A NEW RECTOR WAS INDUCTED AT GAGETOWN

Rev. H. H. Hoyt of Petitediac, Takes Over the Pastorate of Anglican Church.

Gagetown, N. B., Nov. 27—A large congregation was present in St. John's Church here Friday evening when Rev. Herbert J. Hoyt was inducted as rector of the parish. Owing to a slight indisposition, His Lordship Rt. Rev. J. A. Richardson, Bishop of Fredericton, who was to have conducted the service, was unable to be present; and Very Rev. J. H. A. Holmes, Dean of Christchurch Cathedral, Fredericton, was appointed to officiate.

Dean Holmes, speaking from the text "Let a man so account of us, as of the Ministers of Christ, and stewards of the mysteries of God", based his address on the responsibilities and opportunities of a minister's life. The church wardens, Harry W. McAllister and James W. Hamilton, handed the new rector the keys of the church and conducted him to his place at the prayer desk. The choir with Miss Grace Gilbert as organist, sang "Bowed Low in Supplication", "O Master, Let Me Walk With Thee", and "Saviour, Breathe an Evening Blessing."

Among those present was Very Rev. Scovil Neales, former dean of Fredericton, who is now residing at Gagetown.

A CANADIAN BUGLE FOUND NEAR YPRES

Ottawa, Nov. 7—Word of the discovery of an old Canadian bugle, excavated from the rubble and debris of the old front line trenches in the Ypres Salient has been received with interest by the authorities here. The bugle which it is presumed may have belonged to some unit of the 7th or 8th Canadian Infantry Brigades was unearthed near that portion of the front line between the "Loop" and the "Appendix"—trench locations between 600 and 1000 yards southeast of Hodge Chateau.

It was here that some of the bitterest fighting of the war took place in June 1916, when the Germans launched their attack against the Canadian Mounted Rifle Battalions, the Princess Patricia's and the Royal Canadian Regiment, an attack known in the parlance of the Canadian troops as the "June Show."

This relic of Canadian heroism bears the date "1914" and is stamped with the name of a Toronto firm of instrument makers.

Officials of the Dominion Archives are establishing contact with the finder, with a view of securing the "souvenir" for Canada.

HON. MR. DUPRE ADDRESSES THE MODEL ASSEMBLY

Solicitor General of Canada Was Amazed at the Serious Attitude of Sackville Gathering.

REDUCTION IN DOLE

Britain Preparing To Pioneer Child Relief Measure

Sackville, N. B., Nov. 27—"Look ahead; never forget that we must achieve peace", was the advice left with the fifth Maritime Inter-collegiate Model Assembly of the League of Nations by Hon. Maurice Dupre, solicitor general of Canada. The assembly, which opened Friday, closed yesterday.

"I am simply amazed at the serious attitude of this meeting", said Hon. Mr. Dupre. "It has been a revelation to me to see you all here taking part in such an interesting debate. I will tell the public of Canada what I have seen at Sackville."

Discussion of the Anglo-Irish question, the policy of France on armaments, and international fiscal affairs were prominent in the closing sessions yesterday, many delegates from Dalhousie, Acadia, Mount Allison, King's and the University of New Brunswick expressing the points of views of the countries they represented during the two day conference. The Sino-Japanese problem had been under review at the opening session Friday night.

Eirene Walker, Dalhousie, representing France, defended the disarmament policy of her country and stressed the necessity of security for her citizens. Ben Rogers, also of Dalhousie, declared that country "will not give up her armaments without an absolute guarantee of security."

William Smetheram (Great Britain), criticized France's attitude as "too militaristic". Margaret Leonard, Paradise, N. S., an Acadia delegate (Germany), spoke for her country in German. Roger Rand, Yarmouth (Hungary), supplying a translation.

Criticism of France's stand arose after Frank Hogan, Acadia (Finland), had presented the report of the disarmament committee, in which he referred particularly to the new French proposals for an international police force. F. S. Godfrey, of King's (Italy), introduced a disarmament resolution supporting strongly Germany's claim for arms equality, and contending that part five of the Versailles treaty was inapplicable, since other nations had failed to carry out their promises.

After the close of the sessions, Mt. Allison University entertained the delegates at a banquet. In the various votes of thanks, special credit was given Prof. W. W. DesBarres, professor of History, who had charge of arrangements for the conference. In a final word, President George J. Trueman expressed the hope that future assemblies would enjoy a similar measure of success, and that the work of the League would prosper.

Rev. Harry Manzer, Southampton, Nova Scotia, accompanied by his son, George, and friends are in the city. Mr. Manzer was to Millville to visit his mother who has been quite ill and is now somewhat better.

