PRETTY GOOD GUESS

'Twas evening on the millpond;
The moon was shining bright;
Of moonlight I am very fond,
Especially at night.

Upon the water a canoe
Went floating idly by,
The people in it were but two;
No other one was nigh.

She looked at him, he looked at her
They both looked at each other.
Somehow I do not think they were
A sister and her brother.

HOW FIGHTS BEGIN

It was a bright, sunny Tuesday morning, and Mrs. Brown was on the roof preparing to hang out her wash, when Mrs. Jones appeared on the scene carrying a basket of clothes.

"What are you doin' here?" demanded Mrs. Jones. "Monday is your day for hangin' out clothes." "I know it is," replied Mrs. Brown removing the clothespins from her mouth "but it rained yesterday and I'm hangin' them out to-day. What is it to you anyhow? Wednesday is your day."

"Wednesday is my day, all right," admitted Mrs. Jones "but the paper says it's goin' to rain to-morrow, and I ain't takin' no chances. You take those rags down stairs again, or I'll throw 'em off the roof!" And that's how the trouble began.

ITS MAIN USE

If everybody hadn't invented jelly, the currant crop would have been a dead loss.

SENATORS' LAW SIGN PUZZLED 'EM

When the late Senator Wolcott first went to Colorado he and his brother opened a law office at Idaho Springs under the firm name of "Ed. Wolcott & Bro." Later the partnership was dissolved. The future Senator packed his few assets, including the sign that had hung outside of his office upon a burro and started for Georgetown, a mining town farther up the hills.

Upon his arrival he was greeted by a crowd of miners, who critically surveyed him and his outfit. One of them, looking first at the sign that hung over the pack, then at Wolcott, and finally at the donkey ventured:

"Say, stranger, which of you is Ed?"

The little raincoat in the hall
Knows best what it's about,
And seems to guess 'twill go along
Each day when we go out.

GOOD GUESSES

The inhabitants of a frog pond close at hand awakened two little girls who were spending their first night in the country.

First came the high, piping voice of a little "peeper."

"What's that?" whispered Winnie.

"I think it's a bird," ventured Susan.

Just then a basso profundo frog sung one of his lowest tones.

"What's that?" came another startled whisper.

"I ain't quite sure," came the answer, "but I think it is either a cow or an automobile."

Many a man who attempts to blow his own horn comes out at the little end of it.

MANITOBA PATRIOTS
TO BE TRIED TOGETHER

Winnipeg, July 26.—The trial of Sir R. Roblin, G. R. Coldwell and Hon. James H. Howden must proceed as one. Mr. Justice Prendergast refused this morning to allow the Crown's request for a severance, permitting the trial of Coldwell and Howden to precede that of the ex-Premier.

R. A. Bonnar, for the crown, moved yesterday for a severance, the defence vigorously opposed it, and the judge considered the case over night.

FAMILY REUNION.

(Chatham Commercial.)

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. Mercereau was the scene of a happy family reunion on Sunday, when their entire family were gathered together under the parental roof. Those present were Wynne, of Brooklyn, N. Y., who with his wife is spending a short vacation in town; Claude, managing editor of the Northern Light, Bathurst; Lieut. Cecil, of the 26th Battalion, recently invalided home; Lieut. Charles, of the 132nd Battalion, Valcartier, and Guy and Miss Lulu, of Chatham.

Sometimes the village dub migrates to a city and develops into a real man.
