

CURE WAS SIMPLE, RELIEF WAS QUICK

Maple Island Lady Tells Of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

MRS. WALTER BREAR SUFFERED FROM KIDNEY TROUBLES FOR TWO YEARS, BUT FOUND RELIEF AND COMPLETE CURE IN DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Maple Island, Ont., March 27—(Special)—After suffering for two years from kidney disease Mrs. Walter Brear, an estimable lady living here, has found a complete cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"My trouble started after my baby was born," Mrs. Brear states. "My joints got stiff, I had a bitter taste in my mouth and there were dark circles under my eyes. My skin had a harsh, dry feeling and it itched and burned at night.

"I was troubled with gravel, I was often dizzy and I suffered from shortness of breath.

"I consulted a doctor, but without getting much benefit, and I was very much run down when I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. After taking two boxes I felt a lot better and eight boxes cured me completely. I would not be without Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Any disease that Dodd's Kidney Pills cure is either of the kidneys or caused by the kidneys. All of Mrs. Brear's symptoms were symptoms of kidney disease. Dodd's Kidney Pills toned up her kidneys and put them in condition to strain all the impurities out of the blood. That meant pure blood and pure blood means good health.

BUFFALO BILL SAYS VILLA IS HARD TO CATCH

Washington, March 25—Col. Wm. F. Cody, "Buffalo Bill," the oldest living American scout, believes it will be very difficult to capture Vill and a long job, too, but he thinks it will be accomplished.

"Villa is in his own country, the country he knows, and this is a great advantage to him and a disadvantage to his pursuers," said Col. Cody. "Villa is an Indian and he has the Indian's instincts and tricks. He will doubtless employ the Indian style of 'scattering' to elude our soldiers and this is in some cases, very baffling.

"One of the most difficult scouting expeditions in which I ever participated was in 1869. General Sheridan was ordered to pursue and capture Tax Bull, a Sioux Indian, who was at the head of a band of about eight hundred Indians, a mongrel set of fellows, renegades from different tribes and all lawless to the limit. They were known as 'dog soldiers,' and they had been preying upon the American settlements in Eastern Colorado for years. I presume Tall Bull and his followers had been on the warpath for fifteen years before it was finally determined to get him dead or alive. The order given, General Sheridan set out after Tall Bull. In his flight the Indian captured and took with him a number of white women. In those days the women knew something about leaving tracks. They would tie pieces of their clothing to bushes and in other ways indicate the path taken by their captors. Tall Bull used the scattering style of flight. No sooner would we come upon a camp than we found a dozen different trails. Finally, after a long chase, I discovered the print of a crooked footed horse and it always went straight on. And wish it were the signs of white women, for pieces of their garments were tied to briars. I decided that this was the trail of Tall Bull and after following it for two hundred miles, we came up with the Indian and his followers who, after scattering, had rejoined. It was on July 11, 1869, that we found them and the battle of Summit

CROTHERS HAS NO SYMPATHY WITH TECHNICAL EDUCATION

Tells Parliament That the Recommendations Made by the Royal Commission Were Impracticable and Unsatisfactory.

SIR SAM HUGHES TRAVELLING

EXPENSES RAN UP TO $16,000

A Quarter of a Million Dollars Expended on Royal Commissions and Scandal Hunters--Government Has a Surplus of Overseas Colonels.

Ottawa, March 27.—Hon. T. W. Crothers, Minister of Labor, told parliament today what he thought of the Technical Education Commission and its report. The commission, he said, was "not authorized, requested or invited to make any recommendations or express any opinions."

The scheme which it had evolved was characterized by Mr. Crothers as "elaborate but impractical and unsatisfactory." It was a commission to gather information only.

Hon. Mr. Crothers spoke his mind in placing the government veto upon a resolution introduced by Hon. Rodolph Lemieux that "measures should be taken at the earliest opportunity to give effect to the report on technical education."

Mr. Lemieux urged that a sum, to be deducted from unnecessary expenditure, should be placed in the estimates this year to enable the Dominion to co-operate with the provinces in preparing for the industrial reconstruction after the war, when Canada ought to be ready to give industrial opportunity to returning soldiers and men seeking employment, and do a vigorous part in capturing her share of the trade of the world.

Mr. Lemieux urged immediate action for he believed the war would terminate next year. "I am not a doubting Thomas about the war, like the Minister of Labor," he commented.

How the Money Goes.

Illuminating figures were given in the House today as to expenses of khaki members of parliament, paid for by the people. At the head of the list is Sir Sam Hughes with a bill of nearly $16,000 for travelling expenses alone, of which nearly $5,000 is for special trains.

According to a return tabled in the Commons this afternoon, the Borden government has appointed no less than eighty-one royal commissions since it assumed office. And even at that the return is incomplete, since it does not include reports from the post office department and one or two other departments which in the early days of the administration appointed scores of commissions to investigate charges of political partisanship with a view to chopping off the heads of Liberal appointees so that government supporters might be put in their places. The total cost of the commissions enumerated in the return tabled today is more than a quarter of a million dollars.

