KINDS OF BEANS SUITABLE FOR NEW BRUNSWICK

(Experimental Farms Note)

Variety tests of beans have been conducted at the Fredericton Experimental Station for ten years. Soldier and Yellow Eye are best adapted to average conditions in New Brunswick of any of the varieties tested for a sufficient number of years to make the test reliable. The year, however, not the highest yielding varieties but they mature early, are of god quality and as they are free from immature and discoloured beans, they are saleable without hand picking.

The average number of days to maturity for the four best varieties for they last six years was Soldier 110, Yellow Eye 112, Navy 16, and White Marrowfat 123 days. Early maturing is a decided advantage in most sections of the province especially in backward seasons.

Both Soldier and Yellow Eye are comparatively free from anthracnose and give fair yields of beans in years when the infection is severe. Also, the quality of the beans is not effected by the disease.

On early land in the southern sections of the province, farmers may get better results with White Marrowfat. It is a slightly heavier yielder and of slightly better quality. At the Fredericton Experimental Station, however, the vines are killed with frost most years before the beans mature.

Navy is the heaviest yielding variety tested at the Station, but a large percentage of the beans are discoloured. This makes hand picking necessary before the beans are saleable. Besides, this variety is badly infected with anthracnose most seasons.

The decision as to whether Soldier or Yellow Eye is preferable must rest with the individual. Soldier is a large kidney bean, white, except for a red spot. Yellow Eye is a medium sized marrow bean, white except for a yellow spot. Soldier is slightly better quality but Yellow Eye is a slightly heavier yielder.

STUDENTS PREFER THE MOVIES

New York, April 10—Columbia undergraduates prefer movies to museums and the existence of the Morgan Library was a revelation to many, 308 replies to a questionnaire distributed by the Spectator, student newspaper, revealed today.

Almost half of the 308 had never visited the American Museum of Natural History. Two-thirds had been inside the Metropolitan Museum, but only because their studies required it.

The replies showed all but 20 attended the large motion picture houses but that plays such as produced by the Theater Guild and Civic Repertory Company held little attraction for them.

A Chicago man has been given 60 days in jail for stealing one bar of soap. He seems to have been out of lux.

A political "progressive" is a fellow who wants to do what no one else wants done.

Crooning is now being taught, disposing of any belief that it is hereditary.

Chewing gum becomes through the depression unaffected. Resilience is a protection to any business.

SAVED IMPORTED DRESS

"After a little wearing, a lovely green voile—an imported dress—lost color so completely that it was not wearable. A friend who had admired it asked me why I wasn't wearing it any more. On hearing the reason, she advised dyeing it and recommended Diamond Dyes. To make a long story short, it turned out beautifully. I have a lovely new dress that really cost just 5c—the price of one package of Diamond Dyes.

"I have since used Diamond Dyes for both tinting and dyeing. They do either equally well. I am not an expert dyer but I never have a failure with Diamond Dyes. They seem to be made so they always go on smoothly and evenly. They never spot, streak or run; and friends never know the things I dye with Diamond Dyes are redyed at all!"

Can't PLAY
Can't REST
—child needs Castoria

WHEN a child is fretful and irritable, seems distressed and uncomfortable, can't play, can't sleep, it is a pretty sure sign that something is wrong. Right here is where Castoria fits into a child's scheme—the very purpose for which it was formulated years ago! A few drops and the condition which caused the trouble is righted; comfort quickly brings restful sleep.

Nothing can take the place of Castoria for children; it's perfectly harmless, yet always effective. For the protection of your wee one—for your own peace of mind—keep this old reliable preparation always on hand. But don't keep it just for emergencies; let it be an every-day aid. Its gentle action will ease and soothe the infant who cannot sleep. In more liberal doses it will effectively help to relieve sluggish bowels in an older child.

All druggists have Castoria; it's genuine if you see Chas. H. Fletcher's signature and this name-plate:
