CAN HELP FREDERICTON

Says the New Glasgow, N. S. Chronicle:

"Nothing can stabilize the economic condition of Pictou County as a car order. It is a public expenditure that does not mean a cent of waste. It places employment exactly where it is most needed. The men are engaged at a work of which they know most about, and at which they can give the greatest actual value for the wage paid. A car order means diversified work. It provides employment locally in other plants, that now, like the car works, are practically idle."

There being no car works located in New Brunswick the people of this province will have no objection to Nova Scotia concerns getting all the orders they can possibly fill. The principle is all right, but it might be applied to other kinds of industry besides those which turn out cars. For instance Fredericton is the chief shoe manufacturing centre of the Maritime Provinces. It has three well equipped plants, which turn out all kinds of footwear. For some months these industries have been working on short time for lack of orders. Now the Federal Government maintains a Mounted Police force, some members of which patrol the far north and need a class of heavy footwear in which factories operating in this city have specialized for years. The Government also maintains several thousand permanent soldiers, cavalry, artillery and infantry, which have to be supplied with strong footwear. Why could not an order of considerable size be divided among the three local industries. Ordinarily footwear for government services is purchased by contract, but these are abnormal times and a departure from the red tape rule could very well be made, in the interests of an important section of the country. Possibly under the present conditions the railways might get along without additional cars, but the men of the mounted police, the permanent corps and the naval services must be supplied with shoes in order to function in our climate.

THE TRAGIC QUEEN

Justice, long denied to Mary, Queen of Scots, who set her foot upon a triple throne and was beheaded, is paid by Mr. Dakers in his newest biography, for Mary Stuart is triumphantly acquitted of immorality with any of the poets, secretaries and jailers with whom improper relations have been alleged, and is given fresh praise for beauty, charm and for religious toleration.

Mary herself was drugged and attacked, he says, by Bothwell and was compelled to wed him to preserve her own good name. Surrounded by false advisers, tricked by Elizabeth, whom Mr. Dakers terms "deceitful, cruel, and treacherous," though only a tool of her advisers, deserted, in turn, by France, Spain, Elizabeth, and even by James Stuart, Mary, Queen of Scots, was, indeed, a tragic figure. The famous Casket Letters are, of course, discredited. Mr. Dakers' biography is intensely sympathetic and is written with appealing interest.

The management of the Fredericton Exhibition finds it necessary to employ considerable help during the progress of their annual fair and this year, in keeping with the spirit of the times they have exercised unusual cars in making selections. They had many applications but as far as it was possible only those who do not have steady employment were engaged. Not the slightest difficulty was experienced in securing an efficient staff.

Premier Richards is quoted by the Telegraph-Journal as stating that the western farmer, who receives a five-cent bonus per bushel on wheat and the New Brunswick potato grower who gets nothing are not quite parallel. It was His Worship Mayor Clark, who in a speech at the opening of the Fredericton exhibition, urged that a bonus of ten cents per barrel be paid to New Brunswick potato growers, but Premier Richards who followed made no reference to the matter whatever.

The tramp who is alleged to have assaulted an elderly man at Public Landing, has not yet been apprehended, although a net work has been spread for him. There is usually something fishy in connection with hold-ups and attempted murders that develop in the lower part of the province and this case may not be an exception.

The flashy uniform worn by Governor Pontius Pilate in last night play was much admired but it would hardly look right on a modern chief executive.

Mussolini wants an army of 5,000,000 in order to "make Italy's voice heard." While the metaphors are being mixed might we add that the world hears footsteps approaching on horse-back.

For showing honest goodness awkwardness we'll bet nobody can beat the girl who is trying for the first time to plait her hair that's grown long enough to require it before she rolls in between the sheets.

Now that an Austrian daredevil has crossed the English channel on skis, we expect a plethora of roto pictures that show him making a 210-foot jump off a steep wave.

It seems university students must be mixed up in the Cuba revolution as well. A Havana despatch says all persons not wearing hats are being picked up on suspicion of treason.

If the English thought the French crazy for calling bread "pain," what do they think of them for calling a country like Russia "pays?"

A Western charwoman, when informed that an oil well had come in on a piece of her property, said she thought she'd keep on scrubbing for a while at least.

The village cynic says he must have been out behind the house picking four-leaf clovers the last time opportunity knocked.

SHAW PREFERS SMALL PROFITS

Malvern, England, September 15—George Bernard Shaw would rather pick up a piece of small change many times than take a big profit once in a while, he said today at a rally here in the interests of the National Theatre movement.

I would be surprising to know, he said, how much money he gets from little groups of players putting on his dramas in halls where the admission price is ten cents to a quarter. Although some dramatists would demand $25, said he, "I take my fifteen cents, touch my hat and trust for a renewal of favors."

The Passion Play

The Freiburg Passion Play, produced at the City Opera House last evening attracted a large audience and was most impressive. The parts were well taken especially that of Christus by George Fassnacht, Jr., Judas by George Fassnacht, Sr., Pontius Pilate by Mark Allyn and Caiaphas by William Kent. The scenic embellishments were most appropriate and the various scenes depicting the life of Christ were most impressive. As a spectacular production its equal has seldom been witnessed here, the only matter for regret being that it should be presented in competition with the exhibition.

Still Investigating

Brig. General F. W. Hill, commissioner of the New Brunswick Provincial Police, returned last night from Saint John where he was engaged in investigation of the assault case in which Abraham W. Day, 68-year-old Public Landing farmer, was seriously injured a few days ago. The commissioner reports that the investigation is proceeding. The various theories held, are being tracked down.

BURGLAR TELLS JUDGE HE IS TOO DEAF

London, England, September 14—"I am too deaf to make a good burglar"—this was the admission made by Jerry Sparks when appealing against a sentence of 12 months' hard labor in the court of criminal appeal recently.

Forgetting his defect while in the course of his operations his movements and the creaking of the stairs were heard by the house which led to his capture. Justice Humphreys in dismissing the appeal expressed the hope that he would remember the loss of his hearing when he had completed his sentence.

LEVIATHAN LOSES LARGEST RATING

New York, September 15—For economy the Leviathan has relinquished her claim to the title of largest ship. She has been remeasured under American shipping rules, which cut her rating down by 10,000 tons. Her previous rating of 59,957 gross tons has figured under British rules, which include passenger accommodations, while American measurements do not. The Majestic, 56,621 gross, is now the largest ship, while the Leviathan saves about $3000 a year in port fees.
