HUNS MADE FIERCE ATTACK ON VILLAGE OF VAUX

Paris, April 2—Four fresh brigades participated in the German attack which ended in the occupation of the village of Vaux, to the northeast of Verdun, says an eye-witness of the battle.

The assault began with a night attack, which is becoming more and more preferred by the Germans. All Friday evening the village and its surroundings were copiously shelled.

The attack began from the north at three o'clock in the morning by a brigade debouching from trenches on the hillside east of Fort Douaumont, and advancing as far as the railroad line in front of the advanced French position, where it was checked by the French infantry and a barring fire which was so intense that the assailants were unable to hold the ground. They retired to their trenches much depleted in numbers.

It was a fresh brigade which made the second attack, towards five o'clock in the morning. It came from the east with an abundant supply of powerful grenades that demolished the houses occupied by the defenders of the town. Though partly buried under the ruins the French stuck stubbornly to their posts, which they ceded only step by step, and inflicted severe losses on the attacking force.

With the houses demolished by grenades and shells, there remained no reason for maintaining the position, and the French were ordered to retire on positions prepared further to the west. The detachment still maintained a galling fire as it went back slowly and in good order, a curtain of French shell fire kept the Germans from pursuing.

After this partial success, the Germans tried to profit from their new position to overwhelm the French position around Douaumont. About two o'clock Saturday afternoon they endeavored to advance along a road bordering a ravine and running up toward the hamlet of Caillette, near Fort Douaumont.

Again it was a fresh brigade, the third engaged since the evening before, that attacked the French lines of defence, but this time they were unable to advance at any point. The attacking column was stopped at a point where it was exposed to a sacking shell fire, which decimated it. The survivors gave way to fourth fresh brigade, which charged courageously but without success.

The result of the attack, lasting twelve hours by forty thousand men, was limited to the occupation of the ruins of the village of Vaux.

HOWARD W. SHAW DIED SUDDENLY

Farmer Resident of Hawkshaw Passed Away in New York—Was Well Known Here.

Many people in Fredericton and York county will learn with deep regret of the death at his home at Riverside Drive, New York, on Saturday afternoon, of Mr. Howard W. Shaw, for seventeen years a resident of Hawkshaw. The sad announcement was embodied in a telegram received by his brother-in-law, Mr. LeBaron R. Bull, on Sunday morning.

No particulars were given other than the statement that he has passed away suddenly. It is presumed that heart trouble was the cause of his death. Mr. Shaw was a native of Montreal and for some years was prominent in connection with the leather trade of Canada. He operated a large tannery at Hawkshaw for seventeen years, closing it down about eight years ago when the supply of hemlock bark gave out. He then removed to Long Island, N.Y., where he had large interests in real estate. He was in Germany with his family when the war broke out and had difficulty in getting out of the country. He arrived in New York four months ago from England and was preparing to remove to Toronto with his family. He was a large stockholder in the Anglo-Canadian Leather Company, with which his father and brother are connected. He is survived by a widow, formerly Miss Josephine Bull of Woodstock, neice of Nelson W. Brown of Southampton, one daughter, Irma, and one son, Ralph, who is in France with the Canadian Expeditionary Force. LeBaron Bull left this morning for New York to attend the funeral.

HELD ON CHARGE OF ASSAULTING HIS WIFE

Charles Stennick of Geary, was arrested yesterday at a local hotel on the charge of assault upon his wife. He appeared before Sitting Magistrate McCready this morning and was remanded until Friday. Mr. C. D. Richards appeared on behalf of the defendant and Mr. R. B. Hanson for the prosecution.

Mrs. Stennick has two sisters living here and another young woman who is her cousin also lives here. Her sisters went to see her yesterday and say she told them of continued ill-treatment, which culminated in a beating on Saturday after her arrival at the hotel. The most remarkable feature of the story is that the defendant compelled his wife to leave his room and to spend Saturday night in the room of a man who was a guest at the hotel. There is said to be corroboration of this. The defendant is a middle-aged man and his wife is about eighteen. They were married last summer. Mrs. Stennick was formerly a Miss Grass.

MARRIED IN PROVIDENCE.

Miss Ethel M. Hanson of Fredericton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Hanson, and Charles N. Robins of Providence, Rhode Island, were married in New York Saturday, April 1. They will reside in Providence. Mr. Robins has lately fallen heir to part of his mother's large estate.

BANKER PAYS TRIBUTE TO LATE DONALD FRASER

Funeral Will Take Place at Three O'clock Tuesday Afternoon—Toronto Clergyman to Attend

The announcement of the death of Mr. Donald Fraser, made in these columns on Saturday, was received on all sides with expressions of profound regret. It is felt that by his death New Brunswick has lost one of its foremost citizens, a man who gave much employment to labor and had been instrumental in building up one of the largest manufacturing businesses in Eastern Canada.

It is announced that the funeral will take place at three o'clock tomorrow (Tuesday) afternoon, from the homestead on Woodstock Road. Rev. Dr. W. H. Smith of St. Paul's church, will conduct the service and will be assisted by Rev. John McP. Scott, pastor of St. John's church, Toronto, and a close personal friend of the deceased, who is coming here especially for the funeral. A quartet from St. Paul's church will render appropriate hymns and interment will be made in the family lot in the rural cemetery. The employees of Fraser Limited will walk in a body in the procession and there will be delegations from St. Andrew's Society and the session of St. Paul's church.

A Banker's Tribute.

Mr. G. A. Taylor, manager of the Fredericton branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, in an interview with The Mail this morning, spoke very feelingly of the late Mr. Fraser. He said in part:

"My acquaintance with Mr. Fraser dates back to the year 1891. I was then manager of the Merchants Bank of Halifax (now the Royal Bank) at Woodstock. Mr. Fraser was operating a saw mill at River du Chute and as our bank was handling his account we saw each other quite frequently. I visited his home at River du Chute on several occasions with members of my family and we were always treated with the greatest kindness (by Mr. and Mrs. Fraser). I want to say without the slightest hesitation that Mr. Fraser was one of the finest characters I ever knew. He was always a hard worker and believed that everybody who was around him should work. I have watched the business which he founded grow to enormous proportions and have always admired the genius and organizing ability of the man.

"Mr. Fraser was a typical Scotchman and embodied in his makeup the very best that is found in Scottish character. He was shrewd in all business transactions, his methods were absolutely honorable and trustworthy and his word could always be relied upon. He carried on business through our bank for many years and our head office had the very highest regard for him and the greatest confidence in his ability. This was particularly true of the late Mr. Thomas E. Kenny, for many years president of the bank.

"By the death of Mr. Fraser I have lost a warm personal friend and Eastern Canada has lost one of its greatest industrial leaders."
