OLD-FASHIONED MISER PURSE REGAINS FAVOR

Perhaps it is just the return to the modes and manners of grandmother's day, which has come with so many of the new fashions, or perhaps it has something to do with the depression, but whatever the reason the miser's purse of yesteryear is with us again.

You will know this purse when you see it, crocheted of silk thread and steel beads in the form of two small pouches, each closed with a ring which slips over the opening, and hung to the finger by another larger ring in the middle. Smart and safe for days of pecuniary depression and reasonable in price into the bargain.

If you have been cherishing one of these as an heirloom, now is the time to take it from its tissue wrappings and make use of it. If you are clever with knitting-needle or crochet-hook, now is the hour to make use of your talents. If neither of these, then you may betake yourself to a smart Fifth Avenue shop and purchase one at the bag counter.

These quaint purses are most attractive accessories to the new type of fall and winter costume

SANDWICH FILLING FOR THE CHILDREN'S LUNCHES

Peanut butter and honey.

Chopped ham, hard cooked egg yolk and mayonnaise.

Cream cheese and raspberry jam or chopped dates.

Fried liver and bacon finely chopped and mixed with piccalilli.

Flaked salmon and chopped cucumber pickles moistened with mayonnaise.

Chopped figs, dates and nuts moistened with lemon juice.

Shredded leaf lettuce and mayonnaise.

Chopped dates and nuts moistened with orange juice.

Ground broiled bacon and peanut butter moistened with milk.

Cottage cheese and chopped dates.

Hard cooked egg yolks chopped and flaked sardines moistened with lemon juice.

RAISIN AND PEANUT BUTTER FILLING

1-2 cup seeded raisins, chopped

1-2 cup peanut butter

2 to 4 tablespoons hot water

Mix water with peanut butter until smooth. Add raisins. Spread between slices of lightly buttered graham bread.

COTTAGE CHEESE AND RAISIN FILLING

1 cup cottage cheese

1-4 teaspoon salt

1-2 cup seeded raisins

Cream on mayonnaise thoroughly with cheese and salt moistening with cream or mayonnaise to desired consistency. Spread between buttered slices of whole wheat bread.

CHEESE AND APPLE BUTTER

Mix equal portions of a creamy yellow cheese and apple butter. For variety you could add one or two drops of lemon juice. Place a generous portion between two thin slices of bread.

PEANUT BUTTER AND APRICOT SANDWICH

Mix orange juice with apricot jam until a tart flavor is attained. Spread one juice of bread with peanut butter and the other with the apricot jam. Combine, trim and shape.

DATE AND CREAM CHEESE SPREAD

For a double-deck sandwich which is delicious and filling, try this one. Chop very fresh dates into a paste. Add a little lemon juice to give them a slight tart taste and then mix with an equal portion of cream cheese. Butter three slices of bread and lay on two generous layers of this mixture. Cover with the third slice and wrap in waxed paper.

EGG AND CHEESE MIXTURES

Spread one piece of bread with butter, then soft, yellow cheese and cover with a piece of lettuce. Spread the second slice of bread with butter, a commercial sandwich spread, or one you have made yourself with a little mayonnaise, chopped lettuce and pickle. On top of the sandwich spread, slice or dice a hard-cooked egg. Put the sandwich together. It makes a delicious combination.

TIM OF NEW ROCHELLE KNOWS HIS CYLINDERS

(New York Sun)

The latest news of Tim the New Rochelle terrier who leads the doggiest gang in Westchester county, has to do with some of his solitary moments. Tim, though captain of a crew, occasionally goes on lone forays. These are more frequent when pint-sized motor cars are most in evidence.

Tim has a hate against all four-cylinder machines, and against most sixes. This harks back to a day in June when a mess of tin on wheels slammed into his rear end and put him in the dog hospital for a week. Tim, who must have an elephant hidden somewhere in his ancestral woodpile, has never forgotten that blow. More, he has never forgotten the lack of size of the craft which sent him down. Big automobiles he ignores. Medium sized ones he passes up after one suspicious look. But when the litty-bitty affairs come rolling in Tim deserts his hang. For the moment the crew must play without its captain, while he goes wildly ki-yi-ying after the product named for Henry or Louis the racing man, blood in his eye and all fangs bared.

Occasionally it all becomes a trifle too hectic. One day the lesser motors rolled east and west in such rapid succession that Tim finally turned into his yard with a faint, breathless yelp which said as plainly as print, "Ah- Go plump to . . ."

This is the time of year when the chief interest of the motor car manufacturer concentrates on what the other fellow has up his sleeve. Now they say an ostrich doesn't really think he's hidden when he sticks his head into the sand. Well, that's dandy. He isn't.

The world would be a mighty desolate place if all the fools were to perish.

Next in order, after ship-to-shore mail service, is to provide the ships themselves with wings.

It if continues unabated, after the discovery that he just borrowed the big yellow sport roadster for the evening, it's true love.
