WON'T WORK BOTH WAYS

When the learned Mr. Beers, of Yale made up forty questions with which so-called educated people may test their general information, he put in many hard ones. Not many people can answer half of them. All of which, of course, means exactly nothing. What is one man's general information is another man's useless nonsense. You may or may not happen to know the answers to Professor Beers's questions. It doesn't prove you are educated or uneducated.

When the student newspaper at Columbia university sought to get professors to try their hands at answering the question, 43 teachers refused to try. It doesn't speak well for the teachers—not because they do or do not know the answers but because they are afraid to take an examination. They delight in giving examinations, but when the same method is applied to them, they won't play. It's a rule that won't work both ways.

CHURCH AND MURDER

The interesting Dr. John Miner, professor in Johns Hopkins university, has been making inquiries into man and his ways. He finds that the more churches there are in a community, the fewer murders in the community. There is a large proportion of Roman Catholics than in the sections where there is a large proportion of Methodists and Baptists.

One suspects, however, most of the murdering is done by those not affiliated with any church.

A monument to Evangeline, heroine of Longfellow's great poem, was unveiled at Saint Martinsville, La., yesterday in the presence of a large number of people, including a delegation of Acadians from the Maritime Provinces. This is the second monument erected to the memory of Evangeline, there being another at Grand Pre, N. S. Evangeline, as is pretty well understood, existed only in the mind of the poet, Longfellow, but that really doesn't matter. He certainly created a most lovable character who has been the means of attracting many tourists to the sister province.

Dante's "Divine Comedy," picturing hell, may be produced as an amazing spectacle by Norman Geddes at the Chicago world's fair in 1933. It will be a magnificent exhibition. It is said the theatre alone will cost a quarter of a million dollars. Few believe in the old-fashioned hell, but thousands would go to see the show, rejoicing to see what their freedom of thought had finally let them escape. We know now that most hells are created by folks for their own use.

The Soviet Commissar of foreign trade has issued an order forbidding trade representatives from buying Canadian made goods. Not long ago the Canadian Government placed an embargo on Russian goods, and the Soviet action is of a retaliatory nature. Canadians are not keen to have truck or trade with Adamshad, the bear that walks like a man.

The drowning accident in the Nashwaak River on Saturday afternoon by which two lives were snuffed out is deeply deplored and there will be much sympathy felt for the victims. Only one of the two men was able to swim and it is believed that he sacrificed his life in an effort to save his companion. If so, he died the death of a hero.

If alcohol ever comes in use as a motor fuel, it is going to be bad for the oil interests. All that a farmer will need in order to manufacture fuel for his auto will be a home brew license.

There seems to be no lack of grist for the divorce mill these days. The New Brunswick divorce court opens here tomorrow with no less than sixteen cases on the docket the largest number on record.

The wise Will Durant discovers what most of us in the newspaper business have learned by experience. He says men who are elected to office are not those who have the greatest political skill.

A noted man has said that every man is a volume, if you only know how to read him. It might be a good idea to ask the ladies how to get a thorough reading—they're pretty well experienced.

A new Dictionary of Colors, contains the names of 7,000 different colors, 6,999 of which are superfluous, as a girl's eyes always have to be true, to rhyme with "you" and "true."

Nothing may be sweeter, as a writer says, than a child that is developing naturally and normally, but we've never yet seen a voluntary ear-washer under the age of twelve.

History of the 11-year-old boy's Easter suit; First night, on hanger in closet; second night, on back of chair; third night and thereafter, on floor.

Perhaps one reason for Gandhi's mental calmness is that he has no collar buttons to pursue under the bureau, dresser or bed.

It is an open question as to who suffered more, the person who underwent the operation or to the one forced to listen to every detail.

"Girls do you remember when your father used to say to us, 'That's a pretty short skirt you're wearing, Mary.'"

Many a woman who lingers in front of a shop window has merely paused to reflect.

Cost what experience may, it is much less than the upkeep of inexperience.

No girls like mother, according to child expert. Just one of those oft discovered truths.

Ex-King Alfonso says he is continuing his traditions, by Walking Spanish perhaps.

What we can't understand is why alienated affections are worth so much if they are so easily alienated.

The reason some people talk so much is that they never stop to think and never think to stop.

Until the announcement came that Henry Ford made $55,000,000 last year his recent talk about prosperity could have interpreted as overemphasis.

A new ailment is mentioned in the public prints. It is ergomania, an intense desire to work. Although knowing little about it, we suspect it comes from being exposed to pay day.
