

Gandhi Has Little Faith in Success of Indian Conference

Declares That the Resumption of Disobedience Campaign Against British Rule Seems To Be Inevitable—Thinks Britain Is Playing Politics.

LONDON, Nov. 20—The Mahatma Gandhi, Indian Nationalist leader, declared today that resumption of the civil disobedience campaign against Britain's rule in India seems to be inevitable.

"There is not much hope for success of the round table conference," Gandhi told the British United Press while the British Cabinet was meeting to decide its Indian policy in regard to termination of the conference for a new constitution.

Resumption Inevitable

"The eventual resumption of civil disobedience seems to be inevitable. It all boils down to the attitude of the Government."

"If the Government's attitude is satisfactory the communal digerences in India could be swept aside," Gandhi continued. He said he feared the Government of Britain was using the controversy between Hindus and Moslems as "an excuse" for sending the Indians away from the round table conference "empty handed."

After expressing his belief that Britain was playing politics to prevent Indian independence, Gandhi added in his usual cautious fashion, "of course, I might be wrong."

The Liberal leader was honor guest and chief speaker at a banquet in the Admiral Beatty Hotel sponsored by the Saint John Liberal Organization Committee.

Mr. King coupled with his appeal for organization a vigorous criticism of the present Government's handling of the unemployment situation, emphasizing in particular the menace which he claimed hung over the taxpayers of Canada as a result of the "blank check" which Premier R. B. Bennett's administration had obtained for unemployment relief.

Veniot True To Form

Another speaker, Hon. Dr. P. J. Veniot, New Brunswick's sole Liberal representative in the House of Commons and ex-Postmaster General charged that unemployment funds were being used throughout Canada as a campaigning fund for "the aggrandizement" of the Conservative Party.

"The Conservative Party today is making out of unemployment relief a political fund for their political aggrandizement throughout Canada," he declared.
