THE OLD UNIVERSITY

The University of New Brunswick, one of the oldest institutions of learning in the Dominion of Canada, founded at the beginning of the nineteenth century, today graduated a class of fifty-four young men and women. While it is always possible for a young man or young woman to go through college and miss a few things in the way of knowledge there is no doubt that those who today received the coveted parchment from their alma mater have been given an excellent training and go forth well equipped to face the stern realities of life. Of the more than half a hundred graduates a large percentage have taken the arts course, and no doubt many of these will pursue further studies in larger institutions, either in Canada or the United States, but the majority who have taken degrees in applied science will engage in work of a practical nature. In many cases it may be necessary for a goodly percentage of them to go beyond the boundaries of our province in order to secure employment. This has been the case with graduates of previous years, and while it is to be deplored there does not appear at the present time to be any remedy for it. It is to be sincerely hoped, however, that many of them will elect to remain in Canada, and assist in the development of its boundless resources. The graduates of the U. N. B. are today filling positions of great importance in every province of the Dominion, and are bringing honor to old alma mater. The class which goes forth today consists of very promising material and we believe that its members will eventually make their mark, or at least they will ever strive to move onward and upward.

The University of New Brunswick has certainly made remarkable progress under the able direction of Chancellor Jones, who is one of its own graduates. In his important work he has displayed both capacity, leadership and administrative ability; he has overcome many discouragements and success has crowned his energetic efforts. There are graduates of the U. N. B. now living who can remember when the good old institution had a student body of forty and a faculty of five. During the year just closed it had upwards of three hundred and fifty students and a faculty which numbered seventeen. It is now Fredericton's largest institution of learning, having outstripped the Provincial Normal School in the number of students and teachers. Beyond question it is one of the city's greatest assets and most valuable feeders. In this connection it is most pleasing to note that in his policy of expansion which he has propounded from time to time Chancellor Jones always had the hearty support of our public bodies as well as the citizenship of Fredericton.

May the lamp of learning which the grand old University of New Brunswick has held aloft for one hundred and thirty one years never grow dim.

It is rather amusing to note a reference by the nautical editor of a Saint John newspaper to the "Schooner Marco Polo" later described as "a record breaking clipper ship." The Marco Polo was beyond a doubt the fastest sailing ship of her day in the world, and all New Brunswick is proud of her record.

The young woman who brought suit for $1,250,000 against Eugene O'Neill on a charge of plagiarism not only did not get the $1,250,000, but was directed by the court to pay $17,500 damages. Ouch!!

EARL OLDHAM
WINS MEDAL FOR ATHLETICS

A record discus throw by J. E. Anderson of Newcastle, breaking intercollegiate record set by Matheson of Mount Allison last year, featured yesterday's U. N. B. track meet. Anderson threw the discus a distance of 113 feet, seven inches, beating Matheson's mark by six inches.

Earl Oldham, of Woodstock, N. B. was announced the winner of the Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor gold medal for the best all-round athlete in the University of New Brunswick. His award came on his winning of two firsts in the meet yesterday. One in the hammer throw, and one in the shot put. Football and basketball are two of the college sports, in which Oldham has excelled during the past year, besides his impressive showing in the track meet. Oldham is six feet two and a half inches tall, and weighs in the vicinity of 225 pounds.

Hap Watson's younger brother, Mac, won the 100-yard dash handily, his time being 10 4-5 seconds. He was unable to compete in the 220 event, due to a disabled ankle. The track yesterday was slow due to the rains, but the events were run off in fairly record time, with a good sized crowd watching them in the afternoon. Jack A. Fowler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Fowler was elected captain of the track team which will take part in the intercollegiate meet within a few days at Sackville.

GIFT IS THE ONE THING RECIPIENT
CAN NOT USE

New York, May 14—William Baxter, now of Iquitos, Peru, on his first return visit to his native New York after 15 years of pioneering in South American jungles, confesses the biggest thrill did not come from the latest skyscrapers but from the gift handed him by friends.

"If there was one thing in the world I could not use down there in the interior of Peru," he remarked, "it is a cigar lighter, and that's what the boys handed me.

"I thanked them a thousand times, naturally for the kindly thought, but if I were to bring that contraption down to Iquitos I'd be lodged in durance vile, or whatever you call it. Down in Peru the Swiss Company has a monopoly on the match business and no one can bring American lighters or matches from any other country into Peru without landing in jail or paying a fine."

BLACKSNAKE
SETS OFF HEAVY
EXPLOSIVES

Franklin, Pa., May 14—A black snake several feet long, which crawled into the storehouse of a nitroglycerin company near Clintonville, set off 535 quarts of the high explosive, rocking the countryside for twenty miles and shattering scores of windows. Clintonville, three miles; Franklin, twenty miles, all felt the shock. No person was injured. The fact that the magazine was located in an isolated ravine prevented loss of life.
