Come On Out!

District Wolf Cub News

On Good Friday, a District Hike for the City District Cubs was held. The attendance was the largest on record for such an event, 59 boys and 6 leaders taking part. The packs participating were: 2nd, 3rd, 7th, Frederictons and Devon, the Brunswick Street Baptist Explorers also turning out under their Leader, George E. Foster. The District Cub Commissioner was in charge of the party. After the Grand Howl and Inspection, on the Officers' Square, all proceeded to the camp of the Explorers, not far above Ryan's brickyard. After a substantial lunch, cooked inside the log cabin and over fires on the rocks outside, a fort was built by the Cathedral and Devon boys, this being the subsequent scene of a furious snowball bombardment, which lasted into the early afternoon. Other games were then played, under the Commissioner and Instructor John Watson of 7th Frederictons, after which the party proceeded to the old Government House, where great interest was shown in some new tractors close by, these being kindly demonstrated by the owners. The ice running out of the river and a few boats under repair kept all interested until late afternoon, when, after a short supper, the outing closed with the Grand Howl, given on the Government House grounds. The Explorers and Mr. Foster stayed on at their camp until Saturday morning.

At the children's service at the Cathedral on Easter Sunday afternoon, the address was given by Cub Commissioner Pugh, from the Text: I am the Resurrection and the Life. At this service the new boys' choir marched in procession, this being the first time within recent years that a boys' choir has done so at a children's service. At all of the three services on this day, in which this new branch of the choir took part, the boys made a real contribution to the beauty of the festival. If ever there was a living illustration of that part of the Wolf Cub Promise relating to Duty to God, it was to be found in the Cathedral throughout Easter Sunday.

CHOCOLATE CAKE

Melt 4 squares of unsweetened chocolate over hot water. Cream together 1 cup sugar and 1-3 cup butter or any preferred shortening. When well blended, add 3 egg yolks and beat until smooth.

Next stir in 1 cup milk, 2 1-2 cups flour with 1-4 teaspoon baking soda and 3 teaspoons baking powder. Add to the liquid mixture and stir until well mixed. Beat the whites of 2 eggs stiff. Add the melted chocolate to the cake batter with 1 teaspoon vanilla and then fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites.

Bake in 2 large or 3 medium-sized layer cake pans in a moderate oven—375 degrees—for about 15 minutes.

THE HOSPITAL
RATES LOW IN THIS PROVINCE

Ottawa, April 7—The Maritime Provinces have, with few exceptions the lowest hospital costs in Canada, and in spite of a general advance throughout the country the rates charged in 1929 in the Maritimes were but slightly higher than those of 1926, a report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics tonight showed.

The report was based on returns from 193 hospitals in Canada, and covers charges for public wards, semi-private rooms and private rooms.

The rates in Prince Edward Island are practically the lowest in Canada for all three classes, the report showed.

The public ward rate in Prince Edward Island of $1.50 a day is the lowest in Canada, while the low private room average of $3.87 is only surpassed by New Brunswick, with $3.66. The average of $2.62 a day for semi-private rooms is only higher than the prevailing rate in New Brunswick and Ontario. The charges in New Brunswick have advanced very little since the last census in 1923, the report stated. An advance of 12 cents in the private section and no change in that of the public ward rates per day as shown.

In New Brunswick although the rate of $2.46 in the public wards was the second highest in the country its rate in the semi-private wards was but 23 cents higher than the $2.20 of Ontario, the lowest in the country.
