Mrs. C. W. Harper, Silver Water, Ont., writes:—"I was very much worried over the nasty cough my two children had, and I had tried several remedies to no effect."

One day my husband was in the drug store and overheard a lady and the druggist discussing remedies, and she seemed very thankful to Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup for relieving her children, so he came home with a bottle and in two days both the children were well."

STARS MUST DROP POLO

Hollywood, Feb. 12—Three leading men in Hollywood—Clark Gable, Robert Montgomery and Reginald Denny—are in search of new hobbies.

All took up the not-so-gentle sport of polo. Gable has two ponies Montgomery has three and Denny is about to buy two.

Yesterday the three were warned by Louis B. Mayer, whose movie company employs them, that polo playing is, from his viewpoint at least, dangerous. He suggested they take up something potentially less harmful, such as croquet or ping-pong.

The warning followed a recent spill in which Denny was painfully injured. Both Gable and Montgomery plan to sell their horses.

Strasbourg, France, Feb. 12—Scientists who spent several years studying the disappearance of the storks which once graced the Alsace landscape have decided that they left because of the abundance of food in North Africa. Formerly the African natives scratched the soil with a pointed piece of wood. Now they plow deep with steelpointed plows and the birds find plenty to eat.

SMITH TO RUN IF GIVEN THE NOMINATION

New York, Feb. 12—Alfred E. Smith found his desk today and said he was "not a candidate" for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"Nothing in the statement I gave out for the papers can be interpreted as an announcement that I am a candidate," he told twenty newspapermen in his sky-scraper office.

"All I said was that I would accept the nomination if the convention should choose me."

"Now a candidate is a man who seeks the support of delegates and makes a campaign before the convention. I'm not going to do either. I have no headquarters and I'm not spending any money."

"I don't believe any one was ever nominated who didn't make a pre-convention campaign."

A MOSQUITO LURE FOUND

Lyn, Mass., Feb. 12—Professor Elihu Thomson, General Electric's "wizard," has found a death lure for mosquitoes that would perfect if the female of the species were not more wary than the male.

An accidental discovery of a device that imitates the hum of the female mosquito lures millions of males to an untimely death, he says, but the female won't give it a glance.

And the sad part is—the female is the one that bites.

While experimenting with a large furnace electrically propelled, he found that the hum of the motor resembled the soprano voice of a coquetting female. The second lured millions of gallant males to the motor and the roar put them to death as they drew near.

London, Feb. 12—Mrs. Jane Matthews, 93, who refused to adopt the short skirt fashion, died as a result of tripping over her long skirt.

TEXT OF BRITISH TARIFF BILL IS ANNOUNCED IN HOUSE, AN EXEMPTION FOR DOMINIONS

London, Feb. 11—Goods from Canada, the other dominions, India, Southern Rhodesia and mandated territories of the Dominions will be exempt until November 15 next from all provisions of the Government's Trade Bill, seeking to institute a general 10 per cent tariff, the text of which was published in the House of Commons today.

Besides temporary exemption for goods from the dominions and their mandated territories the published text of the bill revealed two new provisions about which the Government previously had said nothing. It contained also a full list of articles exempt under the proposed tariff.

News that products of the dominions would enter Great Britain duty free until the middle of next November came as something of a surprise in view of previous statements in the House leading to the belief that they would be exempt only until after the Imperial Economic Conference which will open at Ottawa July 18.

Welcome Surprise

One new provision is a welcome surprise to shipbuilding interests. Imported goods consigned direct to a shipbuilding yard, will be exempted from the 10 per cent duty. This effectively secures the exemption of the raw materials for one of the greatest of British industries.

The only new provision is for a census of production. Instead of having to wait for long periods the Board of Trade will now be enabled to get, at any time, information on production that it desires.

Another important feature revealed by the text is that the new Tariff Advisory Committee will not be permitted to consider any additions to the free list until the 10 per cent duty has been in force for at least six months.

On Free List

Chief articles on the free list, and articles therefore on which the Dominions will not receive the additional 10 per cent. measure of Imperial preference, are:

Wheat in grain, meat including bacon, raw cotton and raw wool, fish of British catch, tea, newspapers, newsprint in rolls containing not less than 70 per cent mechanical wood-pulp; wood pulp, raw rubber, iron ore and tin ore.

All agricultural and horticultural products from foreign countries except wheat, are liable to the duty.

All goods imported with the sole object of re-exportation, are exempted.

The bill, which when it becomes law will change the whole fiscal system of Great Britain, consists of three parts, 22 clauses in all; and three schedules. It is backed by the majority of the Cabinet, including the Prime Minister, Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer; Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Rt. Hon. Walter Runciman, Sir John Gilmour, Sir John Simon, Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas and Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister. Mr. Runciman and Sir John Simon are Liberals.

The bill aims at restricting the importation of goods "in the national interests," it states, and at "making additions to the public revenue." The general and valorem duties will be imposed from March 1 next.

