

Severe Headaches
Pimples on Face

Miss Marie L. C. Blackwell, Gunn, Alta., writes:—"For two years I suffered from severe headaches, and pimples on my face. My headaches seemed incurable, and I thought the pimples would never disappear. A friend recommended Burdock Blood Bitters, and on trying a bottle I found the headaches disappear, and I am not bothered any more with the pimples."

SERVICES IN THE CHURCHES OF
THE CITY WELL ATTENDED — AN OUTLINE OF THE DISCOURSES

Following is a brief report of the morning and evening services held yesterday in a number of the city churches:—

St. Paul's United Church

The story of Queen Esther formed the theme at the morning service, Rev. George Telford sketched the situation of peril in which the young Queen found herself and her noble and courageous decision to brave the danger of the King's anger for the sake of rescuing her own people. She felt that she had been raised up to meet this very crisis, and no personal considerations must prevent her doing her duty. So should we face the crisis great and small that meet us during life. God's purpose for us may be indicated by these very demands and the question addressed to Esther "who also arrest us, 'who knoweth but thou ain't come into the Kingdom for such a time as this.'"

Continuing a series on young people's problems Mr. Telford discussed the question what is chivalry. He pointed out that few today regard the attraction of the sexes for each other as anything else than natural and normal but drew attention to the ever present danger of laying too great emphasis upon the physical aspect of this attraction. The chivalry of Jesus recognized that the paramount thing is life is human spirit and personality and everything should be made secondary to that. The Soul of Chivalry is consideration for the highest interests of womanhood, the recognition that both men and women are God's temples inhabited by the Spirit of God.

The Wilmot United Church

At the morning service yesterday the Minister spoke on the question "How Much are You Alive?" The text was taken from John 10:10 "I am come that ye might have life to the full." It was shown that Jesus never used the word "Religious", using instead this vital expression "Life." It is His purpose to make dynamic in every four moral and spiritual being. There are surplus forces that remain untapped, and these our Christian faith enables us to uncover and utilize. We are operating a very small fraction of our real energy. The important difference is not between people of different talents, but between those who are half dead and those fully alive. Correspondence with God is the available channel or the abundant life.

Mr. Bartlett's evening message was based on the story of Abigail as found in I Samuel 25. Here is depicted a woman for the times, Abigail saved her household by womanly tact and ready sympathy. We can leave the machinery of civilization to men but the spirit of it is in the care of women. Abigail had great public gifts, as shown by her address to David. Women have public responsibilities, and even in politics could not possibly bungle any worse than men have done. But she is existing a mighty influence in many ways. Her tastes determine the kind of books and magazines that come from the Press. Her demands are final in the choice of pictures for the screen. Fifty per cent. of the purchasing power of the world is in her hands. Abigail saved David from bloodguiltiness, and women could put a stop to war so Rusk said—if they were as interested in the matter as they are in keeping their best china intact. Abigail was a religious woman assuring David that his life was bound up in the bundle of life by God. Women's work in the church is well known. They keep many fires burning that otherwise would die down. They have a religious opportunity of the first magnitude in the home. The Radio has largely taken the place of the family altar. Secondary things are often given first place. A recent bridge game was broadcasted over 116 radio stations to three million listeners, and one man got $100,000 for a single radio lesson on how to make a certain move in the game. May our women not lose their passion for life's highest things. The call of Christ is the impressive and insistent thing. The music of the day was well rendered and a hearty song service enjoyed. Mrs. Inch sang "Home, Sweet Home" effectively at the evening service.

Brunswick Street Baptist Church

Yesterday was a day favorable for a good church attendance and Brunswick Street along with the other churches was thronged with worshippers.

The morning sermon was based on the 16th Verse of the 10 Chapter of Jeremiah "Stand Ye In The Ways and See, Seek Out The Old Paths Wherein is The Good Way and Walk Therein and Ye Shall Find Rest unto your souls." The sermon dealt with the life, times and message of Jeremiah. The appeal was that of a lone voice seeking to arrest a riotous decline. It was a summons to give thought to things eternal in the midst of things that pass. The Cross of Christ constituted God's greatest appeal to the same end. To find the "good way" is to find Him Who said "I am The Way."

The Brotherhood met at 2.30 and was presided over by Bro S S Miller. Frank Cooper led the singing and the Pastor conducted a discussion on the subject "The Christian's Hope of Immortality."

The evening sermon was a consideration of the conversion of Saul of Tarsus. The text was taken from 2 Cor. 5:17: "If any man be in Christ he is a new creature." The contrast between "Saul breathing threatening and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord" and "Paul, the vigorous Apostle to the Gentiles" was presented. Paul's experience of the Risen Christ at his conversion on the way to Damascus accounted for the difference. The text grew out of Paul's experience, the experience of a man of culture, a man of affairs. Every Christian life supports this truth. It is the very heart of the Gospel to be "in Christ", in open friendly constant communion with Him as a present power, makes a difference. "If any man be in Christ he is a new creature."

The music by the choir was of an exceptionally high order. The anthem "O Heavenly Father" was rendered in the morning, soloist Miss Sadie Blair. "Send Out Thy Light" was the evening anthem. Mrs. Horace Hughson sang before the sermon and Miss Gertrude Davis at the conclusion of the service.

