ZIGZAG LONDON

Many of the winter coats in London show a remarkable amount of tailored stitching on zigzag, diagonal lines. One type has zigzag stitching from shoulder to hips in back and a dress designed for wear beneath it has similar zigzag lines from shoulder to hip in front.

MY NEIGHBOR SAYS

Brass of any kind may be thoroughly cleaned by scrubbing with kerosene.

If too much blueing has been put into rinsing water add a little ammonia.

Always allow mud spots to dry and then they can be quickly brushed or rubbed off without leaving any stain.

When placing dishes on the ice put a rubber ring from a fruit jar under the dish. The ring will adhere to both ice and dish.

Whitewash walls may be easily papered if they are first washed with strong vinegar. The acid in the vinegar will attack the lime, making a rough surface to which the paper will adhere.

Adhesive tape may be easily removed from the skin if softened with benzine. Saturate a sponge with benzine, wash the tape with it and it can be pulled off without any trouble.

You can wash five windows in the same length of time it takes to wash one in the usual way, if you simply wet chamols in a quart of tepid water to which a tablespoonful of ammonia has been added. Wring out the chamols and rub the window. It needs no drying. The same treatment may be applied to mirrors and picture glass.

THE DYING YEAR

The year is slowly dying.
All around
The fading leaves lie scattered
On the ground.
And, rustling softly as they fall,
They sadly whisper, one and all,
"The year is dying."

With garlands red and golden
'Round it hung,
The flaming robe of autumn
Wide is flung.
O'er field and woodland, hill and dale,
Its witching beauty tells the tale,
"The year is dying."

The glorious autumn sunset
Tints the sky
With radiant hues, enchanting
To the eye.
But as we watch the sunset glow
Fade slowly, in our hearts we know
The year is dying.

RAPHAEL, ENGLAND'S NOTED ASTROLOGER FORECASTS THE EVENTS OF THE NEW YEAR

(New York Sun)

The 1932 Almanac of Raphael, England's foremost astrologer, has just reached this city, containing his prediction for the next year for the entire civilized world. This is the 112th issue of this publication, which was first published in London by the famous Raphael. It is widely read, having a circulation on the Continent of more than a million copies, and nearly 500,000 in America.

Referring to the United States, Raphael says that in January the influence of Saturn and Mars will strike with much destructive force the cities of Chicago, Detroit and the Great Lakes districts. Astounding developments of gigantic corruption will mark the cities of this area, and it will be found that the underworld has actually captured the seat of the very highest point of authority.

In February Raphael sees a boom on the stock market and a rapid spread of a spirit of pleasure. He predicts a gradually rising market from February to May.

Two pages of the Almanac are devoted to a horoscope of President Hoover. He says: "He is destined to rise to a phenomenal power and position. The president is a man of high ideal; but he will experience much trouble during 1932. There will be big split and revolution among the members of the Senate.

"Corruption within the office of the government will lead the President in to an almost impossible political position. Politically, he will find that his nearest, best and most powerful friends will waver, become panicky and break away from him at the most critical moments.

"Saturn gives the President great powers of generalship, and indicates that he is too straight for his enemies to be able to trap. The indications are not favorable for his re-election to the Presidency in 1932. He will be hard pressed by his political enemies, who will strive to the utmost to terminate his public life and career."

Regarding Great Britain Raphael sees an improvement in home trade, but trouble with France is indicated because of a new tariff policy. India also will cause much trouble.

"There will be an open revolution against England," he says. "India is entering a period of misfortune and anarchy, and will prove the most awe-inspiring problem of the year."

Earthquakes are predicted for California and Oregon, and startling and important news will come from Yucatan, Nicaragua and Honduras. Germany and Central Europe will have improved trade conditions, but the old militaristic spirit of Prussia will come to the fore by an overthrow of the present government.

"A fish ate the bait right off my hook this morning."
"Cheer up. He'll be all the bigger when you do catch him."
