Will Endeavor to Send a Deputation To House of Commons

Hunger Marchers in London Have a Petition Containing 750,000 Signatures—Had to Check It In Subway Station—Charges Made Against the Police.

LONDON, Nov. 2—A petition bearing 750,000 signatures protesting the "means test" was checked at the parcel room of Charing Cross subway station instead of being presented to the House of Commons, leaders of the "hunger marchers" revealed today.

In statements charging the police with threatened violence and "seizure of the petition," commander-in-chief of the marchers, Sid Elias, and leader of the Scottish contingent, Harry McShane, said they checked the petition when police dispersed their deputation in the subway station.

Headquarters of National Unemployed Workers said the struggle to send a deputation to the House of Commons would continue. There were no preparations for the hunger marchers to return to the provinces.

LONDON COPS BATTLE WITH JOBLESS MEN

Fight on the Streets of London Waged For Over Three Hours Last Night.

London, Nov. 1—Thousands of unemployed men and women and their sympathizers fought with mounted and foot police for more than three hours tonight in many of the chief streets of London.

The sharpest fighting occurred when strong groups of mounted men found it necessary to charge mobs in Trafalgar Square, Pall Mall, The Strand, Whitehall and Victoria Embankment. Many persons were arrested and scores were injured.

The rioters had been chased away from Trafalgar Square, the vortex of the fighting, by the time the theatres let out, but groups of theatregoers in silk hats and tall coats had to call for police protection from angry detachments of threatening men.

The disorders were the bitter conclusion of six days of uneasiness in London resulting from the columns of hunger marchers who converged on the Capital from many parts of the island to protest against the method in which the Government dole is administered.

To Use Force

The marchers sought to present their case at the bar of the House of Commons. In obedience to the tradition that petitions must be presented by a member of the House, permission was denied them, and thereupon it was announced a group would force its way in to tonight's session.

They failed to accomplish their aim. The police, swinging batons and riding into barrages of stones and bottles, broke up processions organized in different parts of the city.

But first of all the authorities moved against the demonstration by arresting Walter Hannington, Communist leader of the marchers, who was charged with inciting the London police to mutiny.

After the processions had been broken up, the jobless started drifting toward Parliament in small groups.

By 7.30 p.m. when the marchers had

CHEAPEST WHEAT SINCE REIGN OF QUEEN ELIZABETH

Boston, Nov. 2—In England wheat last week sold at the lowest prices since the good old days of Queen Elizabeth in 1583. In America the price was the lowest since the establishment of the grain exchange 70 years ago. The startling low price of flour makes it possible for the Educator Company to tell many of their quality cookies at prices never before equalled. As an example they are featuring Spiced Jumbles at 10c. a pound, a wonderful spiced molasses cookie dipped in sugar. Children say, "They're swell." Mother's say, "At 10c a pound they're economical, cheaper to buy than to bake and just as good." Other amazing values at the astounding low price of 10c a pound include the celebrated Scotch Short Bread Cookies, Old Fashioned New England Vanilla Creams and the biggest favorite of all, Chocolate Cream Filled Sandwiches. Educator's 17 per cent increase in dollar sales the first 10 months of 1932 over 1931 proves conclusively that New England housewives have chosen Educators in preference to all other cookies, many of which are still selling at prices out of line with today's costs of flour, sugar, shortening and other materials. Please remember Educator cookies are baker fresh daily for over 10,000 New England grocers.

Speaking At Bathurst

Dr. A. S. McFarlane, Chief Superintendent of Education, for New Brunswick, left this morning by car for Bathurst, where he will address a meeting of the Teachers' Institute.

expected to reach the Parliament Buildings, spectators thronged all nearby streets. Strong police forces guarded the entrances to Parliament and mingled with the crowds. Nearby at Scotland Yard other detachments were held in readiness.

By 8 o'clock the huge press of spectators overflowed into the streets, blocking traffic and pushing near to the massive iron gates leading into Parliament.

Then the mounted police filed silently out of Scotland Yard, converging on the square from three different directions. Demonstrators booed to the tune of their marching feet.

WOMAN WRITER PLANS ANOTHER MALAYAN TRIP

Cleveland Girl to Seek Some More Mexican Relics

STARTS OUT IN FEBRUARY

To Study Contrast Between Primitive and Cultural Life

Cleveland, Nov. 2—It's a foolish wife who devotes her time to taking care of her husband, according to Mrs. Edna Robb Webster, whose book "Occasional Wife" was recently released.

"When a wife follows her husband around trying to make his happy, nine times out of ten she is making him miserable," the novelist stated.

And because she practices what she preaches, Mrs. Webster will leave her husband and children in February and sail to Yucatan on her second trip into the interior to seek relics of the ancient Mayan civilization.

