BEAVERBROOK ADDRESSES A BIG MEETING

Newspaper Baron Vigorously Campaigning in the East End of London.

London, Oct. 13—Lord Beaverbrook, Canadian peer and newspaper publisher, was out campaigning in the East End of London tonight. A queue a quarter of a mile long stretched down the street leading to the Limehouse Town Hall half an hour before the meeting began. As he stepped onto the platform to speak on behalf of the Conservative candidate, Lord Beaverbrook was greeted by mixed cheers and boos. A reference by the chairman to Prime Minister MacDonald was received with cries of "traitor." Communist members of the audience sang "The Red Flag."

There were loud cries of dissent when Lord Beaverbrook declared he understood the working man. Lord Beaverbrook then walked to the back of the platform and led forward a man sitting there. "This man," Lord Beaverbrook said, "is known perhaps to a great many of you. He lives in your midst. He works just as you do." Then with a dramatic touch, he said, "This man is my cousin."

"I have known the rough places of life," Lord Beaverbrook added. "I have known what it is to struggle for my livelihood. I came from a family of Scottish peasants and I am glad of it. Is there anyone among you in this room who has worked harder than I?"

The Communist Party today issued a manifesto calling for,

- (1) Higher unemployment benefits to meet higher prices.
- (2) Free tram and bus fares.
- (3) Free distribution of food and clothing from the warehouses of big profiteers to the most needy workmen.
- (4) No tariffs.
- (5) No income tax on workers and poorly paid employees.

Wherever three men are gathered together they talk too much.

SAYS CANADA HAS FAITH IN HERSELF

New York, Oct. 13—In highly optimistic and ringing terms, Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett emphasized tonight Canada's unconquerable belief in herself. The Canadian Prime Minister spoke at the opening of the new home of the Canadian Club of New York.

"Canada has an immense," an unconquerable belief in herself," Prime Minister Bennett declared, and with his remarks wholehearted applause broke forth from his audience. "We have the faith that accepts good times as our natural due and bad times as only an interlude between past prosperity, and the still greater prosperity that is to come. I suppose we were born that way, and all the forces of World distress are powerless to change us.

"That does not mean that Canadians are vainglorious, reckless or prodigal, for they are not. In any kind of life thrift and economy are virtues; in our pioneering lives, they are veritable necessities. Nor does it mean that Canadians are confused between the facts as they are and as they would have them.

"We face whatever situation may arise with the knowledge that however bad it may be hard work by all our people, courage in every walk of life, real and intelligent co-operation among the elements which compose the nation, cannot fail to better our position."

THE PREMIER SILENCES HIS INTERRUPTERS

Rt. Hon. Ramsay MacDonald Carrying on a Vigorous Campaign in His Constituency.

Seaham Harbor, Durham, England, Oct. 13—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald carried his campaign for re-election to the House of Commons into the stronghold of his Opposition among the miners today.

This evening he spoke in halls packed with miners, at Seaham Harbor and Murton. In the afternoon he addressed an audience at Dawdon, known locally as a Communist centre, and with a retort to a young Communist he silenced heckling that made the start of the meeting uncertain.

"I'm a Communist and I'm against you," the heckler shouted.

"Of course you're against me," the Prime Minister retorted. "A Communist is always against the interests of the working classes."

The Seaham Harbor Colliery, scene of one of tonight's speeches, has been mined for 100 years. The men are conservative in their Labor views and Mr. MacDonald won their applause from the start.

Explains Situation

As on the occasion of his opening campaign speech in his constituency last night, he put much effort into his explanation of the World situation and Britain's national emergencies.

"For you the general election is the protestation of Britain from the financial crisis which is going on in nation after nation and which, if it hit Britain disastrously, will leave the wreckage not of your bosses but of you," he said.

One old fellow asked, "Will Mr. MacDonald nationalize the Bank of England?"

"If we started on that now people would get so frightened there would be no Bank of England to nationalize," the Prime Minister replied. "Solve our present difficulties first and then we must consider the reconstruction of our financial institutions. That is all I shall say now."

WANTS ACTION AGAINST HIM DISMISSED

Montreal, Oct. 13—A first blow on the defence in the series of actions in the contestation of recent provincial elections results was struck in the Practice Court here today when Joseph Filion, M. L. A., for Laval, asked that the action against him be dismissed by reason of a number of technical irregularities in the proceedings. The motion was continued for hearing.

One of the main complaints of the elected member for Laval was that the petitioner who launched the contestation proceedings was not himself a fully qualified elector and therefore had no right to take the action.

Also the deposit of $1,000 which accompanied the petition was not furnished by the petitioner personally but was supplied by outsiders who could have no possible personal interest in the electoral division of Laval, it was claimed.

MANSLAUGHTER CASE ON TRIAL AT AMHERST

Amherst, N. S., Oct. 14—As a result of the grand jury bringing in a true bill against Fred Tingley, of Amherst, in connection with the death of Eugene Cruickshanks, Amherst, and a similar bill against Alfred Rose, of Springfield, charged with the death of his father, Alev. The unusual proceeding has had its effect in the largest attendance at court for a long time, the court room space being crowded and scores standing in the hallway outside.

Cruickshank's death resulted from his motorcycle being in collision with a car, alleged to have been driven by Tingley, on the Amherst-Oxford road a few weeks ago.

In the one case, it is charged that the son struck the father on the head with a chair when the latter tried to stop a quarrel between Alfred and his brother, Charles, recently.

The court has a new judge for this session, Mr. Justice Paton. His first official visit here was signalled by a happy address on the part of the Crown prosecutor, C. R. Smith K.C., of Amherst, who extended felicitations on the part of the bar in Cumberland. His Lordship made an appreciative reply.

The grand jury having reported a true bill, the case of the King vs. Fred Tingley was called. The prosecution did not finish its case until 5 o'clock this afternoon, when adjournment was made until tomorrow morning, when the case for the defence will be presented by J. A. Hanway, K.C.
