'Fresh from the gardens'

"Women who might make good mechanics are shunted into cooking and sewing," says Amelia Earhart. Time "Just like getting money from home," may bring the vision of a beautiful angel wiping her grimy hands on a pair of overalls.

Because of stringent times the thrill-sensation expressed in the phrase, "Just like getting money from home," is awaiting revival. Maybe October will give us a better break as to fine weather.

HIS GRACE ARCHBISHOP CASEY, ONCE PASTOR OF ST. DUNSTAN'S, PASSES AWAY IN THE WEST

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 5—Known throughout Canada and for more than 19 years head of one of the largest Roman Catholic districts in the Dominion, Most Rev. Timothy Casey, D. D., Archbishop of Vancouver and Metropolitan of British Columbia, died here today. He was 70 years old.

Archbishop Casey died from an ailment which he contracted more than 10 years ago, and which he had since been fighting. In 1920 he suffered a severe throat infection and though he recovered so far as to be able to carry on his work for a time he did not completely recover.

Two months ago he was forced to forego his active duties and enter hospital. On Sunday night he took a turn for the worse and failed to rally.

The Catholic leader retained consciousness until 15 minutes before his death.

Patriot, Administrator

Archbishop Casey was well known not only on the Pacific Coast but also along the Canadian Atlantic seaboard, where he was first consecrated priest and bishop. A churchman of great personal sanctity and broad culture, he was also a patriot and administrator. He served his Church as Bishop and later as Archbishop for more than a quarter of a century.

Funeral Thursday

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday morning by Coadutor Archbishop William Mark Duke, of Vancouver. The sermon will be preached by Archbishop O'Leary of Edmonton.

Following the death of Archbishop Casey, Coadutor Archbishop Duke becomes Archbishop of the diocese by right of succession.

In the field of art he was known as a collector of whose museum contained some of the finest works of the Italian masters in Canada. The prize of his collection was the only known authentic portrait of Thomas Moore, valued at $300,000.

Born at Flume Ridge, near St. Stephen, N. B., Feb. 20, 1862, he was educated at the St. Stephen Grammar school, later attending St. Joseph's College, Memramcook, N. B. He completed his theological studies at Laval University.

Ordained in 1886

Ordination followed in 1886 and Rev. Father Casey's first appointment was a curate to the Fredericton parish. Later he was appointed to Saint John, raised to the dignity of Chancellor of the New Brunswick diocese, and when the late Bishop Sweeney became ill he was named Bishop of the Utine in 1889 and coadjutor to His Grace. The death of Bishop Sweeney occurred in 1900 and Most Rev. Dr. Casey succeeded him.

In 1905 the new bishop made his first visit to Rome and the Holy Land, and during that trip acquired many of his art treasures. In 1910 he was honored by being asked to give the principal sermon at the Eucharistic Congress held at Montreal that year.

When Archbishop Neil McNeil was transferred from Vancouver to Toronto in 1912, the Vatican appointed Bishop Casey as his successor. The new Archbishop appointed new priests to open up sparsely settled districts, encouraged Catholic welfare agencies, fostered educational institutions and extended diocesan activities. He discouraged all laxity and insisted on rigid observance of Church regulations.

During the World War, he several times preached sermons encouraging his people to aid the Empire in its struggle, and aided in every way possible the Allied cause.

His Successor

In 1920 he suffered a severe illness from which he never fully recovered and from that time his work was carried on in the face of handicap. On August 30, 1928, Most Rev. William Mark Duke, formerly parish priest at Saint John, was appointed Titular Archbishop of Fasix and coadjutor to His Grace with right of succession. Much of the administrative work was turned over to the Coadutor, but Archbishop Casey remained head of the diocese.

He resided at the Archbishopal residence, 1161 Broughton street, Vancouver.

CITY COUNCIL WILL REPAIR DOAK ROAD

the opinion that many of the farms in that vicinity were being neglected on account of the pool condition of the road, and that if the "back to the farm" policy was to be followed, that work on the road was absolutely necessary.

Four Doak People

The general consensus of the delegation was that the Flanagan road should be opened up, and the Doak road repaired. It was mentioned that should the work be commenced, that lots of gravel would be handy at every half-mile mark, and other material would also be near by. The Flanagan road is about two miles in length. The people of Doak would do the work.

Ald Currier made the remark that about $700 was spent there last year in skirting, clearing and turnpiking. When questions as to the probable cost of such work, Mr. Crawford said it would be approximately $7,000 he thought. This expense would be down by the readiness of material at Doak. Ald Moses Mitchell in replying to the delegation stressed the fact that the city of Fredericton had been paying taxes for many outlying districts, and that the 1930 figures showed a shortage in the Doak taxes during the year. The reply was that if this work was done, that there would be more willingness to pay in the part of the ratepayers.

The council held the unanimous opinion that some repairs should be done on the Doak and Flanagan roads, the amount not to exceed $1,000. That the work should be done by the people of Doak was sanctioned by the members of the council.

The ostrich, it is generally held, is one of the few critters whose feathers look better on something else.

Car in Crash, Two Injured

Two local youths, Jack McCluskey, and Louis Jamieson, were slightly injured in a car crash near Petersville on Friday last, when the Durant car in which they were driving, crashed into a telephone pole and overturned, damaging it badly. McCluskey was taken to the Victoria Public Hospital here, where his injuries are being attended to. Young Jamieson escaped with a few stitches in his side. The car had only recently been purchased, according to report. McCluskey was reported to be considerably improved at the Victoria Hospital here today.

Is Improving

James Gribble, 23, of Newcastle Bridge who was seriously injured when shot in the shoulder in mistake for a deer on Saturday by William Ross, was said to be somewhat improved at the Victoria Hospital here today. Gribble suffered a deep wound in his left shoulder and neck and it was at first feared that the wound would be fatal. Meanwhile the Department of Lands and Mines are taking steps to have the hunting license of Ross cancelled. There are two many of such mistakes.

No Chancery

No Chancery Court was held this morning, due to the absence of Mr. Justice Baxter, who did not arrive from Saint John.

Municipal Election

Spirited municipal contests are taking place in four parishes of Sunbury today: Maugerville, Northfield, Blissville and Burton. There is a three-cornered fight on in each parish, with the result in doubt.

RIVAL LEADERS
SELECT HURLERS
(Special to Daily Mail)
Shibe Park, Philadelphia,
Oct. 6—Rival managers Connie Mack and Gabby Street were both puzzled today as to what hurler to start the fourth game of the 1931 World Series. Up to noon, it was believed that Mack would start his ace righthander, George Earnshaw, but there was a possibility that he may gamble with Lefty Walberg. Street will use one of three choices, Jim Lindsay or Sylvester Johnston, relief dependables, or Paul Derringer who lost the opener for the Cards.

MOUNTAIN TOWN FEELS PLENTY OF SHOCKS

Valentine, Tex., Oct. 6—This town in the Davis mountains of extreme western Texas has felt 37 earth shocks, 7 of them severe, the last month.

As a result, more than half the 620 residents are sleeping outdoors, and school classes are being held in two residences while the school is being rebuilt. Many Mexicans have left town. Others offer daily prayers at the mission for the discontinuance of the quakes.

More Rumors

It is rumored that a youthful bell boy in this city is soon to brave the tide of matrimony with a young St. John lady. Friends in the city are already congratulating the young man.
