JUST A "HANTLE"

J. M. Barrie in his charming story, "Sentimental Tommy," gives one episode in Tommy's career which has a lifetime lesson in itself. It gives a hint on how the really serious tasks should be done. Young Tommy was taking the bursary examination as a candidate for a scholarship. The test was to write an essay on "A Day in Church." Tommy failed because he "stuck in the middle of his second page." He took the whole time in a futile quest of the Scotch word that would exactly express the number of people he thought of as being in the church. The degree of the fullness was "somewhere between 'curran' and 'mask,'" Tommy explained. After the contest was over and he had failed he burst into the door of the examiners' room. He beamed as a victor. He had thought of it. "Hantle" was the word he had struggled for. It had just the shade of meaning. Only one of the examiners appraised Tommy, the failure, correctly. He said, "The laddie is a genius."

The word often appraises as failure what is truly success. Sentimental Tommy failed for the scholarship. He attained success in daring to strive for perfection.

Conditions must be indeed desperate on the North Shore when the Federal Government has found it necessary to extend the salmon netting season for a period of ten days. The season was to have closed on September 1st, having been extended two weeks to offset a close period early in July. It looks as if those who are striving to develop fly fishing on the Miramichi are not likely to make much headway.

The great liner Leviathan, with over a thousand excursionists on board made a trip from New York to Halifax a short time ago, but anchored outside of the harbor. None of the passengers were permitted to go ashore and were much disgruntled in consequence. The steamer by anchoring outside was able to save harbor and pilotage fees.

Montreal Gazette: Evidence that things are not so bad in this country is the attendance at sporting events. Ten thousand and more people paying over $20,000 to witness one evening's exhibition shows that here in Montreal there are many with cash to spare and a willingness to spend it freely.

In connection with the price of bread in this city it might be a good plan for local bakers, without pressure from the city council, to lower prices sufficiently to shut out a carload or so of the staff of life which now comes in daily from Saint John.

The employment situation in this city might be benefitted to some extent if local business concerns would get their printing done at home and confine their expenditures on advertising to mediums which employ labor in this city.

It is passing strange that such a political crisis should have occurred in Great Britain at a time when Lord Beaverbrook, newspaper magnate, and Sir Montague Norman, Governor of the Bank of England were out of the country.

If, as a scientist maintains, a pianist in playing two ordinary foxtrots uses the same amount of energy that would have kept an ordinary locomotive going for three-fourths of a minute, the dancers who pad around to them must waste enough to pull the engine up Pike's Peak.

Though perpetual motion hasn't yet been discovered, the next thing to it is war in China.

A beautiful mouth may be obtained by pressing the lips tightly together for two hours at a time, a beauty note says. It is understood that the author of this idea received his original inspiration upon noting the facial characteristics of patient husbands.

A chiropodist thinks that Babe Ruth's ability to make home runs depends in large measure on his flat feet. Babe may reply that a chiropodist's ability to make statements of that sort depends on his flat head.

"Farmers Can't Meet Their Bills," reads a headline, but as a matter of fact the farmers don't have to exert themselves to that extent. Rural Free Delivery was invented to carry them to them.

The country would be better, remarks a New York financier, if the men would only show more backbone. The women, apparently, do not need this advice.

A. Mr. A. has the shortest name in the Chicago telephone directory. Imagine saying to the operator, "Yes, you chump, A! A! A! as in asafetida or asclepiadaceae."

The report that China wants to fight Japan probably has been greatly exaggerated, considering that China can't whip even itself.

The teachings of experience are largely in the nature of reminders that the experience might have been avoided by a little common sense.

Confidential reports have it that rocking chair brigades on summer hotel verandas are creaking away to a very successful season.

If it is intended to show great rarities at the World's Fair, Chicago might exhibit a school teacher with salary paid to date.

A sign on a county store in the Ozarks says: "I don't sell anything on Sunday and damn little during the week."

Cutting down one's advertising in a depression is just taking the worm off the hook and fishing with a safety pin.

Gangsters in New York are apparently trying hard to make their brethren in Chicago look like pikers.

THROUGH OUR SIEVE

Legs are beginning to look old-fashioned.

Perhaps all of us are what is the matter with the world.

You can't avoid Temptation by giving her your phone number.

We hope politics will never reach a state where it won't be considered respectable to vote.

With time and money to spend a summer in Europe we could enjoy a vacation at home.

George Bernard Shaw, if he were young, would go to Russia to live. Being 75, he has too much sense.

"Professor Eddington says that the great thing about time is that it goes on." Yes—even when the clock stops.

In the end one might be able to learn to like carrots if he were cast away on a desert island where nothing but carrots would grow.

Though there may not be as many mosquitoes employed this season as formerly, the ones on the job are remarkably faithful to their trust.

Attention has been called to the fact that the weather bureau never uses the word "hot"—always "warm" even when the temperature is extremely high. It is a remarkable example of conservatism.

Water Very Low

The water in the Saint John River is now down to low summer level, which means that it has reached the lowest point in several years. There is a rise and fall of five or six inches in the tide twice a day. The rain of last night and today has had no appreciable effect on the river as yet.

Elverson, Pa., Sept. 2—There used to be a time, Thomas Crowley said, when you could hitch up Dobbin after a Saturday night in town, tie the reins to the dashboard and depend on waking up in the barnyard. Chicago, Ill., Sept. 1—Prof John S. Dolley has lost his bugs. For six weeks the professor, who is an entomologist at the University of Illinois, had been touring several states looking for ants, bees, dragon flies, earwigs, spiders and other insects. About 1,000 of them were collected. All were carefully indexed and placed in a suitcase

The professor and his wife drove into Chicago Friday night, parked their car on the street and went away for a few hours. When they returned they found the bugs had been stolen.
