THREE HUNDRED CHINESE BRIGANDS WERE WIPED OUT BY THE JAPS NEAR MUKDEN

Tokyo, Japan, Dec. 6—The Rengo News Agency in a despatch from Mukden confirms reports that about 300 Chinese brigands were killed today and many wounded when they were bombed by Japanese planes in the vicinity of Kungtapu, southwest of Mukden.

The Japanese pilots reported that most of their missiles were effective in extensive air raids against about 1,000 bandits, the despatch said. Those not killed or wounded were said to have been scattered.

Fear Extensive Clash

Tokyo, Dec. 6—A Sino-Japanese clash on a much larger scale than in the past is foreseen by informed circles today unless Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang disregards the Chinese Government's rejection of the natural zone proposal and withdraws his troops from Manchuria.

The Japanese army is determined that all semblance of Marshal Chang's authority in the Chinchow area must be eradicated and is supported on this point by the civil departments of the government.

Press despatches from Mukden reported that General Honjo had issued a final warning to Marshal Chang to evacuate his forces behind the Great Wall.

It was admitted in authoritative quarters that the Japanese headquarters in Mukden was planning a new campaign in the direction of Chingchow to clear the area of Chinese bandits and other lawless elements who are said to be threatening the South Manchurian Railway.

Not To Evacuate

Nanking, China, Dec. 6—The Chinese Government has decided not to evacuate Chingchow and will order its troops to resist in the event of a Japanese attack, an official spokesman said tonight.

At the same time Foreign Minister Wellington Koo withdrew his resignation and decided to carry on after unanimous appeal from Government officials. News that Dr. Alfred Sze, Chinese delegate to the League Council, had also rescinded his resignation, was confirmed in official sources.

The Government spokesman made his statement in connection with despatches from Mukden via Tokyo saying that General Honjo had communicated with Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang at Peiping and insisted that he withdrew his soldiers from the Chingchow area.

Referring to the League's Council's resolution looking toward a neutral zone, the spokesman said China objected on two grounds: first, because no fixed date had been set for the completion of Japanese withdrawal and second, because Japan was given police rights to deal with banditry in the proposed zone.

Japanese Are Active

Mukden, Manchuria, Dec. 6 — A marked revival of the Japanese Army's operations against Chinese bandits in areas adjacent to the Southern Manchurian railway zone was observed today.

Part of the Japanese battalion stationed at Changtu station, between Kaiyuan and Ssipingkai, was said in a communique from General Honjo's headquarters to have been despatched against a concentration of guerillas in the neighborhood of the walled city of Changtu.

Japanese headquarters obviously attached special importance to this operation which was said to have resulted in the disarming of "considerable numbers" of bandits, because the scene is only 30 miles northeast of Fakumen, reported to be the stronghold of a force from the Twentieth Brigade of regular Chinese infantry.

Looting Village

A Japanese detachment was sent to suppress bandits reported to be looting Tsailipo, north of Hsinmintun. The villagers were said to have taken refuge in Hsinmintun until the trouble was over.

A third expedition took the form of an aerial demonstration which caused the westward flight of several hundred Chinese troops who had crossed the river between Tingkow and Tien-chuangtai and had begun to repair railway tracks which were destroyed when the Japanese occupied Yingkow late in September.

The Japanese commander at Yingkow reported to Mukden that the Chinese soldiers were menacing his command and aeroplanes were sent to protect him and his two companies. A spokesman for the Japanese headquarters said that the planes had neither bombed nor used their machine guns on the Chinese force.

from this point, and safely negotiated it. They were forced, however, to avoid several dangerous places on the way across. It was the first crossing of the year.

WOMEN GOLFERS ARE INELIGIBLE

New York, Dec. 7—Two of America's leading feminine golf players are to be ineligible to play in international golf matches against Great Britain which will be inaugurated next spring according to a ruling of the governors of golf. Only American-born players will be allowed to represent the United States, it was revealed yesterday by Rosalie Knapp, who represents the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association in the councils of the United States Golf Association.

This rule, which follows that laid down for the Ryder cup matches several years ago, will eliminate Mrs. Marion Turpie Lake, southern and Lond Island champion, who was born in Scotland, and Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, one time holder of the British women's championship.

Pulpwood Shippers

A New Brunswick Pulpwood Shippers' Association is rumored in process of formation hereabouts, and the idea will be to endeavor to get the governments and railways to reduce international freight rates on pulpwood and thus to increase the volume of shipments from this province to the United States. Fifty shippers from all over the province, will meet here on the afternoon of December 10th, in this regard, it is anticipated. It has been pointed out that low sea transportation rates, which allow Soviet and Scandinavian material to undersell New Brunswick pulpwood in the United States, create a handicap that cannot be overcome without the desired assistance that it is felt an organization can more easily secure.

Twin Babies

Mrs. Karl C. Bishop who was admitted to the Victoria Public Hospital on Saturday, this morning presented her husband with twins, a girl and a boy. As it was a caesarian birth, naturally her condition is quite serious. Mrs. Bishop is a daughter of Major John S. Scott, county secretary-treasurer, who now takes on the added dignity of a staid parent.

Government Meeting

A meeting of the provincial government has been called for tomorrow evening at eight o'clock. Several matters of importance will be given consideration and as a session is not much over two months away no doubt a start will be made in preparing the estimates. Matters in connection with unemployment relief will also be considered.

Inspector Stokoe of the Provincial Police and Mrs. Stokoe are being congratulated on the arrival of a baby girl at their home at North Devon yesterday morning.
