, and Hammond felt a thrill that he had not known since the days when he came in first to the hurdles. He sank back in his chair and the dear old songs went on. He did not sing, but he listened with new interest. He was part of the crowd once more.

The lights shone over the flowers, the class colors and the bright banners. They were singing the old "Jubilee Song" with his name in the chorus, and the unsuccessful alumnus sat with bowed head.

THE END.

MAJOR-GENERAL V. ZUPELLI
Italian Minister for War

DEFIES PROHIBITION BILL IN MANITOBA

Winnipeg, June 1.—The first step in the challenge to be made by the Hudson's Bay Company to the operation of the Manitoba temperance act was taken this morning when they refused to close their retail store and displayed their liquor, contrary to the provisions of the act.

The Manitoba government accepted the challenge, and the Attorney General's department ordered the confiscation of the retail stock, which represents nearly $1,000.

It is understood that the company invited the action taken by the government in order to set up a test case, which will involve the question of the privileges to trade without interfere-ence, as is claimed by the company to be their right in the deed of surrender of 1870.

The company will now take action against the government in the civil courts for interfering with its rights.

BRITISH AEROPLANES IN RUNNING FIGHT

London, June 2.—The British official statement issued at midnight reads:

"Our aeroplanes yesterday had a long running fight with three hostile machines. One of the latter was driven down. One of ours is missing.

"During the night hostile aircraft dropped eight bombs on Poperinghe without damage.

"Throughout the day there was continuous and heavy shelling by the British and German guns of all calibres in the neighborhood of Vimy ridge, the fire at times being intense. The artillery activity extended to a minor degree in the direction of Loos, Ypres and the river Somme.

"There was some mining in the vicinity of Loos at the rear of our trenches about Fricourt and just north of the Somme.

"Except for ordinary trench activity there was no infantry engagement in the past 24 hours."

London, June 1.—Some 2,600 riflemen comprise the force of Ali Dinar, Sultan of Darfur, defeated by the British on May 22 near El Fasher, in the Soudan, according to an official statement issued this afternoon.

"The Sirdar," the statement says, "reports that he estimates the enemy defeated at Berinigan, near El Fasher, comprised 2,600 riflemen. The enemy cavalry suffered heavy losses. The to-

STINGING NEURALGIA

The Trouble Due to Nerves Starved
For Lack of Good Blood.

that "neuralgia is the cry of starved nerves for better blood." The one great symptom of this trouble is pain, fierce, stabbing pain, that almost drives the sufferer frantic.
The one cause is poor blood; the only cure is to enrich the blood.

Heat applied to the inflamed nerves will give relief, but does not cure.
Dr. Williams' Pink Pills furnish the blood all the needed elements, and the blood conveys them to the nerves. The only way of getting food or medicine to the nerves is through the blood, and the only way to enrich the blood is through a fair use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In this way neuralgia, sciatica and other nerve disorders are promptly cured and the whole system benefited and strengthened. Mrs.

M. Gleason, R. R. No. 1, Uxbridge, Ont., who was a great sufferer from neuralgia, says: "I suffered intensely from neuralgia for four years.

My blood was thin and I was completely run down. I suffered intense pain all the time. At different times I consulted three doctors, but their treatment did no more than give me temporary relief. Then I tried different medicines, but the result was the same—they seemed no good in my case. I was growing steadily worse, and finally could not leave the house nor do a bit of work.

The last doctor I consulted could do nothing for me but give me morphine tablets to ease the pain and by this time I had about resigned myself to a life of pain. Then one Dr. Williams' almanacs came to the house and I read of similar cases cured through the use of Pink Pills.
I got three boxes and before they were all gone the pain began to decrease, and I began to have a better appetite. By the time I had used six boxes I was again a well woman and my neighbors could hardly realize that such a chance could be made in so short a time. Later I was bothered with eczema and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured me. I have found these Pills worth their weight in gold and I cheerfully recommend them to all who are ailing."

You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

tal number of rifles confiscated is more than 3,200, and arms are still pouring in.

"Four guns, 55,000 rounds of small ammunition, gun powder and a large quantity of materials for manufacture were also taken.

"Half of the population of 55,000 have returned to the town.

"The commander in chief reports that Mounted Anzacs (Australians and New Zealanders) drove the enemy eastward from the coast of Bir Salmons, 20 miles from Quatia (in Egypt), 25 miles east of the Suez Canal, on May 31, the enemy, who was followed by aeroplanes, losing heavily."

sprains.

Best Liniment Made

MR. A. E. LAUNDRY, EDMONTON, writes:
"I fell from a building and received what the doctor called a very bad sprained ankle, and told me I must not walk on it for three weeks. I got MINARD'S LINI-MENT and in six days I was out to work again.
I think it the best liniment made."

Minard's Liniment
always gives satisfaction. For any ache or pain. It gives instant relief.
