PEOPLE OF THE OLD COUNTRY AWAIT DECISION ON QUESTION OF DISSOLVING PARLIAMENT

London, Sept. 27—Through the constituency candidates are sounding the first notes of the election campaign. They have taken advantage of the week-end Parliamentary lull to feel out the ground. For it is generally expected dissolution of Parliament will be announced within a few days, with nominations possibly on Oct. 16 and polling on Oct. 28.

It has been a week-end of parleys and speech-making. The expected conversations between Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader, and Rt. Hon. Sir Herbert Samuel, acting Liberal leader, did not materialize at Chequers, country home of the Prime Minister. But there have been numerous talks behind the scenes.

The Prime Minister returned to London tonight refreshed and looking much better after his week-end in the country. Tomorrow there is a Cabinet meeting at which, it is expected, the Prime Minister will outline his decision. If the Cabinet decides for dissolution, the Prime Minister will convey the decision to His Majesty on Tuesday and announce dissolution in the House of Commons on Wednesday.

The Line-Up

Should the Prime Minister decide in favor of dissolution the battle will likely open with rival manifestoes. On the one hand will be found the Prime Minister and Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Secretary for the Dominions and Colonies; the Conservative Party, and the section of the Liberal Party favoring the tariffs at the moment—on the other hand will be ranged the Labor Party and the main wing of the Liberals. Some newspapers declare Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, veteran Liberal leader, might replace Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson as Leader of the Opposition.

The political situation was the one topic of the Sunday papers today and Mr. Lloyd George was credited with contemplating the issuance of a vigorous free-trade manifesto in opposition to the talk of tariffs.

Divided Opinion

Meanwhile press and politicians are divided over the merits of an early election. Sir Donald MacLean, Liberal free trader, who is President of the Board of Education, declared any election before Christmas would be "Autumn madness," Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, a cabinet colleague, declared a general election was inevitable.

Sir Donald MacLean said the people "have only just settled down to the fact of the National Government, a special creation of the King, and now in five minutes, so to speak, there is to be an election.

Consider the first probable effect in prices. These are not in much danger so long as the Government "watch-dogs" are on duty. Technically the Government will be in existence during the period of a general election, but actually the individuals who constitute it will be scattered about the country making speeches at each other, with no time to discharge their official duties. Who is to safeguard against the profiteer during those weeks of turmoil before the new Government settled down to work?"

To Seek Re-Election

Mr. Thomas and Prime Minister MacDonald, who will be the only Cabinet Ministers formerly in the Labor Party, seeking re-election—for Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden will retire—will likely each face official Labor opponents. Yesterday delegates at a meeting of the saham, Durham Division of the Labor Party unanimously decided to obtain a Labor candidate for the next general election. Prime Minister MacDonald was re-elected in Seaham in 1929 with an overwhelming majority. Both he and Mr. Thomas have strong personal positions.

HIS EXCELLENCY TO BE FETED AT RECEPTIONS

Parker Currier, Alderman G. W. Brown; Mr. Justice Byrne. Arrives At Noon

The Governor General will arrive on the C. N. R. train tomorrow shortly after ten o'clock, and will be escorted to the City Hall, where His Worship Mayor Clark and members of the city council will greet him. Mayor Clark will be one of those to greet His Excellency at the station, and later will deliver the city's address of welcome. The address and reply of His Excellency will be printed in tomorrow's issue of the Mail.

Following the activities at the City Hall, Lord Bessborough and his aides will be driven to the Queen Hotel where at once o'clock luncheon will be served. This will end the city's participation in the welcoming of the new Governor General on his first official visit to the capital of New Brunswick.

N. B. government officials will meet His Excellency at the train, and will escort him by car through the city tomorrow afternoon. He will be shown the many public buildings, and later in the afternoon will be taken to the University of New Brunswick. At five o'clock he will take tea with Premier C. D. Richards and Mrs. Richards at their home in Charlotte Street.

The government will hold a reception at the Parliament Buildings in the evening and dinner will be served at the Barker House. It will be one of the busiest days His Excellency has experienced since entering the province.