Nothing is shown as to the results obtained from this expenditure. Some of the results, however, may be glimpsed from the enumeration of a few of the more expensive commissions.

Spring was fought, which wiped out the entire band.

"I believe the only way to catch Villa in Mexico will be by trailing. The aeroplanes will not get him, for when Villa and his band are scattered they can hide under rocks or the trees and the eyes of the keenest-sighted aviator could not tell whether was among a small crowd of Mexicans."

Some Expensive Commissions.

The commission which investigated the construction of the National Transcontinental netted Lynch Staunton, K. C., $26,076, and F. P. Gutelius $27,465.

Another futile scandal hunt which cost over $50,000 was that conducted by T. R. Ferguson, of Winnipeg, into the alleged alienation of Dominion lands under the Laurier government.

The investigation into war purchase scandals by Sir Charles Davidson's commission has cost $16,476 to date.

The commission appointed under the chairmanship of Sanford Evans to investigate the problem of the construction of the Georgian Bay Canal has cost $27,964. And as yet there is no report.

The high cost of living commission, which spent two years on the job, was another of the more expensive commissions, but just how much the cost will be is not yet given. As yet there have been no results from the expenditure beyond a three-volume report.

A commission appointed to investigate the shell-fish industry on the Atlantic coast cost $9,333.

War Purchasing Commission.

In the section dealing with commissions appointed by the privy council for general national purposes are mentioned the war purchasing commission, the military hospitals commission, the general commission to investigate a wide field of economic questions in Canada and "the Canadian munitions commission."

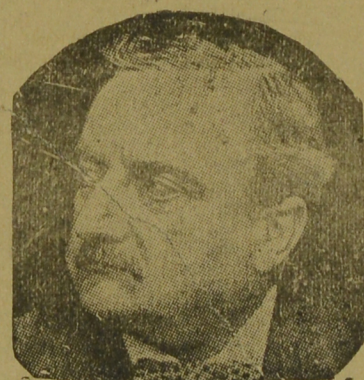

In regard to the last mentioned, it is significant to note that this is included in the list of commissions appointed by the present government. Perhaps this has been inadvertently included in the list in view of the fact that the government's main argument against an investigation of the shell committee is that this was not a creation of the Borden government but was entirely responsible to the imperial ministry of munitions.

The return emphasizes the habit of the Borden ministry in referring problems of state requiring either legislation or administrative solution to the limbo of a royal commission.

REDMOND DENOUNCES IRISH AGITATORS

(Canadian Press.)

London, March 28.—John Redmond, leader of the Irish parliamentary party, in a letter addressed to a prominent Nationalist, advises against the holding of public meetings to protest against further taxation in Ireland. Such action, he says, is characterized as an "Irish constitutionalist movement" by men who are hostile to the Irish party, men who are either pro-German or opposed to recruiting in Ireland and committed to the monstrous doctrine that Ireland should remain neutral in this war.

JOHN REDMOND.

Such an agitation, Mr. Redmond says, is mischievous and dishonest and he advises the Irish people to have confidence that their leaders will see that they get just taxation. He adds:

A CHILD HATES OIL, CALOMEL, PILLS FOR LIVER AND BOWELS

Give "California Syrup of Figs" if
Cross, Sick, Feverish, Constipated.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." It's action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs" which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

MARYSVILLE MAIN STREET BAPTIST CHURCH CLEAR DEBT

The Mortgage to be Burnt Tonight
With Appropriate Ceremonies--
Short Addresses to be Heard

Marysville, March 27.—On Sunday evening last the church having completed fifty-nine years since its organization, a Roll Call Service was held by the Main Street Baptist people. The pastor's subject for the occasion, "What we, as Baptists, stand for," was explained with great eloquence. Following the sermon the roll was called and the offering taken far exceeded the expectation of pastor and people. It was $170, sufficient to guarantee the burning of the mortgage on Tuesday evening, following the Roll Call. Several clergymen will then be present and short addresses will be heard. Special music will be furnished by the choir, assisted by friends from Gibson and Fredericton. Following the burning of the mortgage, light refreshments will be served in the vestry. The active members of Maine Street Church are to be heartily congratulated upon their splendid success, having at last cleared their beautiful edifice from debt and not having received any help from any source but by their own interesting efforts.

Clerk—You'll have to go upstairs, madam. This is the ground floor.

"Ireland's highest interest is the speedy victory in this war. The man who seeks to prejudice Ireland in the eyes of the world by making a ridiculous claim for exemption from war taxes, are the very men who, by their apathy, their so-called neutrality, their hostility to recruiting and their pro-Germanism are doing their best to prolong the war."