Steps are already being taken by the Government to constitute the import duties advisory committee so it may be able to function at the earliest possible moment, but so far no appointments have been made. It is not intended that members of the committee shall be selected to represent any particular industries or interests, it is stated.

The advisory committee will have power to add articles to the free list, but no power to remove articles already on the free list and make them liable to the general ad valorem duty, or additional duties. Exemptions given by the first list in the present bill can be withdrawn only by fresh Act of Parliament.

There are two reasons, the text states, why the committee will not be empowered to consider additions to the free list until the new duty has been operating six months. First, it protects the committee against the possibility of being overwhelmed at the outset of its career with applications for exemption, secondly, this period will give an opportunity for observing how the new duty works.

Aviation Club Mooted For Fredericton

matter had been temporarily dropped. With renewal of interest here the council will probably do all in its power to preserve this, and at the same time secure for Fredericton a place in the Dominion aviation archives as a landing and taking off place for Dominion aircraft.

Several years ago, aviation looked for a big boom here, but during recent months, the widespread depression had its effect, and aviation was left in the lurch. The coming summer it is to be hoped may see a renewal of this former enthusiasm.

DRUNKARDS INCREASING IN JERUSALEM

London, England, Feb. 12—The consumption of liquor in Palestine is on the increase.

According to the annual report of the Native Races and the Liquor Traffic United Committee, the number of liquor licenses also has increased.

Drinking, the report says, has now become a fashion among the young men and is looked on a necessity to manhood. It is not uncommon to witness a drunkard sway to and fro in the streets of Jerusalem.

If you are in doubt about investments, have a long look at life insurance. As the publicity writer for one company well puts it: "It will put gold in your purse when there is silver in your hair."

HON. MR. CAHAN THREATENED USE OF A GUN

Ottawa, Ontario, Feb. 11—"I will shoot and accept the responsibility," Hon. C. H. Cahan, told Montreal constables who attempted to force their way into his campaign quarters one election day with warrants signed in blank.

He was telling the House of Commons some of his election experiences charging Provincial Police of Quebec with lending every assistance to his opponents and with doing everything to interfere with his workers.

The police, he said, attempted to force their way into his quarters with warrants signed in blank. Jumping into the doorway the State Secretary threatened to shoot them "and accept the responsibility." This action, he said, caused the police to disperse.

Stock Had A Slump

The New Brunswick Telephone Company's stock which sold around twenty early last year, has had something of a slump of late. It is now quoted around 10, and some people take this as an indication of a proposed reduction in the dividend. The directors are to meet shortly to pass upon the matter. It is pretty well known that the company suffered a decline in revenue during the past year. A number of people sold their stock last year upon the price was up, but in some cases they bought other issues, which have not done as well for them as the Telephone Company.

Though the old story is gone forever, keen-scented observers give assurance that the atmosphere still lives in some of the so-called humorous magazines.

DR. VANWART READ PAPER ON SLEEPING SICKNESS

(The Brunswickian)

"Types of Encephalitis Lethargica in New Brunswick" was the subject of a paper read before the Scientific Society on Wednesday afternoon by Dr. A. F. VanWart, of this city. This paper which had been read before the Canadian Medical Association at Charlottetown in 1928, was intensely interesting and described Dr. VanWart's own experience in treating the disease.

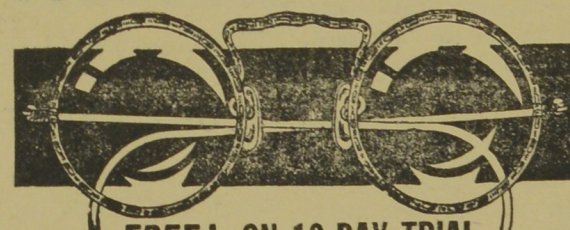

Incorrectly called "sleeping sickness," encephalitis lethargica first appeared in New Brunswick in December 1919. Since then nineteen deaths have resulted from it. Its cause is thought to be a living micro-organism, which attacks the nervous system in the region of the basal ganglia, pons, and midbrain. Beginning as an "influenza" attack, the disease is accompanied by mental confusion, eye changes, and drowsiness. It may then assume one of many forms, from all of which recovery is slow, and usually incomplete; thus a child who is bright and industrious may become chronically dull and heedless as a consequence of his disease. The treatment is symptomatic, no specific remedy having been found; the restlessness, however, may be relieved by lumbar puncture.

This was the second meeting of the Society this term. Regular business was transacted, with Pres. C. W. Argue in the chair.

New Brunswick Guides At Boston

New Brunswick guides, attending the Sportsmen's Show at Boston, are getting considerable publicity from the newspapers of that city. The Herald of Sunday last published half page interview with Jack Russell, of Ludlow, using his photo as a centre piece. The famous Dunderoom Whooper, was one of the themes, Mr. Russell discussed. Clifford Davis, of the Boston Post, a staunch friend of New Brunswick, has devoted several articles to the New Brunswick contingent.
