

Mahatma Gandhi Is on Way to England For the Conference

Millions of Indians Call Blessings As He Embarked—Looked Tired—Wears Loin Cloth—Eats Special Diet.

BOMBAY, Aug. 29—Mahatma Gandhi sailed for London and the second Round Table Conference today bearing the blessing of millions of Indians.

Unprecedented scenes occurred at the Bombay docks as the leader of the Nationalist movement climbed up the gangway of the mail ship boat Rajputana clad in his customary loin cloth.

A crowd filled the vicinity of the docks for a radius of a mile. It kept up incessant shouts of victory for Gandhi and cries of "long live revolution."

Gandhi had no rest all day since he reached here this morning by train. He looked very tired. He kept smiling, however, as he limped up the gangway to be mobbed again by admirers aboard ship.

Officers rescued him and escorted him to his cabin but he returned to the deck in response to the wild cheering of thousands.

Those of his followers who could see the little brown man standing on deck protected by the ship's officers, fell prostrate before him. Hundreds whom could not see Gandhi but were told he had appeared, also dropped to the ground. The babble of shouts ceased momentarily as the faithful paid homage to India's "great soul."

The crowd rose and attempted to surge closer but was held in check by police and officials of the steamship company. The followers offered Gandhi fruits and flowers and showered him with red powder, considered a most auspicious manifestation. The Mahatma was garlanded with skeins of home spun yarn. Surrounded by a cordon of ship officers Gandhi gaspingly acknowledged the immense tribute paid him.

He was flooded with telegrams. Officers made way for him and led him to a corner of the top deck where he escaped the lionizing of the crowd and said farewell to his wife. Gandhi did not take goats with him as had been expected but drank goats milk from cold storage which will be replenished at ports enroute to London.

His diet will consist chiefly of fresh fruits, bath and raisins, Gandhi and his party occupied two cabins of three berths each. No special arrangements were made for them except an improvised kitchen in which they will prepare their own meals.

Gandhi identified on his passport as a non-practicing barrister, requested accommodations in the lowest class on the ship and would not consider travelling first class. He will be treated as an ordinary second class passenger.

$400,000,000 BRITISH LOAN IS NEGOTIATED

New York August 28—J. P. Morgan & Co., announced tonight that negotiations for the extension of a $400,000,000 Franco-American credit to the British Government had been completed, and that the credit had become effective as of today.

The credit which is to run for one year, is being furnished in equal amounts by New York and Paris banking groups. The American banking group includes more than 100 banks and banking houses throughout the country. It is distinct from the $250,000,000 credit extended by the Federal Reserve and the Bank of France a few weeks ago, and the Federal Reserve is not participating in the credit.

The credit has been negotiated by cable and trans-Atlantic telephone within the past thirty six hours. It is believed to be the largest private banking credit in history and bankers regarded the celerity with which the negotiations had been completed as remarkable. It was said that the credit was substantially larger than the British Government had thought of requesting, and was purposely made of such size as to still all doubt as to the stability of the British pound sterling.

Wooded Her by Mail Then Killed Her After a Meeting

Marriage Broker Murders Rich Widow and Three Children—Will Confess on Lawyer's Advice—Hanged the Youngsters.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 29—Harry F. Powers offered today to confess he murdered a rich widow he wooed by mail, and her three children, "if my lawyer tells me to," police announced. The police announcement came after 12 hours of severe examinations which followed discovery in shallow graves near a garage on Powers' property of the bodies of the victims. They had reported soon after the offer, that Powers had "confessed."

"Will your confession implicate your wife and her sister," police asked the 45-year-old matrimonial agent whose love letters to a score of women led to discovery of the missing widow's body.

"No," was the reported reply. Both Mrs. Powers and her sister are under arrest in connection with the case.

Promises Statement

"I will make a complete statement today," police said Powers promised. "But," he said, "my lawyer will have to advise me first."

Mrs. Eicher was killed first, according to preliminary investigation, Sergeant L. M. Bird said. She and two of the children were hanged along the wall in the sub-basement of the unused garage, while the third child, Harry, was hit on the head with a weapon such as a hammer, Bird said.

Conditions of the bodies indicated all had suffered from lack of nourishment, police said.

Coroner L. C. Goff said he believed they had been dead for about two weeks.

HOUSE MAJORITY OF NEW MINISTRY LIKELY TO BE 50

London, Aug. 28—The new National Government will face Parliament with a standard majority of 50. Apart from their formal resolutions today's party meetings reveal how the House may be expected to line up.

The Government seems likely to get less Labor support from the back benches than was expected. On the other hand there were no dissenting voice among the Conservatives who met today. The Liberals found only one dissentient voice, and that was not of a Parliamentarian.

The Government also expects it will have the support of six Independents in addition to three Liberal Independents—Sir John Simon, Sir, Robert Hutchison and Ernest Brown—who recently broke the main group of Lloyd George Liberals.

BIG INFLUX OF SPORTSMAN IS LOOKED FOR

W. H. Allen, Veteran Guide, Speaks Optimistically of the Outlook—Late Fall Fishing Enjoys Popularity.

Indication point to an unusually heavy influx of sportsmen from the United States to New Brunswick during the early fall months, W. Harry Allen, one of the oldest and best known New Brunswick guides, stated here today.

"I have more inquiries for late fishing and early hunting parties during the month of September than at any time during the last number of years," said Mr. Allen today. "During the last few days I have been in communication with some thirty odd parties who are arranging a trip into New Brunswick to do some late fall fishing and some early hunting. This is undoubtedly the best outlook I have had for my hunting and fishing grounds in a great many years."

Encouraging Reports

There have been some very encouraging reports come to the Bureau of Information and Tourist Travel, Fredericton, recently regarding the possibilities of fall fishing in the Province of New Brunswick this season. Although in August the weather was extremely warm and the water in many of the streams very low, the guides now say that recent showers throughout the Province have increased the water in the rivers considerably and with the approaching cooler temperature they expect some exceptionally good catches of salmon and trout in those rivers, where late fall fishing has been so popular for many years.
