M.R DUGAL EXPOSES HOLDUP OF ST. JOHN LIQUOR DEALERS

Chandler if he would investigate such facts if laid before him in proper charges."

In this connection Mr. Dugal read the following letter:

Fredericton, April 24, 1916.
L. A. Dugal, Esq., M. P. P., House of Assembly:

My Dear Dugal.—I suppose you have noticed in the official report that the Attorney General, when introducing the prohibition bill on Thursday last, made an attack upon me with respect to the facts I set out before Royal Commissioner Chandler last summer, and asked him to investigate. The Attorney General said:

"I do not like to speak out of harmony with the things that I have already mentioned, but there is one matter that I think in justice to this Government I have a right to say to the House at this time. It is less than a year ago that with the usual malignity and with the audacity of a certain person who is unfortunately too well known throughout the Province of New Brunswick, insinuations and suggestions were being made for the purpose of convincing the public of the province that this Government stood close to the liquor interests and that a campaign fund was even being raised. It was a malignant slander. It was done not from a high purpose of relieving this province from any stigma; it was not done in order that justice might be had, but from the lowest of partisan motives."

I think in order to have the record clear it would be well to quote what I really did say to Commissioner Chandler. In July of last year at Fredericton, when this gentleman was concluding another investigation I asked him if it would be within his "jurisdiction to inquire into the fact that many of the licensees under the Provincial Government in the city and county of St. John, including brewers, wholesalers, hotel and tavern keepers, during the spring of the present year, while the Legislature was in session, and while prohibition and important changes in the liquor law were under consideration, were called upon to pay, and did pay, large sums of money; that these sums of money were not tendered voluntarily by those engaged in the liquor business, but were demanded by a man who is a well known Conservative and whom they understood represented the local government party."

Some days afterwards Mr. Chandler wrote me that he did not consider his authority permitted him to inquire into these matters, but in the meantime the St. John Standard, a newspaper which supports the Local Government party and which is understood to be under the political direction of the Hon. Attorney General and contains at times editorial contributions from his pen, made a particularly violent and libelous attack upon me, stating among other things that because of my statements to Commissioner Chandler I was not only "a petty partisan of a particularly venomous kind, but a pitifully cheap public liar."

Now let me give you a few facts, and I will ask the people of New Brunswick to judge whether the Standard and the Hon. Attorney General or E. S. Carter were correct in their statements.

It was in December, 1914, that J. E. M. Baxter, M. P. P. for St. John county, became Attorney General. For years he had been the legal advisor of the liquor interests in St. John. Some two or three months later, when the Legislature convened, Mr. Baxter was a member of the Government. Among other bills introduced into the House was one which codified the liquor laws and which promised certain amendments further restricting its sale and shipment. There was also a very strong demand on the part of many other people that the government should bring prohibition into force at once. It was understood that many of the members of the Legislature were inclined to this view, and in a telephone message to the St. John Times Premier Clarke intimated that the question of prohibition was under consideration.

The liquor interests in the City of St. John were led to believe that such was the case and two young lawyers in the city of St. John, John A. Barry and G. Earle Logan, the former an intimate friend and supporter of the Attorney General, and Mr. Logan, the generally accepted law partner of the same member of the government, were picked out to represent the brewers, wholesalers and retailers in Fredericton, while the Legislature was in session or while the liquor bill was under consideration. I want to point out to you when I say that Mr. Logan was a law partner of the Attorney General that I make that assertion upon the authority of their names being publicly advertised in the city directory, in the telephone book and upon court records as Baxter & Logan. I know that the people generally accepted them as legal partners but I know nothing of any office arrangement they might have had. At any rate, Mr. Logan and Mr. Parry came to Fredericton to represent the liquor dealers and they came well provided with funds. I have it on the authority of retailers, wholesalers, hotel men and others who knew, that contributions ranging from $50 to $800 were paid to the fund for these young lawyers. I know that W. B. Tennant, who is well known in St. John as an ardent supporter of the Attorney General's, and is one of his political organizers, and who is interested with him in several important transactions, I know that this same Mr. Tennant sent a hurried message to the president of Ready's Brewery, stating that if he did not get $500 that evening that prohibition would pass in Fredericton before morning. I know and would have proved that this money was paid in accordance with the demand. I know and would have proved that a further sum of $300 was demanded from the same concern and was paid. I know that Mr. Richard Sullivan and Mr. Thos. Haley made certain collections from wholesalers and retailers and I also know that the sum realized was in the vicinity of at least $6000.

In confirmation of this, only a few days ago Mr. Richard Sullivan himself told a member of this government, who informed me, that between $5000 and $6000 had been paid over by the liquor interests during the last session for these two lawyers, and that afterwards a further demand was made upon the liquor people and was refused.

Can you wonder, Mr. Dugal, that with all these facts in my possession and many more that I do not care to bring into this matter at the present time, can you wonder that I asked Royal Commissioner Chandler to investigate such an important matter? Had that investigation been given by Mr. Chandler, I was ready and prepared to make the charges and to prove them. Had my libel suit against The Standard been permitted to come to trial I was ready to prove that every word that I spoke to Mr. Chandler was the truth. I did not say then, nor do I say now, that any member of the Legislature was corrupted or influenced by means of this money but I ask you and I ask the public to judge why such large sums were necessary to pay the legal expenses of two young lawyers just starting out in their profession. I ask the public to study the connection between Mr. Logan and the Attorney General, between the Attorney General and Mr. Tennant and between the Attorney General and his former clients, the liquor dealers, and let the people decide whether in their judgment, it was possible for all of these transactions to have been carried out under cover and without the knowledge of a man so thoroughly acquainted with every one concerned as the Hon. J. B. M. Baxter.

My suit against The St. John Standard was thrown out of court on a legal technicality and perhaps because of one fact it is just as well that it was thrown out. Before the suit was brought to trial I asked for a special jury to hear the evidence, and I want to tell you how I was treated. Please bear in mind that this was a political case, that I, as the organizer of the opposition party was suing The Standard, the organ of the Conservative and government party; it was therefore advisable, in the interests of justice, yes, it was almost imperative in the interests of justice, that the special jury asked for should be composed of men who had no interest in politics, who had no regard for either E. S. Carter or for The St. John Standard.

The man who had the choosing of the special jury under the law, was County Secretary Kelly, the close friend of the Hon. Attorney General, and when Mr. Kelly handed over the names of that special jury, of whom do you think it was composed in part? There were seven ward chairmen of the Conservative party, there were three stockholders of The Standard newspaper, there were three liquor dealers, there was a brother-in-law of Mr. W. B. Tennant, there were office seekers and officials of Conservative organizations on that jury list; there were also five or six Liberals, including T. H. Estabrooks, Arthur W. Adams, David J. Brown, Peter Campbell, John Flood.

Hon. Mr. Baxter was the legal representative of The Standard newspaper. I do not dispute the fact that it was a wise choice for The Standard, for undoubtedly, Mr. Baxter knew more about the case than anyone else. In striking the jury before the county secretary, he eliminated the names I have mentioned above, and of course my lawyer struck out the seven ward chairmen, and of the balance we had some stockholders of The Standard, some liquor dealers, office seekers and prominent Conservatives to pick a jury of seven from.

Do you wonder that I say it was rather a fortunate thing that the suit did not come to trial. I am glad to have this opportunity of writing you. I have to thank the Attorney General for giving me such a chance to expose this matter on the floors of the Legislature and I hope you will see fit to