George Street Baptist Church

At the morning service, a new set of three books, a Bible dictionary, a commentary on the complete Bible, and a concordance, all nicely bound was publicly set apart for the Sunday School library, for use of scholars and teachers. The gift was made possible by a donation for that purpose from a member of the congregation.

The Young Worshipers' Text was John 8:12, chosen by Jean McCordick. A violin solo was rendered by Herald McFee during the service.

The sermon subject was "The Search for God and its reward", and was based on 2 Chron. 31:21, a description of the good king Hezekiah: "And in every work—to seek His God, he did it with all his heart and prospered."

Attention was called to emphatic declarations in Scripture that they, who would seek God with their whole heart would find Him. The word "prospered" as used here, seems to mean: "prospered in his search."

A whole hearted search for God as an intellectual thought of picture does not always bring that picture, but it finds God. No man can fail to find God who faithfully, earnestly conscientiously does his duty. For, to find God is to feel the self expanding beyond its own limits, to feel life aglow with a new spirit, new energy, to have the heart "strangely warmed" as John Wesley Described it.

In the evening, beside the special choir anthem, a splendid instrumental number was rendered by Walter Whittingham and George Beatty, Jr. The address was in the form of a Book Sermon with the subject "The End of The Strife". The scenes as pertinent to the subject were taken from the story of "The Eternal Challenge" by Joseph Hocking. The scene described how the Spirit of Jesus Christ entered in to settle a strife in England of the most threatening nature.

The ordinance of baptism was administered at the close of the service.

Parish Church

The season of Lent is always marked in the Anglican Church by special services. This year the rector is carrying out a very heavy programme,—on Monday he has a confirmation class; Tuesday, he conducts a Mission Study Class for women; Wednesday and Thursday evenings, he has lantern slide services in the Parish and St. Margaret and on Friday he has a devotional service in the Parish Church. Sunday is marked by a series of addresses and an exchange of pulpits in the morning every alternate week with the Rev. H. T. Buckland of the Parish of Kingsclear.

Yesterday morning Mr. Buckland gave the second of his sermons on Manly Religion, taking as his text: Isaiah 6:8 "What both the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy and to walk humbly with thy God?" He sketched the life of Joshua, anointed that this great leader had a child-like faith in God, and that he faithfully earned out his religious principles.

In the evening the Rev. A. F. Bate preached his third sermon on "Books of Christians", emphasising this time "The Inspirational Book". He defined the word "inspiration", and mentioned many things which were inspired, such as music, the painting of pictures, and the uttering of prayers. By the Inspirational Book" the rector meant that glorious harmony of language known as poetry,—every Christian should have some knowledge of poetry as it is found in the Psalms, in our Hymns and in the works of great authors. After mentioning several well known writers of poetry, Mr. Bate emphasising the value of the Hymn Book.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church

At the service yesterday morning at St. Andrew's Church, the subject of the Minister's discourse was "Jesus in the Garden of Gethsemane." The real victory that Our Lord won was the victory of prayer in the garden by which he committed himself to accept the will of the father at all costs.

At the evening service Rev. Mr. Berry gave an account of the life of Robert Morrison, pioneer missionary to China. He pointed out the remarkable qualities of the man and touched on the great possibilities for good or ill that may occur in the development of so populous a country as China.

Expects Many U. S.Anglers Next Season

The coming season will be the third for Mr. Russell on the Miramichi and he is very optimistic regarding the future. Last season he handled 175 people at his camps, all of whom passed through Fredericton, and notwithstanding business depression he is looking for a one hundred per cent increase during the coming season.

City May Amend Law

running at large with permission of the owner.

It is stated on good authority that the city, under an act passed in 1859, has sufficient legislation to amend the dog law. It is highly probable that an amendment will be made in the near future to bring about a clear understanding of the dog question, and to adjudicate in the future with less chance of becoming involved in the technicalities of the law.

A Real Sign Post

It is reported today that the five million dollar loan offered by the Province of Alberta at six per cent was subscribed in less than an hour.

Some times a man believes that he actually understands a woman until he asks her how she liked a certain singer and hears the reply that she was wonderful, wearing the prettiest gown she ever saw.

C. P. R. STOCK WAS MARKET LEADER
THIS MORNING

New York, Feb. 29—It is extremely unlikely that the extreme dullness seen in the stock market over the past four or five trading sessions will continue much longer although precedent and theory call for a period of stagnation at this time. Of course, this promise is based on the theory that the bear market has seen its lows. In the past, all major bear movements have been brought to a halt in a period such as that in which we are now.

Despite the fact that all surface signs are lacking as to improvement in business, there is every reason to believe that liquidation has been ended. In other words, there is now very little likelihood of a recurrence of the unloading of stock for whatever they might bring. Steps taken to help banks in trouble are already bearing fruit inasmuch as during the past eight days not a single national bank has been suspended for insolvency. Furthermore, the outlook in this connection is that bank failures for February will show a substantial decrease from the 334 in January.

More people are taking the stand that the bear cycle has ended and that opportunity should be taken of periods of reaction in the market for the purchase of stocks. While it is true that business has not responded to the moves set in motion to revive it, nevertheless, it should be remembered that it has been a mighty sick patient, and it cannot be cured overnight. Time element is more than ever a factor.
