

Felt Tired Out All Day Could Not Sleep at Night

Price 50c a box

Mrs. Aldamond Lalonde, 2481 St. James St., Montreal, Que., writes:—"After a spell of the grippe I was left very nervous, and felt drowsy and tired out all day, and could not sleep at night. I was also troubled with my heart and did not feel at all like working. I was told about Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and after taking four boxes I was completely relieved of my trouble, and can recommend your Pills to everyone."

Sold at all drug and general stores, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Ltd., Toronto, Ont.

NEW HALF-PIECE SUITS ARE NOW READY FOR THE BEACHES

(New York Sun)

The couturiers and manufacturers of the 1931 model feminine bathing suit again have achieved the impossible it seems. Advance showings of the flamboyant new creation are on view at the automobile, radio, motor boat, poultry and dog shows and in exclusive news startle shots from Palm Beach and Miami.

Society and its 40,000,000 imitators, it develops, will disport its feminine self upon a thousand and one beaches this season in a creation that can be known as the half-piece suit.

No, there is a bit more to its fabric than Gertrude Ederle's grease-paint but little more than a good sized thimble-ful.

The half-piece bathing suit, let it be explained for the no longer startled populace, is a mathematical masterpiece in the realms of subtraction.

As displayed at all the very best fashion shows—and on almost every other possible occasion, including the Beaux Art ball and simple apartment parties—the costume begins about here, runs a very brief, shrieking course to about here, veering hence in a generally southwesterly direction to somewhere about there. It is bound in red velvet or orange worsted or blue velour and consists, like San Marino, mostly of boundary.

The new style suits which are slightly less cumbersome than the daintiest pocket kerchiefs and a bit more gaudy than the twenty-four sheets requesting kindness to your good old throat, may be carried in the purse without crowding the nickels the subway's going to get or the powder that your nose knows.

Various titles with names seductive to Old Sol to impart his violet rays of health to the feminine who inhabits the garment so slightly, the new suits already have been adopted as standard equipment at local beaches which follow the lead of Florida in most everything, including building booms, fresh water pools at the salt water's edge and orange drinks.

CANADIAN PARLIAMENTARY RECORDS FOR THE YEAR 1867 SHOW INTERESTING ITEMS

Ottawa, Ontario—If you'd like an hour of good, clean, innocent fun, get a copy of the statutes of Canada for 1867-8, when Queen Victoria ruled over England, and compare the Canadian government's appropriation for that fiscal year with the appropriations brought before the government in 1930.

The first thing you'll discover is that in 1867-8, $7,502,874.04 was set aside for the running of the country's affairs and last year they had a hard time getting along on $234,229,125.46.

Oyster culture continues to be one of the minor expenditures of the dominion, starting with $1,000, in 1867, and last year reaching the sum of $15,000. Fisheries cost the country $38,000 in 1867, and an expenditure of over $2,250,000 last year. Did you know that $50,000 of it was for the destruction of hair seals in tidal waters. And $31,500 to provide for an investigation into the life history of the Pacific halibut?

Some day it would be interesting to tabulate how much money Rideau Hall has cost Canada. Away back in 1867 it started with $60,000 for the purchase of the property and furniture. Last year $79,000 was appropriated for maintenance, fuel, light, etc.

Lighthouses apparently don't look after themselves. In 1867 Quebec Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, and Montreal beacon lights cost $192,000 and last year over $3,000,000, of which $2,500,000 was for "construction, maintenance and supervision of aids to navigation, including salaries and allowances to light keepers."

There must be a lot more interest shown in Canada's Indians since 1867, when they only cost the government $8,400. Last year they cost us over $5,000,000, nearly half of which was for education and the construction of Indian schools.

$3,000,000 For "Mounties"

Back in 1867 there doesn't appear to have been any Royal Canadian Mounted Police. Last year they cost the country over $3,000,000, $72.50 which compensated Fred Schmidt, Fisher Branch, Man., "for disturbance of his bee cellar during the course of a search at his premises by the R. C. M. P."