During most of its trip, the expedition will study the primitive life in the region, but Mrs. Webster plans to be in Merida, capital city of Yucatan, for the annual carnival in March.

"We plan to study the contrast between primitive and cultural life in the region," Mrs. Webster said.

"Hotels in Merida are veritable palaces with Moorish columns and colonades. Contrary to general belief in other countries, the higher type citizens of Merida are well educated, highly cultured people.

"There were more millionaires in Merida in 1915 than in any other city of its size in the world," she said.

Mrs. Webster is recognized as one of the few good authorities on the subject of the ancient Mayans in the United States. When she isn't in Yucatan or Guatemala, she constantly is doing further research wherever she can find any material related to the subject.

Princess Helene Wins Fight For Custody of Son

Will Be Given Charge of the Eleven-Year-Old Crown Prince For Six Months of the Year—A Complete Agreement Reported to Have Been Reached.

BUCHAREST, Nov. 2—Princess Helene, the divorced wife of King Carol, won her fight today for partial custody of her son, 11-year-old Crown Prince Michael. An official communique announced that complete agreement had been reached regarding Michael, as well as regarding Helen's civil list—the amount she receives from the Crown for her support. Details of the agreement will be published after Helene leaves Bucharest within a few days.

The British United Press was advised in authoritative quarters that Helene was granted custody of her son for six months annually and was left free to determine whether the boy would be with her in Roumania or abroad.

A WELL KNOWN KINGS CO. MAN PASSES AWAY

Apoahqui, Kings Co., Nov. 1—Injured near Hampton Saturday night when the truck he was driving went into a culvert, John E. McAuley, aged 75, veteran councillor and former warden of the County of Kings, died tonight at his home in Lower Millstream. His wife was injured painfully, although not seriously, in the same accident.

In the death of Mr. McAuley Kings county has lost a valuable and prominent resident, whose place can never be adequately filled, and whose memory will long be cherished by the many he has befriended.

On July 22, 1857, in the parish of Waterford, Mr. McAuley was born, of Scotch parentage, his grandparents coming from Edinburgh. He was one of a family of 12 born to the late Wm. and Lucy Patterson McAuley, who moved from Waterford to Lower Millstream in 1873, when Mr. McAuley was a youth of 16. In 1890, he purchased the Lower Millstream corner and carried on a general store there, together with lumbering on a large scale, employing many in his operations.

Mr. McAuley was prominent in public life. He served as councillor for thirty years, and as Warden for three years. He ran as an independent candidate for the Provincial House a few years ago, and received hearty support, although not quite sufficient for election. He was chairman of the Municipal Home commission, an honorary member of Kitchener L. O. L. and prominent in everything which tended to the betterment of his home community. In religion he was a Baptist, and he was a liberal supporter of the church.

BEARS RUIN CARS FOR SWEET STUFF

Kalispel, Mont., Nov. 2—Don't leave candy in your automobile while it is parked in a national park, or the bears are apt to ruin your car hunting for the sweet. R. F. Hollingsworth, of Kalispel, recently reported seeing a bear tear the top from a new automobile in an attempt to get at a box of candy left in the car. Eventually he shooed the bear away, but not before it practically ruined the upholstery and top covering of the machine.

TWELVE MILE LIMIT IS NOW ESTABLISHED

Privy Council Reverses The Decision of the Supreme Court—Proclamation is Issued.

Ottawa, Nov. 1—As from today Canada's maritime jurisdiction, so far as it affects Canadian-owned vessels, extends to 12 miles offshore, from low tide. This is the effect of a proclamation issued here today in an extra of The Canada Gazette.

Legislation establishing the 12-mile limit as territorial waters of Canada was passed by a Parliament in 1931. The principle had previously been asserted, but, at the time of its incorporation into the statutes, it was being disputed in a lawsuit before the Supreme Court of Canada. The Supreme Court decided the law to be ultra vires, and the Government then took the case to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council.

Meanwhile the Act was assented to, and carried the rider that it would become effective on proclamation of the Governor-in-Council.

Judgment Reversed

The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council reversed the judgment of the Supreme Court, holding that Canada was within its rights in legislating territorial limits at sea for the operation of vessels owned by nationals of the country. This settled, the Government has now given effect to the enactment by proclaiming it to have come into force today.

Customs officials today declared that primarily the law was aimed at rum runners, chiefly owners of small motor-boats which put out from the shore to the "mother ship", secured cargo and made their return dash inshore.

Officials expressed the opinion that the previous three-mile limit gave the preventive cruisers little opportunity to overhaul the small launches, but with a widened jurisdiction this handicap would be removed.

FARMER'S TROUBLES

Laurel, Montana, Nov. 2—Farmer Gose figured he had enough bad luck when his sugar beet wagon broke down, costing him $190 for repairs. But then someone came along and stole the wagon, and made his troubles complete.
