MR. BENNETT'S CABINET

Charles Lynch, Press Gallery observer of the Ottawa Journal, writes of the composition of the Bennett Cabinet:

Mr. Bennett has every reason to feel satisfied with his cabinet. With the session more than half way over the Prime Minister can feel satisfied that his ministers have won their spurs. When it is recalled that Hon. Arthur Sauve never made a speech in the English language until he came to the House of Commons, it specially emphasizes the appreciation the ministers have of their parliamentary and official duties.

The Cabinet is a mixture of experienced parliamentarians with some new blood, notably Hon. W. A. Gordon, Hon. Robert Weir, and Hon. T. G. Murphy, who have shown already decided ability as debaters.

Mr. Durand has also displayed splendid promise and is a decided acquisition to the Quebec wing of the Conservative party. Mr. Dupre, the Solicitor-General, has yet to be heard from, but he had made his impression on the House.

The Prime Minister is lucky in having in his Cabinet such experienced parliamentarians as Mr. Guthrie, Mr. Stevens and Dr. Manion. They are all tried and true fighters who can always give a Roland for an Oliver.

Hon. E. B. Ryckman, Minister of National Revenue, displayed great promise as an administrative, but unfortunately his health has not been the best. Here is a minister with a record of unbroken success in the financial world.

Hon. E. N. Rhodes, now in charge of the Fisheries Department and reported to be destined for higher honors, has handled himself with his customary savvy. Hon. Murray MacLaren, Minister of Health and Pensions has not been heard from very much.

Hon. C. H. Cahon, Secretary of State, is the envy of younger men in the House, for his energy. He has worked an average of 4 hours a day since he entered the ministry, to which he has added experience and capacity.

One of Mr. Bennett's most successful lieutenants has been Hon. G. D. Robertson, who has been reckoned as Canada's ablest Minister of Labor. Another Ontario man, Hon. Donald Sutherland, who is in charge of the Department of the Interior, has given promise of splendid ability although he has been content to do some listening.

The Bennett Cabinet has an average age of 53 years. Sir George H. Perley is the oldest member and Hon. Maurice Dupre is the youngest. He is 43. Hon. Wesley Gordon is the next youngest. He is 47. Hon. Robert Weir is the only other minister still in his forties although next year he will be 50.

Scots dominate the Cabinet. No fewer than eight of the ministers claim Scottish descent. They are followed by three French-Canadians, three Canadians of Irish descent, four "Canadians" or "Canadian" parentage, and with one English-born minister, Hon. Harry Stevens.

Religiously the Cabinet is made up as follows: United Church adherents, seven; Roman Catholics, five; Presbyterians, four; Anglicans, two and Baptists, one.

SCIENTIFIC THINGS

When the late great Michelson, scientist who measured the speed of light, was graduated from Annapolis, the superintendent of the naval academy said: "If you would give less attention to those scientific things and more to your naval gunnery there might come a time when you would know enough to be of some use to your country."

More than one lad in college seems to a teacher, who does not understand time, to be wasting his time. The wise teacher gives much freedom to the mind of youth. Michelson in later years added immensely to human knowledge and the wealth of the world. He was able to do this because he didn't listen to a man who was interested in making a good naval gunner.

WITHOUT POISE

No matter how much education or even how much intelligence—or how much character—one may have, if he hasn't poise he is without one of the vital parts of successful personality. Something is wrong with the arch because an important stone is missing. So many people of the best intentions, the finest character, are flustered, uncertain, unsure of themselves. They lack ease in the presence of others. They have everything but poise. Without poise the impression is imperfect.

Leader Dysart journeyed over from Kent County yesterday and addressed a gathering of York-Sunbury Liberals in the County Court House last evening. As was to be expected he indulged in some criticism of the government, but did not claim that if he were in power he would be able to pilot the ship of state in rough weather with any greater skill than it is being done by Premier Richard and his colleagues. That Leader Dysart is able to travel about the province and meet his followers is due to the generosity of the present government which a few years ago voted him $1,000 per year for that purpose.

