REMEMBRANCE DAY

Tomorrow is Remembrance Day, created by Act of Parliament, and it is a day to be Remembered. Thirteen years ago, an armistice was declared which brought to a close the most terrible war in the world's history, a war which cost billions in treasure and millions of valuable lives, a war which involved more than one-half of the human race, and a war from which the world has not yet recovered.

The Parliament of Canada did right in separating Armistice Day from Thanksgiving Day and the title of Remembrance Day bestowed on the new holiday was well chosen.

Citizens who have not yet reached middle life will recall the nerve-racking days of the early part of August, 1914, when hell broke loose in Europe. They will also recall the awful events of the four and one-half years that followed, and in many thousands of Canadian homes there is good reason to remember them.

It is not necessary to say that Canada did her part nobly in the Great War, and struck a telling blow on behalf of liberty and civilization. When the call to arms came nearly half a million young Canadians, unskilled in the art of war, but full of enterprise, courage and determination, rallied to the colors and in due time were transported to the other side of the Atlantic. On the battlefields of France and Flanders they fought bravely, and bore their full share of the battle's brunt and helped to achieve the great victory won by the Allied armies for the cause of right. When shall their glory fade? Never, as long as Canada remains on the map. All honor to the noble sons of Canada who helped make the world safe for democracy and all honor to the memory of their gallant comrades who now sleep "in Flanders field where poppies grow beneath the crosses row on row."

Remembrance Day should be a day of dedication, a day when men and women should commit themselves anew to the great unfinished task of world redemption.

"Nay (since these died before their task was finished), Attempt new heights, bring even their dreams to birth"

Build us that better world, O, not diminished

By one true splendor that they planned on earth.

And that's not done by sword, or tongue, or pen.

There's but one way. God makes us better men."

MAY HEAT SIDEWALKS

The city council of Madrid, Spain, is considering a plan to heat the city's sidewalks with electricity this coming winter to make them more comfortable for the city's poor to sleep on. A sidewalk, even if nice and warm, is not much of a bed. You can't draw it up over you and you can't dig your toes under it. There are regular bed mattresses that are as hard as concrete sidewalks, every person who has traveled or gone visiting will recollect but you can flop a mattress over and lie on the other side when it gets too hard. You can't do that with a sidewalk.

As a gesture to please the Spanish proletariat this idea of hot sidewalks in winter is not so bad. It shows that even in Spain the powers-that-be are waking to a realization that you can't leave one section of the populace to sleep outdoors on a cold slab winter nights, while the rest of the people, snug in bed, rest in complete security of their power and possessions.

What with worry and one factor or another, the wonder is there aren't more platinum blonds than there are, even.

"The next time you breathe," says Prof. Compton, of Chicago University, "you will probably inhale half a dozen molecules of air that left Caesar's lungs with his dying gasp. 'Et tu, Brute.'" Only last night I felt uneasy about that, and got up and closed the window.

"Reads his own obituary in morning paper as he has his breakfast." Headline. The man referred to is an 84 year old resident of California. We cannot urge him too strongly not to believe everything he reads in the papers.

A Hollywood actress, suing another to whom she leased her home, says hundreds of empty bottles were strewn about the premises. It cuts into a busy person's time going through hundreds of bottles to see if they are empty.

In regard to the demand of the Pottawatomie Indians that they be given back the site of Chicago—it is said that the teachers will all be for it, if the Indians will pay them in good sound wampum instead of scrip.

The trouble between Japan and China arose over a railroad but not—as you might assume from conditions here—when each tried to slip away and leave it on the other's hands.

Dora, trying to follow the unrest in the Far East, is having the usual trouble. It seems the may of Manchuria in her atlas doesn't show Status-Quo.

The town barber in Calhoun, Mo. has only just got out the checker board and washed the checkers. Winter everywhere, it seems, has been late setting in.

THROUGH OUR SIEVE

A political detour is what the politician turns onto after he is elected.

Possibly, if the calendar is ever changed, they may name the thirteenth month after the oyster.

Far as known the former kaiser hasn't contributed a cent toward relief of the country he led into war.

Adam couldn't claim he ate the apple to keep the doctor away, so he shifted the responsibility to Eve.

Always, it is well to remember that it may take a multitude of tomorrows to right one wrong done today.

Gandhi is guided by an inner voice. All right in his job, but it wouldn't work if he were running an electric drill.

To maintain that majorities are invariably wrong is a slam at government of the people, by the people, for the people.

Whether it is a prize fighter delivering a wallop or a coloratura soprano contributing a solo Graham McNamee always seems excited.

You hear of so many things the world needs, forgetting that the world's needs are the people's wants. nether thought—was there ever a time when the world was without needs?

CONDITION OF OROMOCTO BOY SERIOUS TODAY

John, the five-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Codd, of Oromocto, who was struck by an automobile yesterday near his home, lies still critically ill in the Victoria Hospital today. An X-ray examination is planned for this afternoon. The child received broken bones in his left leg, and a possible fractured skull, as well as a lacerated scalp as the result of the accident.

Jumping from his father's wagon to get the mail at the post office at Oromocto yesterday, the little boy ran directly in front of an automobile driven by Fred L. Chase, commercial traveller, of Saint John. No blame is attached to Mr. Chase by the Provincial Police who investigated the case. The driver of the car turned his vehicle into a nearby field in an effort to avoid hitting the boy, but it was of no avail.

What ever became of theme songs?

Had Good Night

The many friends of Sheriff J. B. Hawthorne, will be pleased to learn that he passed a comfortable night and it is believed that his condition today shows some improvement. Few citizens of Fredericton are more widely known and possess so many staunch friends throughout the rural districts as does Sheriff Hawthorne. Many anxious enquiries as to his condition come in daily and people are earnestly hoping that his useful life will be spared.

TO RE-ORGANIZE CHINESE GOV'T

Tokio, Nov. 10—A plan to reorganize the National government of China and make Manchuria a neutral zone under protection of Japan, was reported today in a government announcement.

The announcement said Japanese diplomats had been negotiating with Eugene Chen, leader of the Independent Cantonese regime in China.

DIED

COLLINGS:—Passed away, Nov. 10th. Charles V. Collings, aged 82 years, at his home in Marysville.

Funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock with service at the late home conducted by Rev. E. J. McWilliams. Interment will be made in the Baptist Cemetery at Marysville.

PAIN like INDIGESTION

WHAT many call indigestion is very often nothing but excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food ours. You feel distress when you leave the table. Two hours later there is often acute pain. But you need not suffer when you know what to do. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. The best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. The stomach is soothed. All sourness and gas is dispelled. The entire digestive tract is sweetened by Magnesia in this form. Phillips' Milk of Magnesia is

CLIMBS TREES, WINKS AND BATHES TOO

New York, Nov. 10—Periophthalmus Scheerost lives in the Malay jungles. Its name means, "I can do it." It climbs up in a tree and winks its eye. Then it goes down to the edge of a pool and takes a shower bath by flipping water over its back.

All of which is very remarkable, Carveth Wells, explorer, says, when you learn that Scheerost is a fish; in fact, the only fish that can wink.