The "expense sheet" of 1867 for militia and gunboats contains some interesting items. For instance, $180,000 was for "payment for stores furnished by the imperial government before July, 1, 1867". Eighteen thousand dollars paid for salaries to volunteers for Dominion Day review. For 3,000,000 rounds of balls ammunition for the new Snider Enfields $72,000 was blown up in smoke. And $25,000 paid for "gunboat service, which apparently was the Canadian navy or something."

Last year about $14,000,000 was set aside for national defence. Of this $3,500,000 was for the Royal Canadian Navy and $500 "for compassionate allowance to Joseph Thompson for disability in the Red River rebellion, 1870."

An item of $42,000,000 in last year's appropriations for "pensions" (European war and active militia) brought the total pensions bill to over $42,500,000. The annuities list included $7,500 for Dr. F. G. Banting and $5,000 for Dr. Charles E. Saunders. In 1867 the total pensions list didn't exceed much more than $25,000. Most of it was for "new militia pensions."

Immigration problems couldn't have been very serious in the days of Confederation. Only $60,000 was appropriated for salaries and contingencies of the immigration department expenses at quarantine, Quebec, Halifax and St. John. But last year! Over $1,000,000 for services. Another $1,000,000 for general expenses and upkeep for hostels $500,000 toward the empire settlement scheme, $62,000 for Chinese immigration, and $4,000 toward the relief of distressed Canadians outside of Canada—a total of nearly $3,000,000. And above this was another $2,000,000 for soldier and general land settlement, something that our 1867 government didn't have to worry much about.

As shown in the leading feminine shops, the new plus ultra of the suits are executed in a non-shrinkable silk, a favorite fabric for those who go down to the sea to swim, and in other more decorative and more shrinkable cloths for mere beach lounging.

Milady is also using her pajamas almost to extremes upon the beaches of the South, style reporters tell us. She motors golf teas, breakfasts, plays at tennis and polo and archery in her erstwhile retiring pajamas. And on the beach she wears nothing else. That in during sunning period. There are no cases on record yet where the dainty lounge silks met the harsh sea water in daylight combat with the turf.

Fifty descendants of Pope, Coleridge and other writers, who were the guests of the Poesy Society in London recently, disclosed that they never had written any verses. Probably the main reason they were invited to dinner.

Perhaps the basic reason for women forsaking home and household duties for business is that she gets discouraged answering the doorbell.

SEES WOMEN'S POLITICAL GAIN IN FUTURE

Buffalo, Feb. 21—The modern woman, in the opinion of Madame Ernestine Schumann-Heink, "has no heart."

The famed diva, who came to Buffalo for a radio performance last night, is the mother of eight children and to her "motherhood is the most sacred thing in the world."

"But the modern woman has no heart," she added. "Motherhood will not improve her art, if she has talent, because she does not feel the great sacred emotion. All that is important in her life is the lipstick, jazz and bridge. She does not want children."

"Modern woman never will accomplish anything toward world peace by conferences. Let them have good, warm meals ready for their husbands when they come home tired from a day's business. Tell the women to build homes and raise their children."

CINCINNATI FANS FIND LITTLE CAUSE FOR GLEE

Cincinnati, Feb. 21—Following an old Cincinnati custom all the reserved seats for the opening game of the National League season in this man's college have been sold, but the fans refuse to get hot and bothered over what the future holds for Dan Howley and his merry men. The famous David Harum of baseball, namely the well-known Mister Howley, has accomplished little if anything in the way of trades to bolster the weakest club in the league last season. As a matter of fact, he's got rid of several players, who helped the club last season. One of them is Johnny Gooch, a pretty fair country catcher who has been sold down the river to Baltimore for a kid outfielder. Howley's pitching staff will be comprised of Fred "Red" Lucas, Larry Benton, Ray Kolp, Epp Rixey, Benny Frey, Bob Ash and Si Johnson. Outside of Lucas and Frey, it looks like a good batting practice corps.

Our Millionaires finished up the season like thirty cents.

Sussex GINGER ALE

THE clear sparkle of amber beauty that one sees in the depths of Sussex Ginger Ale comes from the Sussex Mineral Spring (government tested for purity), which supplies the artesian well water used in this new, better Ginger Ale.

Sip it... note the refreshing glow... the invigorating tang... the result of combining fruit juices, and ginger root with just sufficient carbonization to make it "lively". Your grocer has it... order a case today... always chill before serving.