BRITISH OPEN DRIVE TO FEED HUNGRY BABES

'Feed the Children First'
Slogan for Winter
Months

(Special to the DAILY MAIL by the British United Press)

London, Eng., Nov. 28—The cry of "Feed the Children First" was uttered significantly here as the new slogan for more adequate unemployment relief this winter.

Many unemployed parents have been standing back doing without their dinners in order that their children might be spared from hunger. But this sort of thing must be done on a big scale this winter, it is believed, unless the national government eases up a bit on its stringent economy in respect of juvenile relief.

With the reduction of the dole benefits by ten per cent for all insured workers and even greater reductions or total disallowance, for the other jobless, the position of Britain's 2,750,000 unemployed has changed radically. Instead of comparative security, they now are confronted with the danger of starvation for the first time since the dole was established in 1911.

Child Relief Pioneer

Even as she has led the world in unemployment insurance and physical rehabilitation measures for the unemployed, Britain now is preparing to pioneer in child relief. It is something new even here and is born of the realization that while it might be impossible to save the present jobless generation from physical deterioration, the next generation must be saved from malnutrition.

Credit for the "Children First" slogan, outstanding women's leader of the Labor Party. She uttered the warning that a recrudescence of rickets is already apparent because of the consequences of the prolonged economic depression and is calling on the Labor Party to concentrate its policy "on getting the children fed."

The present allowance for a child dependent granted to an unemployed parent is two shilling (approximately 48 cents) a week.

Food Resolution

The General Purposes Committee of the Standing Joint Committee of Industrial Women's Organization have passed a resolution that regulations be framed that school meals shall not be taken into account in assessing income for the purpose of transitional benefit; that, in the absence of special circumstances, the children of those on unemployment before shall receive school meals.

FUR BUYERS ARE ACTIVE ON P. E. ISLAND

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Nov. 27—The fur season is now open, and it is a common sight to see men and women with several fox pelts over their arms, wending their way to offices hereof buyers from London, New York and Montreal. While some are sold locally, others are graded and sent to the big fur centres in Europe and England, to be sold by auction and private sale.

Cables are being received daily for pelts to be disposed of by private sale and it is stated this is the first time there has been a demand for furs in between the sales.

The market is holding at fall prices. It is uncertain as to whether this will continue, but prospects are good. Preparations are being made for the first fur auction sale ever to be held in this province.

A COLD SNAP HAS HIT THE NORTH SHORE

Campbellton, N. B., Nov. 27—The North Shore experienced today the coldest snap of the season. There were a few inches of snow on the ground and a freezing wind swept the district. This morning the Restigouche river in front of Campbellton was covered with ice from shore to shore and the ferry was frozen in at the Cross Point, Quebec, wharf, where it had been tied up for the night.

The high tide moved the ice this afternoon and there were large sheets of moving ice in the river, interrupting all navigation between both shores and forcing motorists to go 26 miles around via Matapedia, Quebec. It is impossible to cross with a boat now in the present state of the river.

At Hartland

Hartland, Carleton County, Nov. 7—A real touch of winter was felt in this vicinity, when the mercury dropped to six below zero at midnight Saturday night. The St. John river at this point has not yet frozen over, but is full of ice cakes floating down from up river points.

BANK ROBBER CAUGHT AFTER A GUN FIGHT

Looted a Branch of the Bank of Montreal at North Bay, Ont.

North Bay, Ont. Nov. 27—The most sensational gunfight this part of the north has ever seen left one policeman twice wounded tonight and an alleged bandit in hospital recovering from three bullet wounds inflicted by another officer.

Less than 10 hours after he allegedly held up the Bank of Montreal here Saturday Samuel Essa Ayoub was in Civic Hospital shot thrice by Constable John Pilgrim; and $4,830 of the $5,000 looted from the bank was recovered. Constable Joseph D. Belanger has a bullet wound in his arm and another in his abdomen, suffering in hand-to-hand grapple with the alleged bandit.

The two constables were members of a posse of six who rounded up the bandit about three miles west of Meadowside. The gunfight took place on the Canadian Pacific Railway tracks, 16 miles west of here. Jamming of Ayoub's automatic was the only thing that saved Constable Belanger's life, he said.

The posse was organized after a lone bandit had held up the staff of the Bank of Montreal at noon Saturday. Entering the bank near closing time, the man opened an account. While he was being attended to he suddenly whipped out a pair of guns, and covered the staff. Holding them helpless, he scooped up an amount estimated at $5,000 and fled.
