

NEW WAREHOUSE
AT HARTLAND
SHOWS RESULTS

E. M. Taylor, of Soils and Crops Division, Paid a Visit There Saturday—400 Bushels of Grain Cleaned.

A newly established grain-cleaning warehouse at Hartland, N. B., is doing splendid work, states E. M. Taylor, of the Soils and Crops Division of the Department of Agriculture, who, with Harvey Mitchell, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, made an up-river trip on Saturday.

At present this new warehouse is operating for the services of farmers wishing to get their grain cleaned for seed purposes. About four hundred bushels of seed were cleaned on Saturday. The evidence of the value of the warehouse was shown to one farmer, said Mr. Taylor, who brought insufficient oats to sow 20 acres. It was reduced 20 per cent by cleaning, which was accounted for by removal of white oats, foreign grain, and weed seeds.

This would have been equivalent to sowing about sixteen acres to oats, four acres to weed seeds, and foreign material. The cost of cleaning seed was between fifteen and twenty cents per acre. The farmer in question thought it was worth many times that much.

PENNIAC MEN MET DEATH BY DROWNING

Canoe Upset on Saturday Night at Penniac as Two Were Fishing—Edward Wade and Geo. Moore Drowned.

Fredericton and vicinity received a terrible shock on Saturday evening, when the news spread of the double drowning which took the lives of Edward Wade, 36, and George Moore, 53, both of Penniac.

The two were fishing spring salmon at Penniac on Saturday evening at about 6:30 p.m. and it is thought that the anchor—they used a stone—was attached to too short a rope, and it overturned the canoe in the cold swollen waters of the Nashwaak. Moore, who was a good swimmer, attempted to rescue his companion, but he became entangled in the fishing line, and this together with the paralyzing effects of the frigid water, proved too much for him. Wade could not swim at all.

Recovered Sunday
The bodies of the two men were recovered on Sunday morning by Charles Fleet, of this city, who grappled for (Continued on page five.)
