For the Women

SPRINGTIME LINGERIE

Much of the springtime lingerie is fewer and thinner. Of georgette or sheer silk, it has narrow ribbons instead of sturdy straps to hold it on the shoulders or wherever, and it is cut down and up in long Vs. That is, the slips are cut down and the shorts are cut up, and where this is going to end does anybody know?

DULL BLACK

Paris is wearing a dull black crepe dress for evenings—a dress of the wrap-around sort with an edging of slashed points all down the side where the bodice and skirt lap over. But since each point is heavily embroidered with rhinestones, the dress isn't so inconspicuous as one might suppose.

MORE SANDALS

And now there are sandals even for home wear, both under the tea table and in the boudoir. These little foot coverings are of pastel kid, occasionally without either heels or toes and are held on by a strap. The color of the sandal contrasts with that of the negligee or pajamas.

QUICK FROSTING

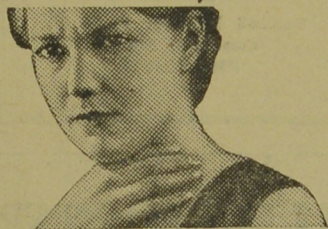

Here is a recipe which I use quite often. It is the type of frosting for a cake to be served freshly baked. It is greatly improved if two drops of plain glycerin are added just as the frosting is starting to harden. If you do not have glycerin on your pantry shelf, then three drops of melted butter can be substituted. Either of these should not be added before the dull daze of crystallization appears on the surface of the frosting and the frosting holds a definite shape.

Place three egg whites, two and one-fourth cups sugar, a few grains of salt, nine tablespoons cold water, one-fourth teaspoon of cream of tartar in the double boiler. Cook the frosting beating it all the time with a round-motion egg-beater until the frosting holds a stiff point. Then remove the icing from the fire and continue beating it until it becomes dull in appearance, and then add the two drops of glycerin or three of melted butter and one teaspoon vanilla. When this is well mixed through the frosting spread it over the cake. The glycerin keeps the frosting soft and moist and gives a rich gloss. The frosting resembles a steamed frosting. It creams slowly but does not soften and run off the cake.

CARAMEL FROSTING

This is not a difficult frosting, but gives an excellent caramel flavor. Caramelize three tablespoons granulated sugar. Add three tablespoons boiling water and cook until the syrup is smooth. Cool this and then add one and one-half cups granulated sugar and one egg white. Cook over boiling water, stirring all the time, until the frosting holds a definite shape and cool the frosting before adding it to the cake.

Trained Nurse Explains Treatment for Colds

Speaking of valuable home remedies that every mother should keep on hand, Nurse Carrington says: "I haven't met any preparation more dependable than Nerviline. It is the ideal liniment—every drop rubs in—it is absorbed quickly, eases and relieves congestion in a short time. For chest colds, pain in the side, stiff neck, earache and toothache, I have found Nerviline invaluable. In treating the minor ills that arise in every home, such as cramps, sick stomach, nausea and bad colds, nothing is more efficient than Nerviline."

For nearly fifty years Nerviline has been a household article in thousands of Canadian homes. Get a 35c bottle today.

QUICK RELIEF NERVILINE

FLUFFY CHOCOLATE FROSTING

Many people have difficulty making a light, creamy chocolate frosting. They have no trouble with a thin cream frosting but this kind will not stand up high on the cake. The following recipe is one which I have used with satisfaction. It gives sufficient frosting for a large cake or twelve to sixteen small cakes.

Use a double boiler for this frosting. Mix together two and one-half cups granulated sugar, two egg whites and four tablespoons cold water. Stir all the time these are cooking, and when the frosting will hold a definite point add twenty marshmallows cut in quarters, and four tablespoons melted bitter chocolate, and continue beating and cooking until all the marshmallows are melted and the chocolate is evenly distributed through the frosting. Cool a while, then beat until the frosting is of spreading consistency. This frosting never becomes hard crusted, and may be piled on the cake as thickly as you like.

LEMON FROSTING

Many rich cakes are must better with thin frosting and also one does not always have time to make a frosting which takes from twenty to thirty minutes to cook and cool.

Sift confectioners' sugar to remove all the larger lumps. For three cups of sugar, first add the grated rind of one lemon and then two or three tablespoons of lemon juice and mix this through the sugar. Add some cream, a few drops at a time, beating the frosting well after each addition to make it fluffy and smooth. Add just enough cream to make the frosting of spreading consistency. Do not combine the fruit juice and some cream and then add sugar to thicken. If you try this method you may find sometime that you have sufficient frosting for several cakes by the time you have finished thickening the liquid.

A girl sued her former fiancé, and was awarded $100.01 by a jury, which thought he should pay for her trousseau in the amount of $100 and 1 cent for "mental anguish, humiliation and embarrassment." Well, the times are different and prices are lower.

The old-timer now and then remarked to an opponent, "With your luck and my brains we would go far," but he never advertised himself as "the country's foremost whist authority."

Running Water. Private Baths

There is the confession of the jazz orchestra leader who says he can't read music. Why should he?

MILK
that's doubly rich

About 87 1/2% of natural cow's milk is water. Only 12 1/2% is solid substance which is food. In making St. Charles Milk, 60% of the water of cow's milk is removed. That makes St. Charles Milk more than twice as rich as ordinary milk. And every drop contains all the food elements of milk. Wherever you need milk St. Charles will better fill the need. Sold in two handy sizes by all grocers.