First Hunters

Glenroy W. Scotland and party from Keene, N. H., arrived in the city today at noon and registered at the Queen hotel. The party will go into the woods on Thursday to hunt, the hunting season opening on that day. They will spend the next two weeks in the woods. Incidentally, it is probably the first hunting party of the season to New Brunswick.

MINERS' STRIKE AT GLACE BAY IS PROBABLE

Glance Bay, N. S., Sept. 27—The possibility that the strike of 900 miners at Florence Colliery may grow into a general walkout affecting 12,000 men throughout United Mine Workers District 26, was emphasized today at committees from the Florence local addressed special meetings of other local unions in the district.

At Florence they reported back to their striking fellow-unionists that other locals were "with them to a man" in their demand that Matthew Smith, an overman in Florence Colliery should be removed before work is resumed. Tomorrow afternoon the strikers will hold a meeting to decide what further steps to take.

Parade on Sunday

About one hundred and fifty Sons and Daughters of England paraded from their hall in Carleton Street to the Christchurch Parish Church on Sunday, to partake in the annual service. The York Regiment band headed the procession, conducted by Ernest Beateay, the bandmaster. Rev. A. F. Bate, pastor of the Parish church, was the speaker for the occasion. Sons of England visitors from Saint John, Springhill, N. S., and Amherst, N. S., and Moncton were present. Rev. A. F. Bate is the chaplain of the order.

Meet Tomorrow

Steps for the reorganization of the Provincial football league, which has been in operation for the past few years, will be taken tomorrow afternoon, when moguls from Saint John, Moncton and this city will meet at the Barker House for the first meeting. Claude McDonald, and W. E. Vaughan will be the local representatives.

Providence, Sept. 28—Perhaps a swallow will swim to the Antarctic. Purchase of the palatial yacht Hironelle (French for swallow) is being considered by Rear Admiral Byrd. It was once owned by the Prince of Monaco.

JACK FROST SCORES FIRST K.O. OF SEASON

Bensenville, Ill., Sept. 28— Jack Frost is on the job.

He was standing in front of a filling station when three men attempted to hold him up. He seized two of them and knocked their heads together. Then he slapped the third one down.

After the trio had been taken to jail, they became curious and asked the jailer who was the stranger with the quick fists.

"Oh, that fellow," said the keeper of the lockup, "is Jack Frost. He's the chief of police in this town."

Fine Show at Gaiety

"BOUGHT" is the show at the Gaiety for Monday and Tuesday, with Constance Bennett the featured player. Miss Bennett's handling of her role is a pleasure to watch. You know you shouldn't have any sympathy with a snooty little social climber like that, but you have despite yourself. Marriage seems to have made a big improvement in the work of Ben Lyon, the recent young father. His Nick Amory is a most likable youth. And Richard Bennett, as the father hiding his paternal love under an alias, gives a touching piece of work. A Sound News and a short Comedy are also on the bill.

Interesting Things

The most interesting thing he saw during his vacation trip, Joe Schafer says, was the 40-foot tide in the Bay of Fundy. And a sign in Nova Scotia: "Smith & Daughter, Furriers."—Tledo Blade.

FORMER CO-ED RUNS FATHER'S BIG RANCH

King City, Calif., Sept. 28—Six years ago Dorothy Barbree was graduated from the University of California and decided she wanted to be a ranch manager.

Today she's boss of her father's Monterey County ranch, riding range with her fifteen cowboys, and leads them to every part of the 500-acre ranch.

She's tired when she gets home at night, but there are reports to be made out and sent to her father, J. M. Barbree, who is running a 750,000-acre stock ranch in Mexico.

Miss Barbree was an honor student at the university and vice-president of her senior class. She was house manager of her sorority and secretary-treasurer of the student body.

Following her graduation her flair for management inspired her request that her father turn over the ranch to her. She had been an accomplished rider before attending college.

Now she's only twenty-four, but all hands "reckon she sure knows how to run the ranch."
