New Normal School Officially Opened With Fine Ceremony

Mr. Justice Baxter Dedicates Splendid Structure
For the Teaching of Future Citizens — Other
Speakers Included Premier Richards, Hon. D. A.
Stewart, Dr. A. S. McFarlane, Rev. Dr. Vanier and Principal Bridges.

The Provincial Normal School building, erected and equipped by the Provincial Government at a cost of $400,000, on the site of the building destroyed by fire in May, 1929, was formally dedicated this afternoon in the presence of a large gathering, which included members of the government, Judges of the Supreme Court, leaders in educational work, the three hundred student teachers and many citizens of Fredericton, as well as visitors from outside points. It was a most notable ceremony and will live long in the memories of those who witnessed it. The list of speakers included Mr. Justice Baxter who delivered the dedicatory address, Premier Richards, Dr. A. S. McFarlane, Chief Superintendent, Principal Dr. H. V. Bridges, Rev. Dr. Vanier, president of Saint Joseph's University, and Hon. D. A. Stewart, Minister of Public Works. The entire proceedings were broadcast by radio to all sections of the province.

The Program

Principal Bridges presided over the large audience and introduced His Lordship Bishop Richardson who invoked God's blessing upon the gathering. The students then rendered "O Canada" in chorus, after which Dr. Bridges delivered an address which will be found on another page. A unison song by the students came next on the program.

The Chief Superintendent

Dr. A. S. McFarlane, Chief Superintendent of education, reviewed in an interesting manner the history of Normal School work in this province. His address is published in full elsewhere.

Other features of the excellent program included piano solos by Miss Margaret Richards, daughter of Premier Richards, a French folk song by J. Bourque, addresses by Premier Richards, Rev. Dr. Vanier, Hon. D. A. Stewart, Mr. Justice Baxter, Soldiers Chorus, and Cherry Song by the Students, Salutation of the flag and the National Anthem.

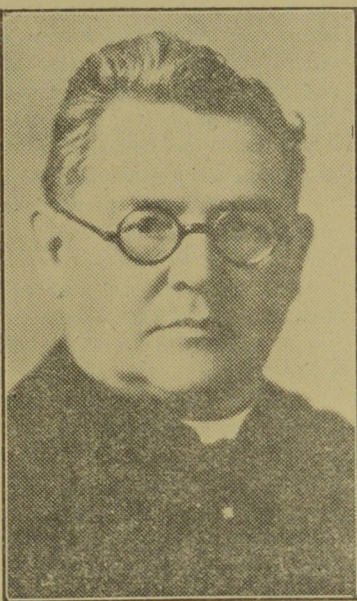

At the conclusion of the program, the visitors were given an opportunity to inspect the splendid building.

The Dedicatory Address

Mr. Justice Baxter, who was called upon to deliver the dedicatory address, spoke as follows:—

"I appreciate very much the kindness of the committee on arrangements for the formal opening of this building in asking me to take some part in the ceremonies of today. Now that I have passed from one branch of service to the State into another it is pleasant to be called to witness the fruition of enterprises in which I had some part while engaged in a different branch of work. Perhaps some of you may think that you are even indebted to me for the completeness and adaptability to its purposes of this magnificent building. I must disclaim such merit and award the praise where it properly belongs, to the architects whose intense study, unremitting application and practical skill have produced for you one of the finest buildings in the province and one which for its size is unsurpassed for the purposes for which it was constructed in any part of the Dominion. I labored long and earnestly to economize in some parts of this construction and perhaps am responsible thereby for much of the delay in beginning the work. My friend, the Honourable Minister of Public Works repeatedly told me that the small economies which might be effected by my suggestions would result in spoiling the building without affecting any saving which would be really worthwhile. Finally I accepted that view and the architects were instructed to give you the perfection of their art. Yet perhaps it is not untimely that I should suggest today that in many things it might be proved to have regard to the experience of our predecessors in this province who demonstrated over and over again that clear thinking and high achievement were but dependent upon the architectural beauties more than upon the physical comfort of the building devoted to education. There is more than a tendency in the present generation to spend beyond their means upon things which are adapted to physical comfort. Province after province, Municipality after municipality piles up debt for things which considered singly are desirable and perhaps justifiable, but which taken collectively form too great a burden on communities which in the present hour are struggling to find a way to make both ends of their financial problems meet.

Training Teachers

"A normal school is a term which so far as I can discover was first employed in the educational system of Upper Canada when it was under the direction of that great man, Egerton Ryerson. The original idea was not the training of teachers to meet and assist the pupils to solve the problems of life but to form a system of classes which should be composed of students of a normal type. By actually them it was expected that the science of pedagogy would be developed. Gradually there came into being the enlarged idea, not fully realized, of training teachers to appreciate the problems which in maturer years would be presented to their pupils and in diverse ways adapted to the needs of classes and communities with varying outlook, enable the scholar to solve them. Such must, I submit be the proper function of education and the work to be carried on in this building will be successful or otherwise in the proportion in which it keeps this aim in view. Useful as it undoubtedly is in its place it is not the mere facility which is acquired by the application of education to a particular vocation which is of the highest importance. The great and ultimate aim should be so to instill the pupil that when the responsibility develops upon him he will have a just appreciation of the problems constantly arising and almost from day to day changing their form which will confront him as a member of society. The onrush of scientific progress in the last cen-

The distinguished jurist, who would have been 73 years old on Feb. 17 next, and who had never suffered a serious illness until a few weeks ago, died this morning from the effects of a cerebral hemorrhage. He was called to the Nova Scotia Bar in 1883 and in 1892 at the age of 33 he was appointed lecturer in marine insurance at Dalhousie University.
