OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

LIGHT COLORED HOSIERY.

There is wisdom in wearing white or light colored stockings apart from the reason of the dye scarcity. Now that shoes are extra high one can wear white or light stockings without having them show, and in fact so familiar have stockings other than black become that there is no reason we should not wear them any way.

Light stockings, especially white, wear better on account of the absence of the chemicals of the dye. Besides white stockings can be washed cleaner.

If you must wear the cheaper sort of stockings, there is no comparison between the cheap black stocking and a white stocking at the same price. The white one at the price is both more durable and feels better to the skin.

Few persons realize how important it is to see that stockings fit perfectly. It is in fact, as important as to see that shoes fit well, many feet ills result from stockings that are too tight or stockings that are creased and wrinkled. Not only must the stocking be of the right length, but it must also be of the right width.

THINGS TO REMEMBER.

To save the labor of scrubbing table tops after the preparation of a meal, or after cleaning silver, spread several thicknesses of newspaper over the table.

When giving sticky medicines to children, heat the spoon by dipping it for a moment in hot water, then pour in the medicine and it will slip easily from the spoon.

Starch should be mixed in a scrupulously clean pan. Pour on sufficient cold water to mix it into a smooth thick paste, then add the boiling water, stirring briskly all the time, until the starch is cooked.

THE WRONG MACHINE

They were speaking of business men who marry their typewriters the other evening when this appropriate little story was told by Charles Hartfield, the California rainmaker.

Some time ago a prosperous merchant who married his stenographer went to his room to dress for a lodge entertainment. A few minutes later he was heard calling from the head of the stairs.

"Gladys dear," said hubby in a kind and gentle voice, "can you come here just a moment?"

"I suppose I can," reluctantly replied Gladys dear, who was reading an interesting novel. "What do you want?"

"It is this shirt," answered hubby, holding the garment in his hand. "It is a little bit ripped and I want to wear it to the lodge tonight. Can't you sew it up for me?" "Of course I can't," was the prompt rejoinder of wife. "I'll get Jane to do it. You seem to forget that you married a typewriter, not a sewing machine."

THERE WAS A REASON

Congressman John W. Langley, of Kentucky, told this little story at a dinner the other night when reference was made to the great reasoning power that occasionally develops in the juvenile head.

One afternoon during the autumn season Tommy went with his father to visit a farmer friend, and in going through one of the barns they passed a basket of beautiful chestnuts.

"Want some chestnuts, boy?" said the kind farmer, addressing Tommy. Just dig it there and take a handful."

Tommy looked wishfully but hesitated, whereupon the farmer reached over and placed a handful of the nuts in the boy's cap.

"Tommy," said the fond father on the homeward trip, "why didn't you take those chestnuts yourself instead of letting Mr. Jones hand them to you?"

"Because," was the prompt rejoinder of Tommy, "his hand is a whole lot bigger than mine."

A countryman presented himself at the clerk's desk in a hotel and, after having a room assigned to him, inquired what hours meals were served.

"Breakfast from 7 to 11, luncheon from 11 to 3, dinner from 3 to 8, supper 8 to 11," recited the clerk, glibly.

"Good gracious!" ejaculated the countryman with bulging eyes. "When am I a-goin' to git time to see the town?"