Premier Richard has asked the authorities of the Canadian National Railways for a cut in freight rates on pulp wood on the Transcontinental Railway from Alward to Edmundston. The request is a very reasonable one and should be granted.

We suppose the modern young man gets about the same boiling thrill from having his best girl blow a whiff of cigaret smoke in his face as the old times did from having an ostrich tail fan gently dragged across his mug.

THROUGH OUR SIEVE

Spooning is the least attractive of all free shows.

Some people seem to look upon every Monday as a crisis.

Niagara Falls didn't astonish the Japanese prince. He may have been looking for something more modern.

"One out of every four schill children in Los Angeles has never seen a cow." Possibly cows don't film well.

Modern philosopher says "life is a grindstone." Possibly he is right. Anyway, it goes round and round and grinds.

Will Rogers doubtless is the only man in the world who has made a remarkable success of saying about everything he thinks.

In all time there has not been delivered a temperance lecture, no matter how forceful or eloquent, half as potent as a "morning after."

There was reference in a piper to asparagus shortcake. Try to imagine a palate that would keep open house to such conflict between unrelated ingredients.

In competition with nature man has his limitations. Were he to try to open a rosebud he would bungle the job mercilessly. A sunbeam can do the trick with exquisite deftness.

SELLS HIMSELF INTO JAIL

Chicago, Illinois, June 12—M. K. Higginbottom, a salesman, sold himself into a lockup.

For a week he had been trying to sell Franklin Hardinge oil burner manufacturer a new idea. Hardinge asked for police protection. Sergeants Drury and Howe were sent to Hardinge's office, where they posed as his secretaries. Higginbottom came and began to expound.

After listening for a while the sergeants said:

"We have a big business deal on at 11th and State sts."

"I'll go along," said Higginbottom, and for seven miles he kept talking.

"We have some business in here," said the sergeants when they arrived at the detective bureau.

"I'll go, too," said the salesman. Then they locked him up.

AUTOMOBILE TAX HAS GROWN IN TEN YEARS

New York, June 12—The annual tax levy in the car owners of the country increased 586 per cent in the 10-year period between 1921 and 1931. T. M. Hendges, vice president of the New York Automobile Club, said today. He pointed out that in the same period car registration increased 153.5 per cent and expenditures on highways of all kinds 50.9 per cent. Thus, he said, "the burden on car owners, exclusive of personal property tax, has increased nearly 12 times as fast as highway expenditures and almost four times as fast as the gain in car registration."

HE'S RIN-DO-BAGU IN JAPAN

New York, June 12—When Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh flies to Japan with his wife this summer he will hear his name on the lips of acclaiming throngs, but he probably won't recognize it at first.

Lindbergh is a name difficult for the Japanese to pronounce. The language contains no "L" and very few consonant combinations. On millions of Japanese tongues it will sound something like Rin-Do-Ba-Gu.

Chicago, June 12—Ely Culbertson, recent winner of the Harold Vanderbilt bridge trophy, declares women are better bridge players than men.

"The average man," said Culbertson, "thinks he's perfect. He thinks he has nothing to learn. Women players know more and study more. I believe one reason women take to bridge is because it gives them an opportunity to settle the intellectual score with their husbands at the card table."

Culbertson is positive that the black eye bridge has been getting in divorce courts lately is entirely undeserved.

When couples fight at bridge, he says, it's generally because of something else that happened before they got to the party.

To perpetuate the memory of the dead is the duty of the living. You may discharge that duty by placing a marker at every grave. An individual marker is a permanent record of a name and date of birth and death, and it designates an exact location in the burial lot. The grave marker here shown is twenty inches wide, twelve inches high and nine inches in thickness at the base. It is precast stone made from crushed granite. It weighs over one hundred weight and the lettering is deeply incised and very distinct. The cost is $15.00 boxed and freight prepaid to your station.
