Vatican Skeptical Over the Proposed Union of Churches

Many Divergent Points to Settle Before the Anglicans and Greek Orthodox Church Can Unite—A Union Was Hinted at Recently by Archbishop of Canterbury.

ROME, April 11—Catholic circles reflecting the views of the Vatican here were skeptical today in regard to a recent report of plans for a union of the Anglican and Greek Orthodox Churches such as the Archbishop of Canterbury hinted in a speech last year. It was pointed out that there are many divergent points to settle and that even were such a union achieved it would not be stable. Further more, such an accord probably would create a wider chasm between the Roman Catholic Church and the Church groups forming the union and it is known that the Church of England has engaged in various efforts toward a reunion with Catholicism.

Archbishop on a Tour

JERUSALEM, April 11—The Archbishop of Canterbury, who is making a Mediterranean tour with J. P. Morgan on the yacht Corsair, will arrive here next week, probably Wednesday, and spend five days as the guest of the High Commissioner, Sir John Chancellor.

Morgan has reserved an entire floor of the King David Hotel for his party.

THE ESTIMATES MAY BE TABLED ON MONDAY

Ottawa, April 10—It is understood that Premier R. B. Bennett will table the estimates for the current fiscal year on Monday. The House of Commons resumes its sessions that day, and the expectation is that Mr. Bennett will present the estimates before the Commons again take up the debate on the Address in Reply to the Speech from the Throne.

A fraction of the estimates—either one sixth or one twelfth—will have to be voted by the House before next Wednesday, on which date the Civil Service receives its bi-monthly salary cheques. Should the House fail to do so, there would be no credits available for the paying of the public officials.

That the estimates will disclose drastic reductions in the current year's proposed expenditures is taken now for granted. All departments will enjoy smaller appropriations than heretofore, and such appropriations will be the limit permitted to those departments. The Prime Minister announced before the rising of the House for Easter recess that departmental executives would have to keep within limits of the votes, or "some gentlemen would lose their positions."

No Great Effect

The rainfall today will have little effect on the height of the St. John river, it was vouchsafed today by officials of the pumping station. However, the warm weather of the last several days, has had its effect on the melting snows, and today the river showed a rise about five inches due no doubt to the enlarged streams farther up the river. It is doubtful if the river rises any higher at this point. It is now 3 feet, and 5 inches below the highest spring level.

CIVIC SERVICE EXAMINERS ARE ACQUITTED

Ottawa, April 10—A verdict of not guilty was brought in shortly before midnight tonight by the jury trying J. Leo Bouchard, Civil Service examiner, and Lionel Chartrand Income Tax Branch employee, on charges of accepting money to favor certain candidates for positions in the Montreal post office.

The verdict disposed of one of the three joint indictments against the two accused men. Two other joint indictments on charges of conspiracy, and conspiracy at common law were traversed against Bouchard alone, comprising charges of alleged forgery, fraud, and falsification of documents were also traversed until the fall assizes.

In his summing up of the evidence Mr. Justice Kelly addressed the jury for slightly more than one hour. He warned them they could not, in a conspiracy case, convict the one man. Both were either guilty or not guilty.

W. B. Evans, M.L.A. manager of the Rothwell Coal Company of Rothwell, and John Henderson, manager of the Welton-Henderson Coal Company of Minto, passed through this city today en route home from a trip to Ottawa. They journeyed to the capital to support a resolution unanimously adopted by the New Brunswick Legislature at its recent session, recommending a reduction of freight rates, so that New Brunswick coal might have some chance to enter the markets of Quebec and Eastern Ontario. While at Ottawa they interviewed Hon. Dr. MacLaren, Minister of Health and Pensions, who assured them of his hearty sympathy with the movement. They also had a very satisfactory interview with Hon. Mr. Gordon, Minister of Mines. Both Ministers promised to do all in their power to assist in increasing the market for New Brunswick coal.

While at Ottawa Messrs. Evans and Henderson met Premier Baxter, Hon. Mr. Stewart and Hon. C. D. Richards who were in attendance at the inter-provincial conference.

Mr. Evans in a brief chat with the Mail stated that he thought that New Brunswick interests had been neglected at Ottawa in recent years. "I have made up my mind," he said "that if we want anything we have got to go after it."

THE MIRAMICHI IS FREE OF ICE AT CHATHAM

Chatham, April 10—The ice broke here yesterday afternoon. The ice bridge at Chatham went out and the ice above, from Douglastown to Morrison's, and the ice road crossing below at Loggieville held until today, when a strong wind came up and started the remaining ice in the river running to the sea. It was stated that two people crossed the ice this morning from Loggieville, although it was sopen at places alongside the roadway.

The only fatality that occurred with the softening of the ice this season was the drowning of a horse belonging to the Sisters of the Hotel Dieu off the wharf back to the Chatham station.

The Flint Journal says that "one of the causes of all this distress is overprediction." Which indicates however, plenty of prophets.

The questionnaire further showed that the undergraduates are in favor of the plan to found a college bookstore and to have the Brunswickian, the college paper, changed into a weekly publication.
